61-31-19. Impaired social workers' program. (Repealed effective July 1, 2032.)

A. The board shall establish a process by which social workers who may be impaired because of a mental disability or habitual or excessive use of controlled substances or alcohol may seek rehabilitation. The intent of the process is to provide impaired social workers the opportunity to voluntarily enter a treatment program as an alternative to disciplinary action, while providing adequate safeguards to the public.

B. The board shall appoint evaluation advisory committees as appropriate to the specific disability of a social worker. Each advisory committee shall be composed of at least three members. One member of an advisory committee shall be a licensed physician, one a certified psychologist or a licensed psychiatrist and one licensed to practice social work in New Mexico. No member of an advisory committee shall be a member of the board.

C. An advisory committee shall function under the direction of the board and in accordance with regulations of the board. The regulations shall include directions to the advisory committee to:

- (1) develop criteria for admission to and continuance in a treatment program for board approval;
- (2) review complaints against a licensed social worker involving habitual or excessive use of controlled substances or alcohol;
- (3) review voluntary requests of each social worker seeking admission to a treatment program as an alternative to disciplinary action;
- (4) develop and submit to the board for approval a written treatment agreement setting forth the requirements that shall be met by the social worker and the conditions under which the treatment program may be successfully completed or terminated;
- (5) recommend to the board in favor of or against an individual social worker's admission into or release from a treatment program;
- (6) receive and review all reports regarding an individual social worker's progress in treatment and recovery;
- (7) report violations to the board; and
- (8) submit statistical reports to the board.

D. Files of social workers referred to an advisory committee and admitted to a treatment program shall be maintained in the office of the board and shall be confidential. Files are not confidential if they contain reports to the board concerning social workers who have not cooperated or complied with treatment agreements, or who have refused to participate in a program after having been accepted for admission into the program or reports used as evidence in a disciplinary proceeding. Such files may be made available to other states' social worker boards or law enforcement agencies upon request to the board if the social worker leaves the state prior to successful completion of the program and shall be subject to discovery by subpoena.

E. Any person who makes a report to the board regarding a social worker suspected of practicing while mentally disabled or under the influence of alcohol or controlled substances or who makes a report of a social worker's progress or lack of progress in a treatment program shall be immune from civil action for defamation or other causes of action resulting from such reports, provided that such reports are made in good faith and with some reasonable basis in fact.

F. After an appropriate treatment period, to be approved by the board, the advisory committee shall refer to the board for formal disciplinary action, including suspension or removal of license, a social worker who fails to respond to treatment. The board may on its own initiative or at the recommendation of the advisory committee immediately proceed with disciplinary actions against any social worker previously admitted to and released from a treatment program who has subsequently relapsed into a mental disability or abuse of alcohol or a controlled substance.

B. No licensed social worker may disclose any information he has acquired from a person consulting him in his professional capacity, unless:

(1) he has the written consent of the client or, in the case of death or disability, of his personal representative, any other person authorized to sue or the beneficiary of any insurance policy on his life, health or physical condition;

- (2) such communication reveals the contemplation of a crime or harmful act;

- (4) the person waives the privilege by bringing charges against the social worker.

C. Nothing in this section shall be construed to prohibit a licensed social worker from disclosing information in court hearings concerning matters of adoption, child abuse, child neglect or other matters pertaining to the welfare of children as stipulated in the Children's Code [32A-1-1 NMSA 1978] or to those matters pertaining to citizens protected under the Adult Protective Services Act [27-7-14 NMSA 1978].

ANNOTATIONS

When statutory privilege conflicts with constitutional or court rule privilege. — The supreme court's constitutional power of superintending control over all inferior courts carries with it the inherent power to regulate all pleading, practice and procedure affecting the judicial branch of government; with respect to privileges, if a statutory privilege is not consistent with a rule of the supreme court, the statutory privilege is not given effect and the constitutional or court rule privilege prevails. State v. Strauch, 2015-NMSC-009, rev'g 2014-NMCA-020.

The provisions of this section that arguably create social worker evidentiary privileges cannot prevent court-ordered disclosure of communications that would be mandated by the discovery and evidence rules of the supreme court; consequently, statements made to a social worker by an alleged child abuser in private counseling sessions are not protected from disclosure in a court proceeding as a result of the specific exception to the physician-patient and psychotherapist-patient evidentiary privilege in Rule 11-504(D)(4) NMRA, which provides that no privilege shall apply for confidential communications concerning any material that a social worker is required by law to report to a public agency. State v. Strauch, 2015-NMSC-009, rev'g 2014-NMCA-020.

Applicability of privilege in a child abuse and neglect case was not required to be addressed because the clear language of Rule 11-504 NMRA, this section, and Section 61-9A-27 NMSA 1978 permits disclosure. State ex rel. Children, Youth & Families Dept., 2000-NMCA-035, 128 N.M. 813, 999 P.2d 1045, cert. denied, 129 N.M. 207, 4 P.3d 35.

Recognition of role licensed social workers play in providing treatment to victims of child abuse and neglect would be consistent with the legislature's recognition of the professional nature of their services. State ex rel. Children, Youth & Families Dept. v. Frank G., 2005-NMCA-026, 137 N.M. 137, 108 P.3d 543, aff'd, 2006-NMSC-019, 139 N.M. 459, 134 P.3d 746.

Issue not preserved on appeal. — Where defendant argued that the statements he made to social workers, implicating himself in criminal sexual contact with a minor, are privileged, but he did not cite either this section or Jaffee v. Redmond, 518 U.S. 1, 135 L. Ed. 2d 337, 116 S. Ct. 1923 (1996), to support that argument in the trial court, he has not preserved the issue and may not raise it in an appellate court. State v. Neswood, 2002-NMCA-081, 132 N.M. 505, 51 P.3d 1159, cert. denied, 132 N.M. 551, 52 P.3d 411.

61-31-25. Termination of agency life; delayed repeal. (Repealed effective July 1, 2032.)

The board of social work examiners is terminated on July 1, 2031 pursuant to the Sunset Act [12-9-11 through 12-9-21 NMSA 1978]. The board shall continue to operate according to the provisions of the Social Work Practice Act until July 1, 2032. Effective July 1, 2032, the Social Work Practice Act is repealed.

History: Laws 1989, ch. 51, § 27; 1996, ch. 51, § 17; 1997, ch. 46, § 19; 2005, ch. 208, § 23; 2015, ch. 119, § 17; 2019, ch. 143, § 10.

The 2019 amendment, effective June 14, 2019, extended the agency life of the board of social work examiners; after the first occurrence of July 1, deleted "2021" and added "2031", and after the second and third occurrences of "July 1," deleted "2022" and added "2032".

The 2015 amendment, effective June 19, 2015, extended the termination date for the social work examiners to July 1, 2021, and the repeal date to July 1, 2022.

The 2005 amendment, effective June 17, 2005, changed the termination, operation and repeal dates.

The 1997 amendment, effective June 20, 1997, substituted "2005" for "1997" in the first sentence, and substituted "2006" for "1998" in the second and third sentences.

The 1996 amendment, effective March 5, 1996, substituted "1997" for "1995" once and "1998" for "1996" twice in the section.

61-32-14. Funeral service intern; scope of practice; limitations. (Repealed effective July 1, 2024.)

A. A funeral service intern does not have the rights and duties of a funeral service practitioner and is only subordinate to the funeral service practitioner. The scope of what a funeral service intern is permitted to do depends on the activity and the experience of the funeral service intern, provided that a funeral service intern:

(1) may make arrangements only under the direct supervision of a licensed funeral service practitioner. After the completion of fifty arrangements under direct supervision, the funeral service intern may request approval from the board to make arrangements under the general supervision of a licensed funeral service practitioner;

(2) may embalm or otherwise prepare dead human bodies for disposition only under the direct supervision of a licensed funeral service practitioner. After the funeral service intern has assisted with the embalming of at least fifty bodies under direct supervision, the funeral service intern may request approval from the board to embalm under the general supervision of a licensed funeral service practitioner;

B. A funeral service intern shall be employed by and receive training at only one establishment. The board may adopt rules that will allow training at more than one establishment under special circumstances.

C. Any funeral service intern's change of employment shall be reported to the board in writing within thirty days of the change. A change of employment that is not reported shall cause the period worked at the new establishment not to count as time served toward completion of the internship. It is the responsibility of the funeral service intern and the licensee in charge to report changes of employment.

D. A funeral service intern may be under the supervision of more than one funeral service practitioner at the establishment at which he is employed, provided that the board has received notice in writing prior to any changes in supervision. The board may adopt rules specifying the maximum number of persons that may be supervised by a funeral service practitioner.

E. Each funeral service intern shall report to the board quarterly, upon forms provided by the board, showing the work that has been completed during the preceding three months. All quarterly reports are due in the board office within thirty days of the close of the quarter. If a report is not received by the date due, the work completed during the reporting period shall not be counted when the board tabulates requirements for general supervision or for licensure as a funeral service practitioner.

F. Once a funeral service intern is under the general supervision of a funeral service practitioner, the funeral service intern need not submit to the board the quarterly reports required in this section.

County franchise authorizes occupying streets of later village. — Telephone companies are included in the language of Section 3-42-2 NMSA 1978, and a franchise granted by a county board before incorporation of a village is adequate authority for occupying streets of the village and doing business until such time as the village itself offers a fair and equitable franchise for a maximum number of years and until a reasonable time has passed in which it may be considered by the company involved. *Village of Ruidoso v. 62-1-4. Eminent domain; surveys; entry on property; crossing right-of-way of another corporation.

A. Corporations organized pursuant to Section 62-1-1 NMSA 1978 are authorized to enter upon any property belonging to the state or to persons, firms or corporations for the purpose of making surveys and from time to time to appropriate so much of such property, not exceeding a strip one hundred feet wide in any one place, as may be necessary for their purpose. The corporations have the right of access to such property to construct and place their lines, pipes, poles, cables, conduits, towers, stations, fixtures, appliances and other structures and to repair them. If a corporation cannot agree with the owners as to a right-of-way or the compensation for a right-of-way, the corporation may proceed to obtain the right-of-way in the manner provided by law for condemnation of such property. Where it is necessary to cross the right-of-way of another corporation, the crossing shall be effected either by mutual agreement or in the manner now provided by law for the crossing of one railroad by another railroad; provided that the construction of any electric transmission lines crossing the right-of-way of a railroad shall comply with the minimum standards of the national electric safety code. When it is necessary for a corporation to construct any transmission line and associated facilities for the transmission of electrical power requiring a width for right-of-way of greater than one hundred feet, unless that width is agreed to by the parties, the applicant for the right-of-way shall apply to the New Mexico public utility commission as provided in Section 62-9-3.2 NMSA 1978 for a determination of the width necessary for the right-of-way for the transmission line.

B. For the purposes of this section, "corporation" means individuals, firms, partnerships, companies, municipalities, rural electric cooperatives organized under Laws 1937, Chapter 100 or the Rural Electric Cooperative Act [Chapter 62, Article 15 NMSA 1978], lessees, trustees or receivers appointed by any court.

Although Laws 2003, Chapter 336, Section 8, amended Laws 1998, Chapter 82, as amended, an amendment of a repealed section is ineffective. See Quintana v. N.M. Dep't of Corrs., 100 N.M. 224, 668 P.2d 1101 (1983). Laws 2003, Chapter 416, Section 5 also repealed Laws 1998, Chapter 108, Section 82, as amended, a second time, however, that repeal is of no effect as the section had previously been repealed by Chapter 23, Section 1, Laws 2003.

Cross references. — For eminent domain proceedings, see Chapter 42A, NMSA 1978.

The 1993 amendment, effective June 18, 1993, in Subsection A, substituted "corporation" and "right-of-way" for references to "they" and "the same", substituted "New Mexico public utility commission" for "public service commission" and made stylistic changes throughout the subsection; and deleted "whatsoever" at the end of Subsection B.

62-2-5. [Additional powers.]

Corporations formed under this article for the purpose of furnishing and supplying water for any of the purposes mentioned in Section 62-2-1 NMSA 1978, shall have, in addition to the powers hereinbefore mentioned, rights as follows:

A. to cause such examinations and surveys for their proposed reservoirs, canals, pipelines and ditches to be made, as may be necessary to the selection of the most eligible locations and advantageous routes, and for such purpose, by their officers, agents and servants, to enter upon the lands or water of any person, or of this state;

C. to construct their canals, pipelines or ditches upon or along any stream of water;

D. to take and divert from any stream, lake or spring the surplus water, for the purpose of supplying the same to persons, to be used for the objects mentioned in Section 62-2-1 NMSA 1978, but such corporations shall have no right to interfere with the rights of, or appropriate the property of any persons except upon the payment of the assessed value thereof, to be ascertained as in this article provided; and provided, further, that no water shall be diverted, if it will interfere with the reasonable requirements of any person or persons using or requiring the same, when so diverted;

E. to furnish water for the purposes mentioned in Section 62-2-1 NMSA 1978, at such rates as the bylaws may prescribe; but equal rates shall be conceded to each class of consumers;

For appropriation of water, see 72-5-1 to 72-5-39 NMSA 1978.

ANNOTATIONS

Irrigation companies may go upon private lands to make a preliminary survey for right-of-way by eminent domain, to divert surplus water, unappropriated and subject to diversion, for this is a public purpose, and it is not necessary that the distributing company shall itself be a consumer, provided the water is used beneficially within a reasonable time. The burden of proving such facts is with the company. Albuquerque Land & Irrigation Co. v. Gutierrez, 1900-NMSC-017, 10 N.M. 177, 61 P. 357, aff'd, 188 U.S. 545, 23 S. Ct. 338, 47 L. Ed. 588 (1903).

Strangers may not raise question of interference with other appropriators. — The question whether the appropriation of water interferes with the rights of other appropriators cannot be raised by strangers not parties to the action. Albuquerque Land & Irrigation Co. v. Gutierrez, 1900-NMSC-017, 10 N.M. 177, 61 P. 357, aff'd, 188 U.S. 545, 23 S. Ct. 338, 47 L. Ed. 588 (1903).

Appropriator not limited to lands in original application. — An appropriator may use water for lands in addition to those specified in original application. 1909-12 Op. Att'y Gen. No. 19.

62-2-6. [Directors; qualifications; election.]

The corporate powers of any corporation formed under this article shall be exercised by a board of not less than three directors who shall be stockholders of the company, and a majority of them citizens of the United States, and at least one-third of whom shall be residents of this state. Such directors shall be elected annually, after the expiration of the term of the directors named in the articles of incorporation, at such time and place, and upon such notice, and in such mode as the bylaws of the company may provide; but all such elections shall be by ballot, and each stockholder, either in person or by proxy, shall be entitled to as many votes as he owns shares of stock, and the persons receiving the greatest number of votes shall be declared elected. When a vacancy occurs in the office of director by death, resignation or otherwise, such vacancy shall be filled for the remainder of the year in such manner as the bylaws shall prescribe. Should there be no election of directors, on the day fixed in the bylaws for such election, such election may be held at such other time as the bylaws may designate, and the directors in office may continue to act until their successors are elected.

They presumably refer to Code 1915, ch. 23, art. 3, the effective provisions of which are compiled as 62-1-1 to 62-1-5 and 62-2-1 to 62-2-22 NMSA 1978, while the original reference to "this act" meant Laws 1887, ch. 12, the effective provisions of which are compiled as 62-2-1 to 62-2-19, 62-2-21 and 62-2-22 NMSA 1978.

Sections 62-2-1 to 62-2-22 of the Public Utility Act are still effective as the repeal of Chapter 62, Article 2 by Laws 1998, Chapter 108, Section 82, effective July 1, 2003 was repealed prior to taking effect by Chapter 23, Section 1, Laws 2003. 62-2-8. [Meetings of directors.]

62-2-9. [Transfer of shares.]

The stock of the company shall be deemed personal estate, and shall be transferrable [transferable] in such manner as shall be prescribed by the bylaws of the company; but no transfer shall be valid except between the parties thereto, until the same shall be so entered on the books of the company as to show the names of the parties by and to whom transferred, the number and designation of the shares and the date of transfer.

62-2-10. [Subscriptions to stock; payment; notice of assessment; sale of stock.]

The directors shall have power to call in and demand from the stockholders the sum by them subscribed, at such times and in such payments as they may deem proper; notice of such assessment shall be given to the stockholders personally, or shall be published once a week for at least four weeks, in some newspaper published at the place designated as the principal place of business of the corporation, or if none be published there, then by posting such notice for that period, in at least six of the most public places in the county in which said principal place of business of the corporation is located. If, after such notice has been given, any stockholder shall make default in the payment of the assessment upon the shares held by him, so many of such shares may be sold as will be necessary for the payment of the assessment on all shares held by him. The sale of said shares shall be made as prescribed in the bylaws of the company, but all such sales shall be made at public auction, to the highest bidder, after notice thereof shall have been given as in this section provided for notice to stockholders of assessments; and the person who will agree to pay the assessment due, together with the expense of advertising, and other costs of such sale, for the smallest number of whole shares, shall be deemed the highest bidder. A complete record shall be kept of all assessments and sales of stock.

ANNOTATIONS

Right to condemn implies conveying water is "public use". — The legislature, in Section 72-1-5 NMSA

1978, has given to persons, firms, associations and corporations the right to condemn land right-of-way for the purpose of conveying water for beneficial uses. Since the power of eminent domain cannot be exercised without a "public use" being present, the legislature has impliedly declared such a "public use" to be present in such conveyance of water. Kaiser Steel Corp. v. W.S. Ranch Co., 1970-NMSC-043, 81 N.M. 414, 467 P.2d 986 (rendered under prior law).

Compiler's notes. — The 1915 Code compilers substituted the words "this article" for "this act." They presumably refer to Code 1915, ch. 23, art. 3, the effective provisions of which are compiled as 62-1-1 to 62-1-5 and 62-2-1 to 62-2-22 NMSA 1978, while the original reference to "this act" meant Laws 1887, ch. 12, the effective provisions of which are compiled as 62-2-1 to 62-2-19, 62-2-21 and 62-2-22 NMSA 1978.

Sections 62-2-1 to 62-2-22 of the Public Utility Act are still effective as the repeal of Chapter 62, Article 2 by Laws 1998, Chapter 108, Section 82, effective July 1, 2003 was repealed prior to taking effect by Chapter 23, Section 1, Laws 2003. Although Laws 2003, Chapter 336, Section 8, amended Laws 1998, Chapter 82, as amended, an amendment of a repealed section is ineffective. See Quintana v. N.M. Dep't of Corrs., 100 N.M. 224, 668 P.2d 1101 (1983). Laws 2003, Chapter 416, Section 5 also repealed Laws 1998, Chapter 108, Section 82, as amended, a second time, however, that repeal is of no effect as the section had previously been repealed by Chapter 23, Section 1, Laws 2003.

ANNOTATIONS

Right to condemn implies conveyance of water is "public use". — The legislature, in Section 72-1-5 NMSA 1978, has given to persons, firms, associations and corporations, the right to condemn land right-of-way for the purpose of conveying water for beneficial uses. Since the power of eminent domain cannot be exercised without a "public use" being present, the legislature has impliedly declared such a "public use" to be present in such conveyance of water. Kaiser Steel Corp. v. W.S. Ranch Co., 1970-NMSC-043, 81 N.M. 414, 467 P.2d 986.

Section grants power only to corporations organized under article. — The powers of this section are limited to corporations incorporated under Sections 62-2-1 to 62-2-22 NMSA 1978. Mutual domestic water or sewage works association as organized under the Sanitary Projects Act of 1957 has no power of eminent domain. 1967 Op. Att'y Gen. No. 67-50.

62-2-18. Acquiring land of minors and incapacitated persons.

Should it become necessary for any such corporation to acquire the title to any land or other property belonging to any minor or incapacitated person, or which may belong to the estate of any deceased person, the title to any such property may be obtained in such manner as may be provided by law for the conveyance, sale or disposal of the land or other property belonging to minors or incapacitated persons or the estates of deceased persons.

Compiler's notes. — Sections 62-2-1 to 62-2-22 of the Public Utility Act are still effective as the repeal of Chapter 62, Article 2 by Laws 1998, Chapter 108, Section 82, effective July 1, 2003 was repealed prior to taking effect by Chapter 23, Section 1, Laws 2003. Although Laws 2003, Chapter 336, Section 8, amended Laws 1998, Chapter 82, as amended, an amendment of a repealed section is ineffective. See Quintana v. N.M. Dep't of Corrs., 100 N.M. 224, 668 P.2d 1101 (1983). Laws 2003, Chapter 416, Section 5 also repealed Laws 1998, Chapter 108, Section 82, as amended, a second time, however, that repeal is of no effect as the section had previously been repealed by Chapter 23, Section 1, Laws 2003.

62-2-19. [Use of materials on state lands.]

Corporations formed under this article for the purpose of furnishing or supplying water for any of the purposes mentioned in Section 62-2-1 NMSA 1978, shall have the right to use any timber, stone or other materials upon lands belonging to the state, and along the line of their canals or ditches, or in the vicinity of such reservoirs as may be necessary in the construction thereof.

Prior to the 1915 Code, this section contained the provision "shall have the right and privilege of constructing their reservoirs, canals, pipelines or ditches on or over any of the lands now belonging to this territory, or which may hereafter become the property of the territory."

Sections 62-2-1 to 62-2-22 of the Public Utility Act are still effective as the repeal of Chapter 62, Article 2 by Laws 1998, Chapter 108, Section 82, effective July 1, 2003 was repealed prior to taking effect by Chapter 23, Section 1, Laws 2003. 62-2-20. [Corporations for serving cities and towns; rights and privileges.]

All corporations which have been heretofore or may hereafter be formed under the laws of New Mexico for the purpose of supplying water for domestic, irrigating or manufacturing purposes, for cities or towns, with a population of three thousand persons or more, shall have all the powers and shall be entitled to all the rights and privileges so far as they may be necessary for the transaction of the business of any and all such corporations as are conferred on railroad companies.

ARTICLE 3

Public Utility Act; Preamble and Definitions

Sec.

62-3-1. Declaration of policy.

62-3-2. Objects and purposes; liberal interpretation; repeal of inconsistent statutory provisions.

62-3-2.1. Objects and purposes; liberal interpretation.

Sec.

62-3-3. Definitions.

62-3-4. Limitations and exceptions.

62-3-4.1. Certain persons not public utility.

62-3-5. Collection of fees by public utilities.

62-3-1. Declaration of policy.

A. Public utilities, as defined in Section 62-3-3 NMSA 1978, are affected with the public interest in that, among other things:

(1) a substantial portion of public utilities' business and activities involves the rendition of essential public services to a large number of the general public;

(2) public utilities' financing involves the investment of large sums of money, including capital obtained from many members of the general public; and

(3) the development and extension of public utilities' business directly affects the development, growth and expansion of the general welfare, business and industry of the state.

B. It is the declared policy of the state that the public interest, the interest of consumers and the interest of investors require the regulation and supervision of public utilities to the end that reasonable and proper services shall be available at fair, just and reasonable rates and to the end that capital and investment may be encouraged and attracted so as to provide for the construction, development and extension, without unnecessary duplication and economic waste, of proper plants and facilities and demand-side resources for the rendition of service to the general public and to industry.

Repeals and reenactments. — Laws 1967, ch. 96, § 2, repealed former 68-3-1, 1953 Comp., relating to declaration of policy, and enacted a new section.

Compiler's notes. — Sections 62-3-1 to 62-3-5 of the Public Utility Act are still effective as the repeal of Chapter 62, Article 3 by Laws 1998, Chapter 108, Section 82, effective July 1, 2003 was repealed prior to taking effect by Chapter 23, Section 1, Laws 2003. Although Laws 2003, Chapter 336, Section 8, amended Laws 1998, Chapter 82, as amended, an amendment of a repealed section is ineffective. See Quintana v. N.M. Dep't of Corrs., 100 N.M. 224, 668 P.2d 1101 (1983). Laws 2003, Chapter 416, Section 5 also repealed Laws 1998, Chapter 108, Section 82, as amended, a second time, however, that repeal is of no effect as the section had previously been repealed by Chapter 23, Section 1, Laws 2003.

The 2008 amendment, effective May 14, 2008, in Subsection B, provided that capital and investment should provide for demand-side resources.

ANNOTATIONS

Telecommunications. — The Public Utilities Act does not apply to telecommunication services. In re Qwest Communications Int'l, Inc., 2002-NMSC-006, 131 N.M. 770, 42 P.3d 1219.

Public regulation commission derives its authority and jurisdiction from the New Mexico Public Utility Act. City of Sunland Park v. N.M. Pub. Regulation Comm'n., 2004-NMCA-024, 135 N.M. 143, 85 P.3d 267, cert. denied, 2004-NMCERT-002, 135 N.M. 169, 86 P.3d 47.

Goals of utility regulation have been established. — The legislature has established certain goals which utility regulation and supervision are intended to achieve:

reasonable and proper services should be made available to the public at fair, just and reasonable rates, and capital and investment should be encouraged and attracted for the plants and facilities which are to render that service. Southern Union Gas Co. v. N.M. Pub. Serv. Comm'n, 1972-NMSC-072, 84 N.M. 330, 503 P.2d 310.

Utilities excluded from commission's jurisdiction. — Absent a regulatory provision stating otherwise, or absent a willingness of the utility to serve "an indefinite public," any utilities not expressly brought within the scope of The Public Utility Act are excluded from the commission's jurisdiction. Morningstar Water Users Ass'n v. N.M. Pub. Util. Comm'n, 1995-NMSC-062, 120 N.M. 579, 904 P.2d 28.

Section lists some, but not all, points of public interest. — A preamble is a declaration by the legislature of the reasons for the passage of the statute and is helpful in the interpretation of any ambiguities within the statute to which it is prefixed; however, the points of public interest in this section are not the only ones contemplated by the legislature. Griffith v. N.M. Pub. Serv. Comm'n, 1974-NMSC-024, 86 N.M. 113, 520 P.2d 269.

Supervision of foreign public utilities. — Foreign public utilities authorized to do business in this state are subject to the same supervision as utilities incorporated under the laws of this state. El Paso Elec. Co. v. Real Estate Mart, Inc., 1979-NMSC-023, 92 N.M. 581, 592 P.2d 181.

Public service commission's (now public regulation commission's) powers only come from statute. — The public service commission (now public regulation commission) is an administrative body created by statute and must therefore find its authority and jurisdiction conferred upon it either expressly or by necessary implication from the same statutory authority. N.M. Elec. Serv. Co. v. N.M. Pub. Serv. Comm'n, 1970-NMSC-097, 81 N.M. 683, 472 P.2d 648.

Commission may not distinguish between forms of ownership in rate-making. — The New Mexico legislature has made no distinction between public utilities operated as individuals, firms, partnerships, companies or corporations. Nowhere in the New Mexico Public Utility Act is the commission given authority for the purpose of rate-making, to make a distinction between a public utility operated as a corporation from one operated as a sole proprietorship. Moyston v. N.M. Pub. Serv. Comm'n, 1966-NMSC-062, 76 N.M. 146, 412 P.2d 840.

Order that refund be passed on to consumers. — Public service commission (now public regulation commission) has no express or implied statutory authority to order the flow-through of refunds to electric company from power supplier to consumers. N.M. Elec. Serv. Co. v. N.M. Pub. Serv. Comm'n, 1970-NMSC-097, 81 N.M. 683, 472 P.2d 648.

Where refund was not trust fund for consumers. — Where refund was ordered paid over to power company by the federal power commission without any restrictions, and there was nothing in the order indicating an intention on the part of the commission to create a "trust fund" for the benefit of the ultimate consumers, the refund did not constitute a trust fund belonging to company's customers. N.M. Elec. Serv. Co. v. N.M. Pub. Serv. Comm'n, 1970-NMSC-097, 81 N.M. 683, 472 P.2d 648.

Charitable contributions and lobbying expenditures not passable to consumers. — A commission order which essentially prohibited utility companies from including charitable contributions and lobbying expenditures in their cost of service, and from thereby passing those expenses on to the ratepayers was a reasonable exercise of the commission's authority pursuant to Subsection B. El Paso Elec. Co. v. N.M. Pub. Serv. Comm'n, 1985-NMSC-085, 103 N.M. 300, 706 P.2d 511.

Advertising costs passable to consumers. — A commission order which allowed utility companies to include in their cost of service, and pass on to their ratepayers, expenditures for "informational" advertising (e.g., safety, billing practices, etc.), but not expenditures for "institutional" advertising (e.g., enhancement of corporate image), and which required that a utility show by "clear and convincing" evidence that an advertising expense is allowable was a reasonable exercise of the commission's authority pursuant to Subsection B, to insure that utility services are available "at fair, just and reasonable rates." El Paso Elec. Co. v. N.M. Pub. Serv. Comm'n, 1985-NMSC-085, 103 N.M. 300, 706 P.2d 511.

Rate increases to compensate predecessor utility for expenses. — The public service commission (now public regulation commission) did not have jurisdiction over rate increases requested by a natural gas distribution company to compensate the company's predecessor, which was not currently a public utility, for expenses incurred by the latter in fulfilling its function as a public utility. Southern Union Gas Co. v. N.M. Pub. Util. Comm'n, 1997-NMSC-056, 124 N.M. 176, 947 P.2d 133.

Lowering gas rate to reimburse for overpayment is subject to bankruptcy stay provisions. — Lowering of gas rate to reimburse customers for previous overpayments is not a rate setting function of the public service commission and, as such, was subject to bankruptcy stay provisions. In re Jal Gas Co., 44 B.R. 91 (Bankr. D.N.M. 1984).

Financial affairs of public utilities are strictly regulated. — It is the public policy of the state to require strict regulation of the financial affairs of public utilities, to the end that they may be adequately financed and, among other things, render service at reasonable rates. Hogue v. Superior Utils., Inc., 1949-NMSC-056, 53 N.M. 452, 210 P.2d 938 (1949).

Both ratepayers and investors must be justly treated. — In the determining of a proper rate of return under the statute, enough actual dollars must be produced that both ratepayers and investors are justly and reasonably treated. Southern Union Gas Co. v. N.M. Pub. Serv. Comm'n, 1972-NMSC-072, 84 N.M. 330, 503 P.2d 310.

Commission is vested with considerable discretion in determining whether a rate to be received and charged is just and reasonable. Hobbs Gas Co. v. N.M. Pub. Serv. Comm'n, 1980-NMSC-005, 94 N.M. 731, 616 P.2d 1116.

Commission not limited in factors to be considered in setting rates. — Neither New Mexico case law nor the Public Utility Act imposes any one particular method of valuation upon the commission in ascertaining the rate base of a utility; nor does the spirit of the statute tie the commission down to the consideration of a single factor in establishing rates. Hobbs Gas Co. v. N.M. Pub. Serv. Comm'n, 1980-NMSC-005, 94 N.M. 731, 616 P.2d 1116.

Commission must consider income taxes in fixing rates. — Rates which failed entirely to take federal and state income taxes to which unincorporated utility's operations had been subjected into account as operating expenses are unfair, unjust, unreasonable and discriminatory, and an amount equal to the tax the utility would pay, if incorporated, was a reasonable and realistic amount to be deducted from the utility's taxable income for rate-making purposes. Moyston v. N.M. Pub. Serv. Comm'n, 1966-NMSC-062, 76 N.M. 146, 412 P.2d 840.

Evidence must show rate fixed is reasonable and will achieve goals. — District court's holding below that commission's order was unreasonable and unlawful because it did not simply turn the cost of capital percentage directly into a rate of return was upheld by supreme court because it found there was little or no evidence that the particular rate chosen by the commission would achieve the statutory goals and therefore was unreasonable. Southern Union Gas Co. v. N.M. Pub. Serv. Comm'n, 1972-NMSC-072, 84 N.M. 330, 503 P.2d 310.

Valuation methods must be supported by substantial evidence. — Where gas company seeking rate increase proposed to trend the general plant account items by using a nationally recognized index, but the commission instead inserted its own method - to simply use the untrended original cost, although the witness who strongly supported this approach admitted that he did not know whether this would accurately establish the reproduction cost of the items, the court held the commission's order was unreasonable, being unsupported by substantial evidence. Southern Union Gas Co. v. N.M. Pub. Serv. Comm'n, 1972-NMSC-072, 84 N.M. 330, 503 P.2d 310.

Commission may not remove entire construction item because interest was included. — The district court erred in failing to hold unreasonable and unlawful the commission's removal of $673,574 of construction work in progress from the company's rate base on the reasoning that it had included the interest on that amount, $4904.62, when the object was to determine accurately the value of the company's property. Southern Union Gas Co. v. N.M. Pub. Serv. Comm'n, 1972-NMSC-072, 84 N.M. 330, 503 P.2d 310.

Utility cannot contract against its negligence in performing duties. — A public service corporation, or a public utility such as an electric company, cannot contract against its negligence in the regular course of its business or in performing one of its duties of public service or where a public duty is owed or where public interest is involved. Southwestern Pub. Serv. Co. v. Artesia Alfalfa Growers' Ass'n, 1960-NMSC-052, 67 N.M. 108, 353 P.2d 62.

Requiring exhaustion of administrative remedies is constitutional. — The requirement of the Public Utility Act that a person first exhaust his administrative remedy, before resorting to the courts does not violate N.M. Const., art. VI, § 13, granting general jurisdiction to the district courts except as elsewhere limited in such constitution. Smith v. Southern Union Gas Co., 1954-NMSC-033, 58 N.M. 197, 269 P.2d 745.

Procedure may not be changed arbitrarily. — Although the public service commission (now public regulation commission) should be able to change its procedure, it should not arbitrarily or capriciously do so without good reasons. Southern Union Gas Co. v. N.M. Pub. Serv. Comm'n, 1972-NMSC-072, 84 N.M. 330, 503 P.2d 310.

Motion to bring record of previous case before court properly stricken. — It was not error on the part of the district court to strike the commission's motion for an amended praecipe, where this motion would have had the effect of bringing the record of a previous case before the court, and the record of that case was not a part of the record in the instant case. Southern Union Gas Co. v. N.M. Pub. Serv. Comm'n, 1972-NMSC-072, 84 N.M. 330, 503 P.2d 310.

Indians on reservation are not subject to regulation. — Indians acquiring gas resources from sources wholly upon Indian reservations within the state of New Mexico are not public utilities subject to regulation by the public service commission (now public regulation commission) of New Mexico. 1953-54 Op. Att'y Gen. No. 53-5690.

Indians operating a gas distribution system wholly on an Indian reservation regardless of the manner in which they acquire the gas on the reservation are not subject to the laws of the state of New Mexico in relation to regulation as public utilities. 1953-54 Op. Att'y Gen. No. 53-5690.

Selling television signals does not require certificate. — There does not exist any requirement that a business, consisting of sale of television transmission signals, obtain a certificate of convenience and necessity from either the public service commission (now public regulation commission) of New Mexico or the corporation commission (now public regulation commission) of New Mexico before commencing to do business. 1953-54 Op. Att'y Gen. No. 54-5942.

Individual selling water to municipal utility is regulated utility. — An individual operating a water service and selling at wholesale water to a municipally owned utility would be a public utility to the extent this operation effects the public interest and as such would be subject to the jurisdiction of the public service commission (now public regulation commission). 1953-54 Op. Att'y Gen. No. 53-5715.

General jurisdiction does not cover water and sanitation districts. — The legislature did not intend to place water and sanitation districts under the general jurisdiction of the public service commission (now public regulation commission). 1971 Op. Att'y Gen. No. 71-56.

Commission is given jurisdiction of water and sanitation district rates. — Water and sanitation districts have not been declared to be subject to the jurisdiction of the public service commission (now public regulation commission) except in the limited area of approving the district board's rates, tolls and charges. 1971 Op. Att'y Gen. No. 71-56.

62-3-2. Objects and purposes; liberal interpretation; repeal of inconsistent statutory provisions.

A. The following are the objects and purposes of this act.

(1) Experience has proven that electric service by rural electric cooperatives must be furnished under the regulation of the commission in order to effectuate the purposes of both the Rural Electric Cooperative Act [Chapter 62, Article 15 NMSA 1978], as amended, and the Public Utility Act [Chapter 62, Articles 1 through 6 and 8 through 13 NMSA 1978], as amended, and that without extending the coverage of the Public Utility Act, as amended, to rural electric cooperatives, the declared policy of the Public Utility Act, as amended, and the general welfare, business and industry of the state may be frustrated.

(2) It is the declared policy of the state that preservation of the public health, safety and welfare, the interest of consumers and the interest of investor-members require that the construction, development and extension of utility plants and facilities be without unnecessary duplication and economic waste. Experience has proven that this purpose cannot be accomplished without bringing the rural electric cooperatives and persons heretofore recognized as public utilities into parity of treatment with respect to the commission's independent jurisdiction and power to prevent unreasonable interference between proposed and existing plants, lines and systems.

(3) Experience has also proven that rural electric cooperatives are substantially different from investor-owned utilities, particularly relative to setting rates. Under the Rural Electric Cooperative Act, rural electric cooperatives are nonprofit membership corporations whose members have direct control over the cooperative's rates through an elected board of trustees. Generally, consumers of the cooperative's power are members. In contrast, consumers of power from investor-owned utilities have no control over the setting of rates by such utilities which are profit motivated. Experience has proven that the costs to rural electric cooperatives and the public at large in complete government regulation of their rates is greatly disproportionate to the need and benefits of complete rate regulation and interferes with the setting of fair, just and reasonable rates to all utilities. Experience has shown that a rational basis exists to provide procedures for setting rates of rural electric cooperatives different from and more limited than those for setting rates of investor-owned utilities. Without limiting government regulation of rate setting by rural electric cooperatives as provided by Section 62-8-7 NMSA 1978, the declared policy of the Public Utility Act, the provision of reasonable and proper utility services at fair, just and reasonable rates, and the general welfare, business and industry of the state may be frustrated.

(4) It is the intent of the legislature in enacting this statute to bring up to date the laws pertaining to public utilities and rural electric cooperatives so that the rural electric cooperative which is a public utility is subject to reasonable burdens and entitled to reasonable benefits which apply to public utilities generally, to insure more reasonable public regulation and supervision of public utilities, to facilitate the prevention of unnecessary duplication and economic waste between utility systems and to establish a system which will more adequately provide for the development and extension of reasonable and proper utility services at fair, just and reasonable rates. The accomplishment of this intent is necessary and vital to the preservation of the public health, safety and welfare.

B. This act shall be liberally construed to carry out its purposes.

C. Nothing contained in any other act governing the creation and operation of rural electric cooperatives which are public utilities, including Laws 1937, Chapter 100 and the Rural Electric Cooperative Act, as amended, shall be construed to conflict with any duty to which such a utility may be subject or with any benefit to which such a utility may be entitled under the Public Utility Act, as now or hereafter amended. In the event any provision of such other act, including Laws 1937, Chapter 100 or the Rural Electric Cooperative Act, as now or hereafter amended, is held to be repugnant to any provision of the Public Utility Act, as now or hereafter amended, the latter shall be controlling and the former is repealed to the extent of the repugnancy.

History: 1953 Comp., § 68-3-1.1, enacted by Laws 1967, ch. 96, § 9; 1985, ch. 176, § 1.

Compiler's notes. — The term "this act", referred to in Subsections A and B, first appears in Laws 1985, ch. 176, which is codified at 62-3-2 and 62-8-7 NMSA 1978, but is probably intended to be a reference to the Public Utility Act.

Sections 62-3-1 to 62-3-5 of the Public Utility Act are still effective as the repeal of Chapter 62, Article 3 by Laws 1998, Chapter 108, Section 82, effective July 1, 2003 was repealed prior to taking effect by Chapter 23, Section 1, Laws 2003. Although Laws 2003, Chapter 336, Section 8, amended Laws 1998, Chapter 82, as amended, an amendment of a repealed section is ineffective. See Quintana v. N.M. Dep't of Corrs., 100 N.M. 224, 668 P.2d 1101 (1983). Laws 2003, Chapter 416, Section 5 also repealed Laws 1998, Chapter 108, Section 82, as amended, a second time, however, that repeal is of no effect as the section had previously been repealed by Chapter 23, Section 1, Laws 2003.

Cross references. — For Public Utility Act repealing repugnant provisions of Rural Electric Cooperative Act, see 62-15-32 NMSA 1978.

The 1985 amendment deleted "hereby declared to be" following "The following are" and "1967" following "purposes of this" in the introductory paragraph of Subsection

A, deleted "public service" preceding "commission" near the beginning of Subsection A(1), substituted "this purpose" for "such purpose", "plants" for "plant" and "systems" for "system" in the second sentence of Subsection A(2), added present Subsection A(3), renumbered former Subsection A(3) as present Subsection A(4), substituting "which is a public utility is subject to reasonable burdens and entitled to reasonable benefits which apply to public utilities generally, to insure more reasonable public regulation" for "subject to all the burdens and entitled to all the benefits which apply to public utilities generally, to insure more rigid public regulation" in that subsection, deleted "1967" following "This" at the beginning of Subsection B, divided the former provisions of Subsection C into two sentences, substituting "operation of rural electric cooperatives which are public utilities" for "operation of public utilities brought under the regulation of the commission by virtue of this 1967 act" and deleting "and" following "hereafter amended" in the first sentence and substituting "is held to be" for "shall be held to be" and deleting "shall be, and" following "former" and "hereby" following "former is" in the second sentence of Subsection C.

ANNOTATIONS

Cooperatives may not be made utilities but excepted from regulations upon others. — Laws 1961, ch. 89 (repealed), insofar as it attempted to place rural electric cooperatives under the Public Utility Act by including them within the definition of "public utility" constituted an arbitrary and unreasonable classification in violation of the equal protection clauses because cooperatives were included in the act though not required to render service to the general public and no provision was made for complete regulation of rates charged by them or securities issued by them, whereas other electric utilities had to render service to the public and their rates and financing were completely supervised and controlled. Community Pub. Serv. Co. v. N.M. Pub. Serv. Comm'n, 1966-NMSC-053, 76 N.M. 314, 414 P.2d 675, cert. denied, 385 U.S. 933, 87 S. Ct. 292, 17 L. Ed. 2d 213 (1966).

Formerly, rural electric cooperatives were not regulated by public utilities commission (now public regulation commission). Socorro Elec. Coop. v. Public Serv. Co., 1959-NMSC-105, 66 N.M. 343, 348 P.2d 88.

Commission may not order that refund be passed on to consumers. — Public service commission (now public regulation commission) has no express or implied statutory authority to order the flow-through of refunds to electric company from power supplier to consumers. N.M. Elec. Serv. Co. v. N.M. Pub. Serv. Comm'n, 1970-NMSC-097, 81 N.M. 683, 472 P.2d 648.

Where refund was not trust fund for consumers. — Where refund was ordered paid over to power company by the federal power commission without any restrictions, and there was nothing in the order indicating an intention on the part of the commission to create a "trust fund" for the benefit of the ultimate consumers, the refund did not constitute a trust fund belonging to company's customers. N.M. Elec. Serv. Co. v. N.M. Pub. Serv. Comm'n, 1970-NMSC-097, 81 N.M. 683, 472 P.2d 648.

It was the intent of the legislature that the Public Utility Act be liberally construed. 1969 Op. Att'y Gen. No. 69-81.

62-3-2.1. Objects and purposes; liberal interpretation.

A. The following are declared to be the objects and purposes of this 1985 act. Experience has proven that the costs to ratepayers of small water utilities with annual revenues of less than five hundred thousand dollars ($500,000) and the public at large in complete government regulation of their rates is greatly disproportionate to the need and benefits of complete rate regulation and interferes with setting of fair, just and reasonable rates to all utilities. A rational basis exists to provide procedures for setting rates of such small water utilities different from and more limited than those for setting rates of other utilities. Without limiting government regulation of rate setting by small water utilities as provided by Section 62-8-7.1 NMSA 1978, the declared policy of the Public Utility Act [Chapter 62, Articles 1 through 6 and 8 through 13 NMSA 1978], as amended, the provision of reasonable and proper utility services at fair, just and reasonable rates, and the general welfare, business and industry of the state may be frustrated.

B. The following are hereby declared to be the objects and purposes of these 1987 amendments to the Public Utility Act. Because small sewer utilities are similar to small water utilities, the costs to ratepayers of small sewer utilities with annual revenues of less than five hundred thousand dollars ($500,000) and the public at large in complete government regulation of their rates is greatly disproportionate to the need and benefits of complete rate regulation and interferes with setting of fair, just and reasonable rates to all utilities. A rational basis exists to provide procedures for setting rates of such small sewer utilities different from and more limited than those for setting rates of other utilities. Without limiting government regulation of rate setting by small sewer utilities as provided by Section 62-8-7.1 NMSA 1978, the declared policy of the Public Utility Act, the provision of reasonable and proper utility services at fair, just and reasonable rates, and the general welfare, business and industry of the state may be frustrated.

C. The following are declared to be the objects and purposes of this 1991 act. Experience has proven that the construction, development and extension of proper plants and facilities cannot be accomplished without unnecessary duplication and economic waste within areas certificated to water and sewer utilities without controls against duplicative intrusions into certificated areas by municipal utilities. A rational basis exists to prohibit intrusion of municipal water or sewer facilities or service into areas in which a public utility furnishes regulated services until that municipality elects to come within the terms of the Public Utility Act, in which event both systems will be brought into parity of treatment with respect to the commission's independent jurisdiction and power to prevent unreasonable interference between competing plants, lines and systems. Without such controls as provided by Section 62-9-1.1 NMSA 1978, the declared policy of the Public Utility Act, the provision of reasonable and proper utility services at fair, just and reasonable rates and the general welfare, business and industry of the state may be frustrated.

D. The provisions of the 1985 and 1987 acts and of this 1991 act shall be liberally construed to carry out their purposes.

Compiler's notes. — Sections 62-3-1 to 62-3-5 of the Public Utility Act are still effective as the repeal of Chapter 62, Article 3 by Laws 1998, Chapter 108, Section 82, effective July 1, 2003 was repealed prior to taking effect by Chapter 23, Section 1, Laws 2003. Although Laws 2003, Chapter 336, Section 8, amended Laws 1998, Chapter 82, as amended, an amendment of a repealed section is ineffective. See Quintana v. N.M. Dep't of Corrs., 100 N.M. 224, 668 P.2d 1101 (1983). Laws 2003, Chapter 416, Section 5 also repealed Laws 1998, Chapter 108, Section 82, as amended, a second time, however, that repeal is of no effect as the section had previously been repealed by Chapter 23, Section 1, Laws 2003.

"This 1985 act", referred to in the first sentence of Subsection A, and "the 1985 . . . acts," referred to in Subsection D, refer to Laws 1985, ch. 221, which is presently compiled as 62-3-2.1, 62-8-7, and 62-8-7.1 NMSA 1978.

The terms "these 1987 amendments," referred to in the first sentence in Subsection B, and "1987 act," referred to in Subsection D, apparently mean Laws 1987, ch. 52, which appears as 62-3-2.1, 62-3-3, 62-8-7.1 and 62-9-2.1 NMSA 1978.

The term, "this 1991 act", referred to in Subsections C and D, refers to Laws 1991, ch. 143, which is presently compiled as 62-3-2.1 and 62-9-1.1 NMSA 1978.

The 1991 amendment, effective April 3, 1991, substituted "62-8-7.1 NMSA 1978" for "62-8-7 NMSA 1978, as amended" near the end of Subsection A and added Subsections C and D.

The 1987 amendment, effective June 19, 1987, added Subsection B and made a minor word change near the beginning of Subsection A.

ANNOTATIONS

An exception for small municipalities was not created. — Subsection C of Section 62-3-2.1 NMSA 1978 lacks the explicit language required to create an exception subjecting small municipalities to the Public Utility Act or to public regulation commission jurisdiction, prohibit municipal utilities from serving in areas covered by a public utility's certificate of convenience and necessity, or expand the scope of the Public Utility Act or the public regulation commission's jurisdiction over municipalities beyond the controls identified in Section 62-9-1.1 NMSA 1978. Moon-gate Water Co., Inc. v. City of Las Cruces, 2012-NMCA-003, 269 P.3d 1, cert. granted, 2012-NMCERT-001.

B. "commission" means the public regulation commission;

C. "commissioner" means a member of the commission;

D. "municipality" means a municipal corporation organized under the laws of the state, and H-class counties;

section unless the municipality has elected to come within the terms of the Public Utility Act as provided in Section 62-6-5 NMSA 1978. In the absence of voluntary election by a municipality to come within the provisions of the Public Utility Act, the municipality shall be expressly excluded from the operation of that act and from the operation of all its provisions, and no such municipality shall for any purpose be considered a public utility;

(3) any plant, property or facility for the supplying, storage, distribution or furnishing to or for the public of water for manufacturing, municipal, domestic or other uses; provided, however, that nothing contained in this paragraph shall be construed to apply to irrigation systems, the chief or principal business of which is to supply water for the purpose of irrigation;

(4) any plant, property or facility for the production, transmission, conveyance, delivery or furnishing to or for the public of steam for heat or power or other uses;

(5) any plant, property or facility for the supplying and furnishing to or for the public of sanitary sewers for transmission and disposal of sewage produced by manufacturing, municipal, domestic or other uses; provided that "public utility" or "utility" as used in the Public Utility Act does not include any utility owned or operated by a class A county as described in Section 4-36-10 NMSA 1978 either directly or through a corporation owned by or under contract with such a county; or

(6) any plant, property or facility for the sale or furnishing to or for the public of goods or services to reduce the consumption of or demand for electricity or natural gas, and is either a public utility under the definitions found in Paragraph (1) or (2) of this subsection, or is an alternative energy efficiency provider as described in Section 62-17-7 NMSA 1978;

"Renewable energy" does not include fossil fuel or nuclear energy;

J. "service" or "service regulation" means every rule, regulation, practice, act or requirement relating to the service or facility of a utility;

K. "Class I transaction" means the sale, lease or provision of real property, water rights or other goods or services by an affiliated interest to a public utility with which it is affiliated or by a public utility to its affiliated interest;

L. "Class II transaction" means:

(1) the formation after May 19, 1982 of a corporate subsidiary by a public utility or a public utility holding company by a public utility or its affiliated interest;

(2) the direct acquisition of the voting securities or other direct ownership interests of a person by a public utility if such acquisition would make the utility the owner of ten percent or more of the voting securities or other direct ownership interests of that person;

Repeals and reenactments. — Laws 1967, ch. 96, § 3, repealed former 68-3-2, 1953 Comp., relating to definitions for the Public Utility Act, and enacted a new 62-3-3 NMSA 1978.

For the Efficient Use of Energy Act, see Chapter 62, Article 17 NMSA 1978 et seq.

Compiler's notes. — Sections 62-3-1 to 62-3-5 of the Public Utility Act are still effective as the repeal of Chapter 62, Article 3 by Laws 1998, Chapter 108, Section 82, effective July 1, 2003 was repealed prior to taking effect by Chapter 23, Section 1, Laws 2003. Although Laws 2003, Chapter 336, Section 8, amended Laws 1998, Chapter 82, as amended, an amendment of a repealed section is ineffective. See Quintana v. N.M. Dep't of Corrs., 100 N.M. 224, 668 P.2d 1101 (1983). Laws 2003, Chapter 416, Section 5 also repealed Laws 1998, Chapter 108, Section 82, as amended, a second time, however, that repeal is of no effect as the section had previously been repealed by Chapter 23, Section 1, Laws 2003.

Laws 1937, Chapter 100, referred to in the first sentence in Subsection E, was repealed in 1939.

The 2009 amendment, effective June 19, 2009, added Subsection P.

The 2005 amendment, effective April 7, 2005, added Subsection G(6) to provide that public utility includes a plant, property or facilities for the sale or furnishing of goods or services to reduce the consumption or demand for utilities and is a public utility or an alternative emergency efficiency provider.

The 2003 amendment, effective June 20, 2003, inserted present Subsection I and renumbered subsequent subsections accordingly.

The 1998 amendment, effective January 1, 1999, deleted "Words and Phrases" in the section heading; substituted "public regulation" for "New Mexico public utility" in Subsection B; in Subsection C, substituted "commissioner" for "commissioners" near the beginning and deleted "any" preceding "a member of" near the end; substituted "a" for "any" near the beginning of Subsection D; in Subsection

E, substituted "an individual, firm, partnership, company" for "individuals, firms, partnerships, companies" near the beginning, substituted "cooperative" for "cooperatives" near the middle of Subsection E, substituted "corporation or lessee, trustee or receiver" for "as amended, corporations and lessees, trustees or receivers" near the middle, and substituted "'Person' does" for "It shall" in two places in Subsection E; near the end of Subsection G, deleted "now does or hereafter"; and made minor stylistic changes throughout the section.

The 1996 amendment, effective March 6, 1996, substituted "utility" for "service" in Subsection B; inserted "class A counties as described in Section 4-36-10 NMSA 1978" in Subsection D; added the proviso at the end of Paragraph (5) in Subsection G; and made stylistic changes throughout the section.

The 1993 amendment, effective June 18, 1993, rewrote Subsection A and made stylistic changes in Subsection M.

The 1987 amendment, effective June 19, 1987, in Subsection G, substituted "stated in Section 62-3-4 and 62-3-4.1 NMSA 1978" for "hereinafter stated" in the opening clause and added Paragraph (5) and made minor language changes throughout the section.

Franchise fees are not rates. — Franchise fees charged by counties pursuant to Section 62-1-3 NMSA 1978 are not rates as defined in Section 62-3-3 NMSA 1978 and do not fall within the jurisdiction of the public regulation commission. El Paso Elec. Co. v. N.M. Pub. Regulation Comm'n, 2010-NMSC-048, 149 N.M. 174, 246 P.3d 443.

Franchise fees are not taxes. — Franchise fees charged by counties pursuant to Section 62-1-3 NMSA 1978 are not taxes that the public regulation commission may consider when setting rates. El Paso Elec. Co. v. N.M. Pub. Regulation Comm'n, 2010-NMSC-048, 149 N.M. 174, 246 P.3d 443.

Franchise fees are not items included in adjustment clauses. — Franchise fees charged by counties pursuant to Section 62-1-3 NMSA 1978 are not within the jurisdiction of the public regulation commission by analogy to fuel and purchased power adjustment clauses, over which the commission has jurisdiction under Section 62-8-7 NMSA 1978. El Paso Elec. Co. v. N.M. Pub. Regulation Comm'n, 2010-NMSC-048, 149 N.M. 174, 246 P.3d 443.

Line item charge for franchise fees. — The public regulation commission did not have jurisdiction to enter an order requiring a public utility to stop including on customer's bills the franchise fee charges paid by the utility to a county for the right to use county right-of-way to deliver utility service to county residents and businesses. El Paso Elec. Co. v. N.M. Pub. Regulation Comm'n, 2010-NMSC-048, 149 N.M. 174, 246 P.3d 443.

United States and governmental agencies are not "persons". — The legislature, under this section, did not see fit to include or even mention the United States or governmental agencies as "persons." Southern Union Gas Co. v. N.M. Pub. Serv. Comm'n, 1971-NMSC-035, 82 N.M. 405, 482 P.2d 913, overruled on another point by De Vargas Sav. & Loan Ass'n v. Campbell, 1975-NMSC-026, 87 N.M. 469, 535 P.2d 1320.

The words "person or corporation" do not in their ordinary signification mean a sovereign government. Southern Union Gas Co. v. N.M. Pub. Serv. Comm'n, 1971-NMSC-035, 82 N.M. 405, 482 P.2d 913, overruled on another point by De Vargas Sav. & Loan Ass'n v. Campbell, 1975-NMSC-026, 87 N.M. 469, 535 P.2d 1320.

Public Service Company of New Mexico. — Although considered a "public utility" under this section, the Public Service Company of New Mexico (PNM) is essentially a private corporation, not a public governmental agency, and its works are not to be considered as "public works" projects. Cnty. of Santa Fe v. Pub. Serv. Co., 311 F.3d 1031 (10th Cir. 2002).

Readiness to serve public is principal characteristic of public utility. — The principal determinative characteristic of a public utility is that of service to, or readiness to serve, an indefinite public (or portion of the public as such) which has a legal right to demand and receive its services or commodities. Llano, Inc. v. Southern Union Gas Co., 1964-NMSC-257, 75 N.M. 7, 399 P.2d 646.

In determining a public utility question, the test is whether or not a person holds himself out, expressly or impliedly, as engaged in the business of supplying his product or service to the public, as a class, or to any limited portion of it. Griffith v. N.M. Pub. Serv. Comm'n, 1974-NMSC-024, 86 N.M. 113, 520 P.2d 269.

The public or private character of the enterprise does not depend on the number of persons by whom it is used, but on whether or not it is open to the use and service of all members of the public who may require it, to the extent of its capacity. Griffith v. N.M. Pub. Serv. Comm'n, 1974-NMSC-024, 86 N.M. 113, 520 P.2d 269; Llano, Inc. v. Southern Union Gas Co., 1964-NMSC-257, 75 N.M. 7, 399 P.2d 646.

Sufficient part to clothe operation with public interest. — The phrase "to the public" means sufficient sales to the public to clothe the operation with a public interest and does not mean willingness to sell to each and every one of the public without discrimination. Griffith v. N.M. Pub. Serv. Comm'n, 1974-NMSC-024, 86 N.M. 113, 520 P.2d 269.

Class II transaction not found. — Electric utility's investment in building non-utility facilities for paper company in exchange for the company's promise to reimburse the utility over time through charges for steam and water service was not a purchase of a "security" under Subsection K(3) (now Subsection L(3)), and therefore did not constitute a Class II transaction, so as to require prior commission approval. Plains Elec. Generation & Transmission Coop. v. N.M. Pub. Util. Comm'n, 1998-NMSC-038, 126 N.M. 152, 967 P.2d 827.

Corporation not serving public is not public utility. — Where corporation had not held nor was holding itself as ready, willing and able to provide natural gas service to or for the public or any segment thereof, it could not be considered a public utility. Llano, Inc. v. Southern Union Gas Co., 1964-NMSC-257, 75 N.M. 7, 399 P.2d 646.

Water association in control of developer of subdivision is public utility, as the character of the use is to serve all members of the public who buy lots from the developer, and the extent of the use is that an entire housing development is dependent upon the association for a prime necessity of life. Griffith v. N.M. Pub. Serv. Comm'n, 1974-NMSC-024, 86 N.M. 113, 520 P.2d 269.

Formerly, cooperatives did not come within definition of "public utility". Socorro Elec. Coop. v. Pub. Serv. Co., 1959-NMSC-105, 66 N.M. 343, 348 P.2d 88.

Public service (now public regulation) commission was not required to delineate an electric cooperative's service area where part of its system was in an area previously certificated to another utility. Lea Cnty. Elec. Coop. v. N.M. Pub. Serv. Comm'n, 1965-NMSC-057, 75 N.M. 191, 402 P.2d 377, cert. denied, 385 U.S. 969, 87 S. Ct. 506, 17 L. Ed. 2d 433 (1966).

Cooperatives may not be made utilities but excepted from regulations upon others. — Laws 1961, ch. 89 (repealed), insofar as it attempted to place rural electric cooperatives under the Public Utility Act by including them within the definition of "public utility" constituted an arbitrary and unreasonable classification in violation of the equal protection clauses because cooperatives were included in the act though not required to render service to the general public and no provision was made for complete regulation of rates charged by them or securities issued by them, whereas other electric utilities had to render service to the public and their rates and financing were completely supervised and controlled. Community Pub. Serv. Co. v. N.M. Pub. Serv. Comm'n, 1966-NMSC-053, 76 N.M. 314, 414 P.2d 675, cert. denied, 385 U.S. 933, 87 S. Ct. 292, 17 L. Ed. 2d 213.

No distinction made between utilities based on form of ownership. — The New Mexico legislature has made no distinction between public utilities operated as individuals, firms, partnerships, companies or corporations. Nowhere in the New Mexico Public Utility Act is the commission given authority, for the purpose of rate-making, to make a distinction between a public utility operated as a corporation from one operated as a sole proprietorship. Moyston v. N.M. Pub. Serv. Comm'n, 1966-NMSC-062, 76 N.M. 146, 412 P.2d 840.

Municipality not an "interested electric utility." — The definition of "person" in Subsection E of this section controls the meaning of "interested electric utility" in Section 62-6-25B NMSA 1978 and, thus, a municipality that had not elected to come within the terms of the Public Utility Act was not authorized to seek wheeling orders from the commission. Pub. Serv. Co. v. N.M. Pub. Util. Comm'n, 1999-NMSC-040, 128 N.M. 309, 992 P.2d 860.

Regulation of "optional utility programs." — Commission had jurisdiction to require utility to establish a corporate subsidiary for purposes of instituting gas and electric "optional utility programs," which included surge suppression, maintenance and repair services, information services, and power quality solutions. PNM Elec. Servs. v. N.M. Pub. Util. Comm'n, 1998-NMSC-017, 125 N.M. 302, 961 P.2d 147.

Unregulated municipalities must comply with liquefied petroleum gas statutes. — Inasmuch as municipally operated and owned utilities are not subject to regulation by the public service commission (now public regulation commission) (unless they so elect), a village is required to comply with provisions relating to liquefied petroleum gas. 1947-48 Op. Att'y Gen. No. 48-5156.

Obligation of state agency. — A state agency, like any other user of utility service, has the statutory obligation to pay the rates therefor, including any late charges, under schedules approved by the commission, since late charges fall within the definition of "rate" in this section. 1988 Op. Att'y Gen. No. 88-80.

Extent of undertaking limits obligation to serve. — One who undertakes to serve the public undertakes an obligation which is limited by the extent of his profession, and he cannot be compelled to serve beyond the limits of that profession. Gas utility not required to serve city constructing line to utility's line. 1957-58 Op. Att'y Gen. No. 57-277.

Corporation may subject itself to regulation by selling electricity for resale to public. — When one utility sells electrical energy to another utility only, and not to the public, it is not subject to the provisions of this section, but notwithstanding the fact that by such operation it does not become a public utility, it subjects itself to regulation by the public service commission (now public regulation commission) when sale of the electricity is for resale to the public, to the extent necessary to determine that the cost to the utility shall be reasonable. 1951-52 Op. Att'y Gen. No. 52-5618.

Corporation may subject itself to regulation by selling water to municipal utility. — An individual operating a water service and selling at wholesale to a municipally-owned utility would be a public utility to the extent his operation affects the public interest and as such is subject to the jurisdiction of the public service commission (now public regulation commission). 1953-54 Op. Att'y Gen. No. 53-5715.

62-3-4. Limitations and exceptions.

A. The term "public utility" or "utility", when used in the Public Utility Act, shall not include:

(1) any person not otherwise a public utility who furnishes the service or commodity only to that person or that person's employees or tenants, when such service or commodity is not resold to or used by others, or who engages in the retail distribution of natural gas or electricity for vehicular fuel; or

(2) a corporation engaged in the business of operating a railroad and that does not primarily engage in the business of selling the service or commodity but that only incidentally to its railroad business or occasionally furnishes the service or commodity to another under a separate limited or revocable agreement or sells to a utility or municipality for resale, or that sells the service or commodity to another railroad, the state or federal government or a governmental agency, or that sells or gives for a consideration under revocable agreements or permits quantities of water out of any surplus of water supply acquired and held by it primarily for railroad purposes; and such railroad corporation shall not be subject to any of the provisions of the Public Utility Act.

B. The business of any public utility other than of the character defined in Subsection G of Section 62-3-3 NMSA 1978 is not subject to provisions of the Public Utility Act.

Repeals and reenactments. — Laws 1967, ch. 96, § 4, repealed former 68-3-3, 1953 Comp., relating to limitations on and exceptions from definition of "public utility," and enacted the above section.

Compiler's notes. — Sections 62-3-1 to 62-3-5 of the Public Utility Act are still effective as the repeal of Chapter 62, Article 3 by Laws 1998, Chapter 108, Section 82, effective July 1, 2003 was repealed prior to taking effect by Chapter 23, Section 1, Laws 2003. Although Laws 2003, Chapter 336, Section 8, amended Laws 1998, Chapter 82, as amended, an amendment of a repealed section is ineffective. See Quintana v. N.M. Dep't of Corrs., 100 N.M. 224, 668 P.2d 1101 (1983). Laws 2003, Chapter 416, Section 5 also repealed Laws 1998, Chapter 108, Section 82, as amended, a second time, however, that repeal is of no effect as the section had previously been repealed by Chapter 23, Section 1, Laws 2003.

The 2019 amendment, effective June 14, 2019, provided that a person who engages in the retail distribution of electricity for vehicular fuel is not a public utility; in Subsection A, in Paragraph A(1), after "only to", deleted "himself, his" and added "that person or that person's", and after "natural gas", added "or electricity".

The 1998 amendment, effective January 1, 1999, added new Subsection A, redesignated former Subsection A as Paragraph A(1), and deleted "as amended" following "shall not include:" near the middle of the Subsection; redesignated former Subsection B as Paragraph A(2), and in that Paragraph, deleted "as amended. Nothing contained in that act shall be construed as giving to the commission any powers or jurisdiction over public utilities covered by Section 7 of Article 11 of the constitution of New Mexico" from the end; and added new Subsection B.

The 1992 amendment, effective May 20, 1992, added the subsection designations; added "or who engages in the retail distribution of natural gas for vehicular fuel" at the end of Subsection A; substituted "Subsection G of Section 62-3-3 NMSA 1978" for "Subdivision F of Section 68-3-2 New Mexico Statutes Annotated, 1953 Compilation hereof" in the first sentence of the second paragraph of Subsection B; and made minor stylistic changes throughout the section.

ANNOTATIONS

Supplier of water to public is public utility. — In order to preserve the public welfare, any person not engaged solely in interstate business, who operates a facility which supplies water to the public for domestic use, is a public utility unless he supplies water only to himself, his tenants or his employees. Griffith v. N.M. Pub. Serv. Comm'n, 1974-NMSC-024, 86 N.M. 113, 520 P.2d 269.

Railroad furnishing water to town is not regulated by commission. — Public service commission (now public regulation commission) lacks jurisdiction in case in which a railroad which has been furnishing water service to an unincorporated town for years proposes to discontinue the same. 1947-48 Op. Att'y Gen. No. 47-5054.

62-3-4.1. Certain persons not public utility.

A. Notwithstanding anything in the Public Utility Act [Chapter 62, Articles 1 through 6 and 8 through 13 NMSA 1978] to the contrary, no person not otherwise a public utility shall be deemed to be a public utility subject to the jurisdiction, control or regulation of the commission and the provisions of the Public Utility Act solely because such person owns or controls all or any part of any plant, property or facility described in Paragraph (1) of Subsection G of Section 62-3-3 NMSA 1978:

- (1) which is leased or held for lease or sale to any public utility or other lessee; or
- (2) the operation and use of which is vested by lease or other contract in a public utility or other lessee; or
- (3) for a period of not more than ninety days after termination of any lease or contract described in Paragraph (1) or (2) of this subsection or after such person gains possession of such property following a breach of such lease or contract.

B. The commission may upon application by a public utility issue its order approving the terms of any lease or contract described in Paragraph (1) or (2) of Subsection A of this section for the purpose of qualifying any party thereto for an exemption by the United States securities and exchange commission from the federal Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935, as amended (Chapter 2C of Title 15 of the United States Code).

C. A public utility leasing all or any part of any plant, property or facility described in Paragraph (1) of Subsection G of Section 62-3-3 NMSA 1978 which is subject to any lease or contract described in this section shall comply with Section 62-9-1 NMSA 1978 with respect to such plant, property or facility.

D. Nothing in this section shall alter or modify the authority of the commission to regulate the rates and services of a person that is a public utility subject to the provisions of the Public Utility Act.

History: Laws 1981, ch. 345, § 1.

Compiler's notes. — Sections 62-3-1 to 62-3-5 of the Public Utility Act are still effective as the repeal of Chapter 62, Article 3 by Laws 1998, Chapter 108, Section 82, effective July 1, 2003 was repealed prior to taking effect by Chapter 23, Section 1, Laws 2003. 62-3-5. Collection of fees by public utilities.

Any public utility that owns or operates a public water supply system upon whom a fee is imposed pursuant to Section 74-1-7 or 74-1-8 NMSA 1978 shall be entitled immediately to collect the fee from its ratepayers, without a request for a change in rates. 62-4-1. Joint hearings and orders.

The commission, in the discharge of its duties under the Public Utility Act [Chapter 62, Articles 1 through 6 and 8 through 13 NMSA 1978], may make joint investigations, hold joint hearings within or without the state and issue joint or concurrent orders in conjunction or concurrence with any official or agency of any state, the United States or any New Mexico Indian nation, tribe or pueblo. In the holding of such investigations or hearings or in the making of such order, the commission may function under agreements or compacts between states to regulate interstate commerce. The commission, in the discharge of its duties under the Public Utility Act, may also negotiate and enter into agreements or compacts with agencies of other states, pursuant to any consent of congress, for cooperative efforts in certificating the construction, operation and maintenance of major utility facilities in accord with the purposes of the Public Utility Act and for the enforcement of the respective state laws regarding same.

A. The commission shall have general and exclusive power and jurisdiction to regulate and supervise every public utility in respect to its rates and service regulations and in respect to its securities, all in accordance with the provisions and subject to the reservations of the Public Utility Act [Chapter 62, Articles 1 through 6 and 8 through 13 NMSA 1978], and to do all things necessary and convenient in the exercise of its power and jurisdiction. Nothing in this section, however, shall be deemed to confer upon the commission power or jurisdiction to regulate or supervise the rates or service of any utility owned and operated by any municipal corporation either directly or through a municipally owned corporation or owned and operated by any H class county, by a class B county as defined in Section 4-36-8 NMSA 1978 or by a class A county as described by Section 4-36-10 NMSA 1978 either directly or through a corporation owned by or under contract with an H class county, by a class B county as defined in Section 4-36-8 NMSA 1978 or by a class A county as described by Section 4-36-10 NMSA 1978 or the rates, service, securities or class I or class II transactions of a generation and transmission cooperative. No inspection or supervision fees shall be paid by generation and transmission cooperatives, or by such municipalities or municipally owned corporations, a class B county as defined in Section 4-36-8 NMSA 1978, a class A county as described by Section 4-36-10 NMSA 1978 or H class counties or such corporation owned by or under contract with a class B county as defined in Section 4-36-8 NMSA 1978, a class A county as described by Section 4-36-10 NMSA 1978 or an H class county with respect to operations conducted in a class B county as defined in Section 4-36-8 NMSA 1978, in a class A county as described by Section 4-36-10 NMSA 1978 or in H class counties.

B. The sale, furnishing or delivery of gas, water or electricity by any person to a utility for resale to or for the public shall be subject to regulation by the commission but only to the extent necessary to enable the commission to determine that the cost to the utility of the gas, water or electricity at the place where the major distribution to the public begins is reasonable and that the methods of delivery of the gas, water or electricity are adequate; provided, however, that nothing in this subsection shall be construed to permit regulation by the commission with respect to a generation and transmission cooperative, except location control pursuant to Section 62-9-3 NMSA 1978 and limited rate regulation to the extent provided in Subsection D of this section, or of production or sale price at the wellhead of gas or petroleum.

C. The sale, furnishing or delivery of coal, uranium or other fuels by any affiliated interest to a utility for the generation of electricity for the public shall be subject to regulation by the commission but only to the extent necessary to enable the commission to determine that the cost to the utility of the coal, uranium or other fuels at the point of sale is reasonable and that the methods of delivery of the electricity are adequate; provided, however, that nothing in this subsection shall be construed to permit regulation by the commission of production or sale price at the wellhead of gas or petroleum. Nothing in this section shall be construed to permit regulation by the commission of production or sale price at the point of production of coal, uranium or other fuels.

D. New Mexico rates proposed by a generation and transmission cooperative shall be filed with the commission in the form of an advice notice, a copy of which shall be simultaneously served on all member utilities. Any member utility may file a protest of the proposed rates no later than twenty days after the generation and transmission cooperative files the advice notice. If three or more New Mexico member utilities file protests and the commission determines there is just cause in at least three of the protests for reviewing the proposed rates, the commission shall suspend the rates, conduct a hearing concerning reasonableness of the proposed rates and establish reasonable rates. Each protest must contain a clear and concise statement of the specific grounds upon which the protestant believes the proposed rates are unreasonable or otherwise unlawful; a brief description of the protestant's efforts to resolve its objections directly with the generation and transmission cooperative; a clear and concise statement of the relief the protestant seeks from the commission; and a formal resolution of the board of trustees of the protesting member utility authorizing the filing of the protest. In order to determine whether just cause may exist for review, the commission shall consider whether each protestant has exhausted remedies with the generation and transmission cooperative or whether the generation and transmission cooperative has unreasonably rejected the protestant's objections to the proposed rates. A member utility shall present its objections to the generation and transmission cooperative in writing and allow a reasonable period for the generation and transmission cooperative to attempt resolution of, or otherwise respond to, those objections. A period of seven days after receipt of written objections will be deemed reasonable for the generation and transmission cooperative to provide a written response to the member utility, but a written response is not required if such time period extends beyond twenty days after the date on which the generation and transmission cooperative filed the advice notice. The generation and transmission cooperative and its members are expected to make a good faith effort to resolve the member utility's objections to the proposed rates during that period of time.

E. As used in this section, "generation and transmission cooperative" means a person with generation or transmission facilities either organized as a rural electric cooperative pursuant to Laws 1937, Chapter 100 or the Rural Electric Cooperative Act [Chapter 62, Article 15 NMSA 1978] or organized in another state and providing sales of electric power to member cooperatives in this state.

Compiler's notes. — Sections 62-6-4 to 62-6-26, 1 of the Public Utility Act are still effective as the repeal of Chapter 62, Article 6 by Laws 1998, Chapter 108, Section 82, effective July 1, 2003 Chapter 108, Section 82 was repealed prior to taking effect by Chapter 23, Section 1, Laws 2003. Although Laws 2003, Chapter 336, Section 8, amended Laws 1998, Chapter 82, as amended, an amendment of a repealed section is ineffective. See Quintana v. N.M. Dep't of Corrs., 100 N.M. 224, 668 P.2d 1101 (1983). Laws 2003, Chapter 416, Section 5 also repealed Laws 1998, Chapter 108, Section 82, as amended, a second time, however, that repeal is of no effect as the section had previously been repealed by Chapter 23, Section 1, Laws 2003.

The 2003 amendment, effective April 8, 2003, deleted "as defined in the Electric Utility Industry Restructuring Act of 1999" following "and transmission cooperative" in Subsections A and B and added Subsection E.

The 2000 amendment, effective March 7, 2000, in Subsection A, added "or the rates, service, securities or class I or class II transactions of a generation and transmission cooperative as defined in the Electric Industry Restructuring Act of 1999" at the end of the second sentence, inserted "generation and transmission cooperatives, or by" near the beginning of the third sentence; in Subsection B, inserted the phrase beginning "with respect to a generation" and ending "to the extent provided in Subsection D of this section, or" and deleted "except regulation of abandonment pursuant to Section 62-7-8 NMSA 1978" from the end, as well as from Subsection C following "gas or petroleum"; and added Subsection D.

The 1996 amendment, effective March 6, 1996, in Subsection A, inserted "a class A county as described by Section 4-36-10 NMSA 1978", and made stylistic changes.

The 1993 amendment, effective April 8, 1993, in Subsection A, substituted "reservations" for "reservation" in the first sentence, divided the former second sentence into the present second and third sentences, and inserted references to a class B county as defined in Section 4-36-8 NMSA 1978 in two places in the second sentence and in three places in the third sentence; and in Subsection B and the first sentence of Subsection C, made stylistic changes.

ANNOTATIONS

Express jurisdiction over rates is given to commission. — This section vests in the commission express jurisdiction, among other things, to regulate and supervise every public utility as respects its rates. Potash Co. of

Am. v. N.M. Pub. Serv. Comm'n, 1956-NMSC-091, 62 N.M. 1, 303 P.2d 908.

Including jurisdiction over increase in contract rate. — Where the commission had entered an order authorizing a public utility to enter into a contract and to continue to charge the gas rate therein specified until further notice and on the ex parte petition of the utility subsequently entered an interlocutory order making a rate increase to be effective until the commission could hold a hearing to determine and set a new and proper rate, the commission was moving strictly in conformity with the act creating it to determine one of the major questions submitted to its jurisdiction - a question of rates. Potash Co. of Am. v. N.M. Pub. Serv. Comm'n, 1956-NMSC-091, 62 N.M. 1, 303 P.2d 908.

Sanitary projects association not a public utility.

— A sanitary projects association (see Article 29 of Chapter 3 NMSA 1978) was not transformed into a public utility by selling water to a limited number of nonmember water haulers and was not subject to the public service commission's (now public regulation commission's) regulatory jurisdiction. El Vadito De Los Cerrillos Water Ass'n v. N.M. Pub. Serv. Comm'n, 1993-NMSC-041, 115 N.M. 784, 858 P.2d 1263.

Commission is vested with considerable discretion in determining whether a rate to be received and charged is just and reasonable. Hobbs Gas Co. v. N.M. Pub. Serv. Comm'n, 1980-NMSC-005, 94 N.M. 731, 616 P.2d 1116.

Commission does not have exclusive jurisdiction over rate disputes. — Neither N.M. Const., art. XI, § 7 (now repealed) nor the Telephone and Telegraph Company Certification Act grants the state corporation commission (now public regulation commission) general power and exclusive jurisdiction over disputes involving rates charged by a telephone company. First Cent. Serv. Corp. v. Mountain Bell Tel., 1981-NMCA-012, 95 N.M. 509, 623 P.2d 1023 (decided prior to 1996 amendment to N.M. Const., art. XI, § 2).

Scope of authority. — Commission staff had the capacity to conduct settlement negotiations to determine the rate treatment of a utility's ownership interest in a nuclear generating station. Attorney Gen. v. N.M. Pub. Serv. Comm'n, 1991-NMSC-028, 111 N.M. 636, 808 P.2d 606.

Regulation of "optional utility programs." — Commission had jurisdiction to require utility to establish a corporate subsidiary for purposes of instituting gas and electric "optional utility programs," which included surge suppression, maintenance and repair services, information services, and power quality solutions. PNM Elec. Servs. v. N.M. Pub. Util. Comm'n, 1998-NMSC-017, 125 N.M. 302, 961 P.2d 147.

Complete remedy for testing rates provided. — The Public Utility Act envelops the commission with an aura of broad power and jurisdiction to determine just and reasonable rates and sets up a complete remedy within the framework of the act for testing their propriety and reasonableness. Potash Co. of Am. v. N.M. Pub. Serv. Comm'n, 1956-NMSC-091, 62 N.M. 1, 303 P.2d 908.

Reasonable variations in rates permissible. — Subsection D of this section explicitly authorizes the New Mexico public regulation commission to conduct a hearing concerning the reasonableness of proposed rates and establish reasonable rates; rates incorporating unreasonable differences or discriminations would be unreasonable under Subsection D; there is nothing in the statute, however, indicating that the legislature intended to impose a flat ban on reasonable variations in utility rates of service between localities due to differing costs of service to different areas. Tri-State Generation & Transmission Ass'n v. N.M. Pub. Regulation Comm'n, 2015-NMSC-013.

Where generation and transmission cooperative filed with the New Mexico public regulation commission new advice notices setting interim utility rates, during the pendency of a suspended new utility rate design, that set one rate for protesting members of the cooperative and a different rate for non-protesting members of the cooperative, the commission's decision to reject the advice notices, claiming that they were discriminatory as a matter of law, was contrary to law; this section does not prohibit reasonable variations in utility rates, and the New Mexico supreme court held that the rates that the generation and transmission cooperative prescribe were not unreasonably discriminatory and there was no evidence otherwise of unreasonable discrimination. Tri-State Generation & Transmission Ass'n v. N.M. Pub. Regulation Comm'n, 2015-NMSC-013.

Authority over generation and transmission cooperatives. — Subsection D of this section is the only Public Utility Act's source of the New Mexico public regulation commission's authority over the utility rates of a generation and transmission cooperative. Tri-State Generation & Transmission Ass'n v. N.M. Pub. Regulation Comm'n, 2015-NMSC-013.

Where generation and transmission cooperative filed with the New Mexico public regulation commission new advice notices setting interim utility rates, during the pendency of a suspended new utility rate design, that set one rate for protesting members of the cooperative and a different rate for non-protesting members of the cooperative, the commission's reliance on 62-8-6 NMSA 1978 to reject the advice notices, claiming that they were discriminatory as a matter of law, was contrary to law; 62-8-6 NMSA 1978 cannot be the source of the commission's authority to disapprove the rates of a generation and transmission cooperative when the language of 62-8-6 NMSA 1978 expressly applies only to public utilities, and when Subsection D of this section is the only Public Utility Act's source of the commission's authority over the utility rates of generation and transmission cooperatives. Tri-State Generation & Transmission Ass'n v. N.M. Pub. Regulation Comm'n, 2015-NMSC-013.

A hearing concerning reasonableness is mandatory following a determination of "just cause". — When the New Mexico public regulation commission determines just cause in at least three protests of any generation and transmission cooperative advice notice, Subsection D of this section requires a commission hearing on the reasonableness of the protested rates, without distinguishing between interim and permanent rates. Tri-State Generation & Transmission Ass'n v. N.M. Pub. Regulation Comm'n, 2015-NMSC-013.

Where generation and transmission cooperative filed with the New Mexico public regulation commission new advice notices setting interim utility rates, during the pendency of a suspended new utility rate design, that set one rate for protesting members of the cooperative and a different rate for non-protesting members of the cooperative, the commission's decision to reject the advice notices without a hearing on reasonableness, claiming that the interim rate design was identical to the suspended rate design, was contrary to law; following a determination of just cause in at least three protests of any generation and transmission cooperative advice notice, Subsection D of this section requires a commission hearing on the reasonableness of the protested rates, without distinguishing between interim and permanent rates. Tri-State Generation & Transmission Ass'n v. N.M. Pub. Regulation Comm'n, 2015-NMSC-013.

Public Regulation Commission Rule 27 does not apply to generation and transmission cooperatives. — Rule 27, the New Mexico public regulation commission's regulation establishing that a utility has the burden of supporting its interim rate relief request with evidence, is a form of relief from the rate-making powers the commission exercises over public utilities and not over generation and transmission cooperatives. Tri-State Generation & Transmission Ass'n v. N.M. Pub. Regulation Comm'n, 2015-NMSC-013.

Where generation and transmission cooperative filed with the New Mexico public regulation commission new advice notices setting interim utility rates, during the pendency of a suspended new utility rate design, that set one rate for protesting members of the cooperative and a different rate for non-protesting members of the cooperative, the commission's decision to reject the advice notices without a hearing, claiming the advice notices lacked the evidentiary support required by Rule 27, which establishes that a utility has the burden of supporting its interim rate relief request with evidence, was contrary to law; interim rate relief is a concept unique to public utilities because the only way a public utility can change its rates is by commission approval; a generation and transmission cooperative does not need to seek the commission's approval for interim rates because a generation and transmission cooperative can agree to a new rate and file that new rate pursuant to Subsection D of this section without requesting interim rate relief under Rule 27, and Subsection D does not require a generation and transmission cooperative to carry any burden of proof or pleading in order to set its rates. Tri-State Generation & Transmission Ass'n v. N.M. Pub. Regulation Comm'n, 2015-NMSC-013.

Requiring exhaustion of administrative remedies is constitutional. — The requirement of the Public Utility Act that a person first exhaust his administrative remedy before resorting to the courts does not violate N.M. Const., art. VI, § 13, granting general jurisdiction to the district courts except as elsewhere limited in such constitution. Smith v. Southern Union Gas Co., 1954-NMSC-033, 58 N.M. 197, 269 P.2d 745.

Public service commission's (now public regulation commission's) order unconstitutional. — Orders of the public service commission (now public regulation commission) that effectively deregulated the retail side of the electric power industry in New Mexico in the absence of a statutory mandate from the legislature exceeded the commission's authority and violated the separation of powers doctrine. State ex rel. Sandel v. N.M. Pub. Util. Comm'n, 1999-NMSC-019, 127 N.M. 272, 980 P.2d 55.

All utilities not municipally owned are subject to commission's jurisdiction. — Under the Public Utility Act, the public regulation commission has no jurisdiction over public utilities that are owned and operated by a municipal corporation, unless they agree otherwise. City of Sunland Park v. N.M. Pub. Regulation Comm'n, 2004-NMCA-024, 135 N.M. 143, 85 P.3d 267, cert. denied, 2004-NMCERT-002, 135 N.M. 169, 86 P.3d 47.

Power of commission does not extend to acts of utility not affecting its public duties; its jurisdiction is limited to matters or controversies wherein the rights of a utility and the public are involved. Its duties begin and end with conservation of the public interest, and are not concerned with individual rights of private litigants, and, ordinarily, it has no power to adjudicate purely private matters between a utility and an individual, or between two utilities. Southwestern Pub. Serv. Co. v. Artesia Alfalfa Growers' Ass'n, 1960-NMSC-052, 67 N.M. 108, 353 P.2d 62.

Jurisdiction of condemnation proceedings. — Because the 2000 amendment to Subsection A of this section exempted generation and transmission cooperatives from the regulatory jurisdiction of the public regulation commission; the commission lacked jurisdiction to consider an application under Section 42A-1-9 NMSA 1978 by a generation and transmission cooperative to enter and survey land for condemnation suitability studies. Tri-State Generation & Transmission Ass'n. v. King, 2003-NMSC-029, 134 N.M. 467, 78 P.3d 1226.

No power to alter common-law rule regarding allocation of relocation costs. — Because the legislature has not empowered the public regulation commission to alter the common-law rule permitting local governments to require utilities to bear the costs of system relocation required by public safety, the commission could not prohibit a city from requiring the Public Service Company of New Mexico to bear the costs of relocation required by ordinance where the commission did not find the ordinance to be unreasonable. City of Albuquerque v. N.M. Pub. Regulation Comm'n, 2003-NMSC-028, 134 N.M. 472, 79 P.3d 297.

Construction and enforcement of private contracts are for courts, not commission. — The commission, under the broad powers given it by the legislature, has the right to pass upon the question of whether or not a public utility may enter into a given contract, because of the effect such contract may have upon the power of the utility to carry out its purposes, but when a contract is once entered into, its construction and interpretation, and the rights growing out of the same, including the right to terminate, are to be determined by the courts. Power to pass on validity of a private contract or to enforce its provision is entrusted exclusively to the courts. Southwestern Pub. Serv. Co. v. Artesia Alfalfa Growers' Ass'n, 1960-NMSC-052, 67 N.M. 108, 353 P.2d 62.

Lawsuits involving utility with private parties. — The power in Subsection A of this section to "regulate and supervise" does not preempt lawsuits involving contracts a utility enters into with private parties. Summit Prop., Inc. v. Public Serv. Co. of N.M., 2005-NMCA-090, 138 N.M. 208, 118 P.3d 716, cert. denied, 2005-NMCERT-007, 138 N.M. 145, 117 P.3d 951.

Connection fees. — Where there is nothing to indicate that the commission approved of the specific amount to be rebated in the form of connection fees, without approval by the commission, the connection fees cannot be categorized as "filed rates". Summit Prop., Inc. v. Public Serv. Co. of N.M., 2005-NMCA-090, 138 N.M. 208, 118 P.3d 716, cert. denied, 2005-NMCERT-007, 138 N.M. 145, 117 P.3d 951.

Contract between utility and consortium of municipalities excluded. — Commission acted within its jurisdiction in excluding from jurisdictional rates a contract between a utility and a consortium of municipalities for the purchase of electricity, where exclusion of the contract in no way affected the municipalities' contract; it only affected the utility's ability to recover the cost of the contract from New Mexico consumers. Public Serv. Co. v. N.M. Public Serv. Comm'n, 1991-NMSC-018, 111 N.M. 622, 808 P.2d 592.

Rate increases to compensate predecessor utility for expenses. — The public service commission (now public regulation commission) did not have jurisdiction over rate increases requested by a natural gas distribution company to compensate the company's predecessor, which was not currently a public utility, for expenses incurred by the latter in fulfilling its function as a public utility. Southern Union Gas Co. v. N.M. Pub. Util. Comm'n, 1997-NMSC-056, 124 N.M. 176, 947 P.2d 133.

Commission has the general and exclusive power to regulate a public utility's rates. — Where PNM appealed the New Mexico public regulation commission's (commission) denial of recovery in its rate base for the repurchase of 64.1 MW of capacity and certain lease renewals at Palo Verde nuclear generating station (Palo Verde), and where the commission had previously authorized PNM to exercise its options to either renew the leases or repurchase the capacity in accordance with the terms of the leases, PNM was required to demonstrate the prudence of its decisions at Palo Verde for ratemaking purposes because the commission has the general and exclusive power to regulate a public utility's rates regardless of prior authorizations. Public Serv. Co. of N.M. v. N.M. Pub. Regulation Comm'n, 2019-NMSC-012.

Where PNM appealed the New Mexico public regulation commission's (commission) denial of recovery in its rate base for the repurchase of 64.1 MW of capacity and certain lease renewals at Palo Verde nuclear generating station (Palo Verde), sufficient evidence supported the commission's finding that PNM's decisions were imprudent on the basis that PNM had failed to demonstrate that it considered alternative courses of action where the evidence established that PNM's latest integrated resource plan did not test extension of the leases and purchase of the capacity at Palo Verde against a wide range of futures/scenarios and input assumptions. Public Serv. Co. of N.M. v. N.M. Pub. Regulation Comm'n, 2019-NMSC-012.

Where PNM appealed the New Mexico public regulation commission's (commission) decision to deny it recovery for the costs of converting certain San Juan generating station units to a balanced draft system, which is designed to reduce fugitive emissions, on the grounds that PNM had failed to demonstrate that these costs were prudently incurred, the commission was within its authority in denying recovery, because the commission's finding that balanced draft was included in the permits for San Juan at PNM's request and not because it was required by the applicable environmental regulation was a finding specifically concerning the reasonableness of costs PNM was seeking to include in its rate base and was squarely within the authority of the commission to regulate the rates of public utilities and the obligation of the commission to ensure that those rates are just and reasonable. Public Serv. Co. of N.M. v. N.M. Pub. Regulation Comm'n, 2019-NMSC-012.

Where the New Mexico public regulation commission included in PNM's rate base a $137.8 million prepaid pension asset (PPA), which is the amount by which investor contributions to a pension trust and earnings on those contributions exceed expenses, the commission did not err in allowing PNM to recover $137.8 million for its PPA because there was substantial evidence to support the commission's determination that the PPA was investor, rather than ratepayer, funded and the commission's decision was in accordance with law. Public Serv. Co. of N.M. v. N.M. Pub. Regulation Comm'n, 2019-NMSC-012.

Denial of due process. — Where PNM appealed the New Mexico public regulation commission's (commission) denial of recovery in its rate base for the repurchase of 64.1 MW of capacity and certain lease renewals at Palo Verde nuclear generating station (Palo Verde), and where the commission found that PNM's actions in renewing and reacquiring the leases exposed ratepayers to costs associated with nuclear decommissioning responsibilities that likely would not have been incurred had an alternative resource other than nuclear been selected and denied recovery for all future nuclear decommissioning costs, the commission denied PNM's right to due process of law, because PNM was not given sufficient notice of a potential permanent disallowance of all recovery for its future contributions to the nuclear decommissioning trusts and was not afforded an opportunity to be heard on the issue. Public Serv. Co. of N.M. v. N.M. Pub. Regulation Comm'n, 2019-NMSC-012.

If wellhead transactions are not involved. — Subsection B makes it abundantly clear that the commission can disallow, for rate-making purposes, any portion of a price paid by a utility which the commission finds to be unreasonable unless wellhead transactions are involved.

Maestas v. N.M. Pub. Serv. Comm'n, 1973-NMSC-096, 85 N.M. 571, 514 P.2d 847.

Commission may not order that refund be passed on to consumers. — Commission has no express or implied statutory authority to order the flow-through of refunds to electric company from power supplier to consumers. N.M. Elec. Serv. Co. v. N.M. Pub. Serv. Comm'n, 1970-NMSC-097, 81 N.M. 683, 472 P.2d 648.

Where refund is not trust fund for consumers. — Where refund was ordered paid over to power company by the federal power commission without any restrictions, and there was nothing in the order indicating an intention on the part of the commission to create a "trust fund" for the benefit of the ultimate consumers, the refund did not constitute a trust fund belonging to company's customers. N.M. Elec. Serv. Co. v. N.M. Pub. Serv. Comm'n, 1970-NMSC-097, 81 N.M. 683, 472 P.2d 648.

Commission's duty under Subsection C. — Commission is only required to find the ultimate fact, that being the reasonableness of the cost of fuel to a utility under Subsection C, and is not required to give reasons for its decision or to make a finding that is not an ultimate finding, such as the arms-length nature of transaction between utility and affiliate from which it purchased the fuel. Attorney Gen. v. N.M. Pub. Serv. Comm'n, 1984-NMSC-081, 101 N.M. 549, 685 P.2d 957.

Exemption from state antitrust law. — Arrangements between utilities approved and regulated by commission acting under statutory authority are exempt from state antitrust law. Gonzales v. Public Serv. Comm'n, 1985-NMSC-038, 102 N.M. 529, 697 P.2d 948.

Supervision of transactions with affiliates and nonaffiliates distinguished. — Normal burden to be met in making a prima facie case regarding costs incurred in transactions with nonaffiliates is a demonstration that the costs were, in fact, incurred; however, the normal burden regarding costs incurred in transactions with affiliates is heavier, requiring a showing of the reasonableness of the costs. Attorney Gen. v. N.M. Pub. Serv. Comm'n, 1984-NMSC-081, 101 N.M. 549, 685 P.2d 957.

Commission's general jurisdiction includes safety regulations and inspections. — The general and exclusive power and jurisdiction to regulate and supervise every public utility in respect to its rates and service regulations includes the power to make safety regulations and enforce them through inspections. 1972 Op. Att'y Gen. No. 72-35.

General jurisdiction does not cover water and sanitation districts. — The legislature did not intend to place water and sanitation districts under the general jurisdiction of the commission. 1971 Op. Att'y Gen. No. 71-56.

Approving water and sanitation district rates. — Water and sanitation districts have not been declared to be subject to the jurisdiction of the commission except in the limited area of approving the district board's rates, tolls and charges. 1971 Op. Att'y Gen. No. 71-56.

It is the commission's duty to protect not only the utility but also its patrons. 1969 Op. Att'y Gen. No. 69-81.

Rules and regulations have force of law. — The rules and regulations of the commission duly adopted under this section and Section 62-6-24 NMSA 1978 have the force and effect of law which a utility must obey. 1969 Op. Att'y Gen. No. 69-81.

Compliance with rules excuses discontinuance of service under hazardous conditions. — Compliance with rules of the commission permitting a public utility to immediately discontinue service in the event of a condition determined by the utility to be hazardous would be a defense to a criminal action upon a refusal to render electric service, but the burden would be upon the utility to produce some evidence that the condition was actually hazardous if the criminal action was brought against it, and to prove the existence of the rule itself. 1969 Op. Att'y Gen. No. 69-81.

All utilities not municipally owned are subject to commission's jurisdiction. — The commission is given authority by virtue of this section to regulate and supervise every private utility in respect to its rates and service regulations. This same statute specifically withholds from the commission any jurisdiction to regulate or supervise the rates or service of any utility owned and operated by a municipal corporation either directly or through a municipally owned corporation unless said municipality shall exercise its option to come within the provisions of the Public Utility Act as provided in Section 62-6-5 NMSA 1978. 1957-58 Op. Att'y Gen. No. 57-101.

The commission is not empowered to regulate or supervise the service and rates set by municipally owned utilities either in or outside the corporate limits. 1943-44 Op. Att'y Gen. No. 43-4395.

Commission's jurisdiction exempts utilities from liquefied petroleum gas statutes. — A public utility is exempt from the provisions of the law applicable to liquefied petroleum gases (Section 70-5-1 NMSA 1978 et seq.). The law places the general and exclusive power and jurisdiction to regulate and supervise every public utility in the commission. 1961-62 Op. Att'y Gen. No. 62-07.

Commission may delegate some of its authority over liquefied petroleum gas utilities. — The commission is authorized by this section and by the common law to delegate its authority to inspect and test liquefied petroleum gas utilities to the liquefied petroleum gas commission (now construction industries commission). Only the public service commission (now public regulation commission) can promulgate safety regulations, however, and it must make the final order regarding any violations of regulations. 1972 Op. Att'y Gen. No. 72-35.

Unregulated village must comply with liquefied petroleum gas statutes. — Inasmuch as municipally operated and owned utilities are not subject to regulation by the commission (unless there has been a local option election), a village is required to comply with provisions relating to liquefied petroleum gas. 1947-48 Op. Att'y Gen. No. 48-5156.

Commission may disallow unreasonable gas prices in fixing rates. — This section gives the commission some authority to review the prices of certain intrastate sales of natural gas to a utility. However, the nature of this grant of authority is the power only to determine whether the sale prices set by the parties are unreasonable (i.e., outside of a range of acceptable prices), in which case they should be disallowed for rate-making purposes, as expenses of the utility. This authority of the commission to determine the reasonableness of prices is limited to sales other than (i.e., after) the sale from the wellhead. 1977 Op. Att'y Gen. No. 77-01.

62-6-4.1. Contract carriage.

A. The intent and purpose of this section is to encourage lower costs of natural gas for New Mexico consumers by providing competition in natural gas markets through contract carriage. Lower fuel costs are an integral part of New Mexico's economic development efforts because they preserve existing jobs, facilitate expansion of the state's businesses and provide incentives for new industry to locate in New Mexico.

B. The commission shall, by rule or order, authorize and require the nondiscriminatory and nonpreferential transportation of natural gas by any person subject to the jurisdiction of the commission for a seller or purchaser of natural gas to the extent of available capacity and subject to Subsections C and D of this section.

C. The commission may, in its discretion, impose such terms and conditions on the transportation of natural gas as may be necessary to safeguard deliverability and operational efficiency and to prevent undue hardship and anticompetitive conduct by a public utility.

D. The rates and charges for the transportation of natural gas under this section shall be just, reasonable, nondiscriminatory and subject to approval by the commission.

E. For purposes of this section, "transportation" means exchange, backhaul, displacement or any other means of transporting and includes gathering.

F. A public utility shall be prohibited from the marketing and brokering of natural gas for delivery within New Mexico under this section. This prohibition shall not exclude a public utility from transporting natural gas for an affiliated corporation. Any contract to transport natural gas for an affiliate shall be an arms-length agreement containing no terms that are unavailable to other-end users, gas brokers or marketers.

G. The commission, upon a finding that a public utility is in violation of this section, may impose upon the utility a civil penalty not to exceed an amount three times the damages established by the complainant in the commission proceeding and issue such orders, including but not limited to a cease and desist order, to assure the nondiscriminatory and nonpreferential transportation of natural gas.

Compiler's notes. — Sections 62-6-4 to 62-6-26.1 of the Public Utility Act are still effective as the repeal of Chapter 62, Article 6 by Laws 1998, Chapter 108, Section 82, effective July 1, 2003 Chapter 108, Section 82 was repealed prior to taking effect by Chapter 23, Section 1, Laws 2003. Although Laws 2003, Chapter 336, Section 8, amended Laws 1998, Chapter 82, as amended, an amendment of a repealed section is ineffective. See Quintana v. N.M. Dep't

of Corrs., 100 N.M. 224, 668 P.2d 1101 (1983). Laws 2003, Chapter 416, Section 5 also repealed Laws 1998, Chapter 108, Section 82, as amended, a second time, however, that repeal is of no effect as the section had previously been repealed by Chapter 23, Section 1, Laws 2003.

The 1993 amendment, effective June 18, 1993, made a stylistic change in Subsection F, and substituted "The commission" for "The public service commission" at the beginning of Subsection G.

The 1987 amendment, effective June 22, 1987, inserted present Subsection A and relettered the former subsections; in Subsection B, inserted "and nonpreferential" following "and require the nondiscriminatory" and substituted "Subsections C and D" for "Subsections B and C"; in Subsection C, added "and anticompetitive conduct by a public utility" at the end; in Subsection D, inserted

"nondiscriminatory" following "shall be just, reasonable"; and added Subsections F and G.

62-6-4.2. Transition cost recovery.

A. Notwithstanding repeal of the Electric Utility Industry Restructuring Act of 1999, unless otherwise waived, a public utility shall be entitled to an opportunity to recover its transition costs. Utilities may retain these transition costs as a regulatory asset on their books pending recovery, which shall be completed by January 1, 2010.

B. For purposes of this section, "transition costs" means the prudent, reasonable and unmitigable costs other than stranded costs, not recoverable elsewhere under either federally approved rates or rates approved by the commission, that a public utility would not have incurred but for its compliance with the requirements of the Electric Utility Industry Restructuring Act of 1999 and rules promulgated pursuant to that act relating to the transition to open access, and the prudent cost of severance, early and enhanced retirement benefits, retraining, placement services, unemployment benefits and health care coverage to public utility nonmanagerial employees who are laid off on or before January 1, 2003, that are not otherwise recovered as a stranded salary and benefits cost. Transition costs shall not include costs that the public utility would have incurred notwithstanding the Electric Utility Industry Restructuring Act of 1999.

Effective dates. — Laws 2003, ch. 336 contained no effective date provision but, pursuant to N.M. Const., art. IV, § 23, was effective June 20, 2003, 90 days after adjournment of the legislature.

Compiler's notes. — Electric Utility Industry Restructuring Act of 1999, Laws 1999, ch. 294, was codified as Chapter 62, Article 3A NMSA 1978 before being repealed by Laws 2003, ch. 336, § 9, effective June 20, 2003.

62-6-4.3. Public utilities; generating plant investment, construction, acquisition and operation.

A. A public utility may invest in, construct, acquire or operate a generating plant that is not intended to provide retail electric service to New Mexico customers, the cost of which is not included in retail rates and which business activities shall not be subject to regulation by the commission pursuant to the Public Utility Act [Chapter 62, Articles 1 through 6 and 8 through 13 NMSA 1978], except as provided by Section 62-9-3 NMSA 1978. This section shall not diminish a public utility's obligation, by the prudent acquisition of resources, to serve its retail load at a cost of service no higher than the average book cost plus fuel, other operating and maintenance costs and the utility's authorized rate of return on investment of the utility's unregulated generation constructed or acquired after January 1, 2001; provided that this provision does not apply to a public utility that does not acquire unregulated generation after January 1, 2001. The commission shall assure that the regulated business is appropriately credited for any off-system sales made from regulated assets.

B. This section shall apply only to a public utility that began investing in, constructing or acquiring generating plant pursuant to this section before July 1, 2004. This section shall continue to apply until the latest of:

- (1) January 1, 2015;
- (2) the date the public utility divests its interest in [a] generating plant acquired or constructed pursuant to the provisions of this section; or
- (3) the date the plant receives a certificate of convenience and necessity in accordance with Section 62-9-1 NMSA 1978.

62-6-4.4. Gas and electric utilities; combined service.

A public utility that provides both electricity and natural gas distribution services shall not be required to functionally separate its electric and gas transmission, transportation and distribution operations from each other. Any rule or order to the contrary is void. Nothing in this section shall prevent a combined gas and electric distribution company from selling the natural gas commodity to customers pursuant to tariffs approved by the commission.

62-6-5. Local option.

Notwithstanding any of the provisions in Section 62-6-4 NMSA 1978, any municipality desiring to avail itself of all the benefits of the Public Utility Act [Articles 1 through 6 and 8 through 13 of Chapter 62 NMSA 1978] and of the regulatory services of the commission may elect to come within the provisions of that act and to have the utilities owned and operated by it, either directly or through a municipally owned corporation, regulated and supervised under the provisions of that act. When a municipality so elects, in the manner provided in this section, it shall be subject to all the provisions of the Public Utility Act. The election shall be held as follows:

A. at any time after the effective date of the Public Utility Act, the legal voters of any municipality may petition in writing the governing body of the municipality by filing a petition in the office of the municipal clerk to hold an election for the purpose of determining whether the municipality shall be subject to the provisions of that act. If the aggregate of the names signed to the petition equals or exceeds twenty-five percent of the number of legal votes cast in the municipality for governor at the last preceding general election, the governing body of the municipality shall call an election to be held within sixty days of the filing of the petition in accordance with the provisions of the Local Election Act [Chapter 1, Article 22 NMSA 1978]. Provided, however, that if a local election is to be held within six months of the filing of the petition, the election provided for in this section shall be held at the same time as that election;

B. the election shall be held in the same manner as and with the same registration books as for other municipal elections. The ballots to be submitted to the voters at the election shall present the following questions:

"For regulation of municipally owned utilities by the public regulation commission _____"

Against regulation of municipally owned utilities by the public regulation commission_____".

The votes at the election shall be counted, returned and canvassed as provided for in the Local Election Act. If the majority of all the votes are in favor of regulation of municipally owned utilities, the governing body of the municipality shall declare, by order entered upon the records of the municipality, that it is subject to all the provisions of the Public Utility Act. If the majority of all the votes are against such regulation, the result of the election shall be declared and entered in the same manner; and

C. no elections for the same purpose shall be held within two years of each other.

The 2018 amendment, effective July 1, 2018, provided that elections called for the purpose of determining whether the municipality shall be subject to the provisions of the Public Utility Act shall be held as pursuant to the Local Election Act, and made technical and conforming changes; in Subsection A, after "filing of the petition", added "in accordance with the provisions of the Local Election Act", and after "Provided, however, that if a", deleted "general municipal" and added "local"; and in Subsection B, deleted "utility" and added "regulation" preceding "commission" throughout the subsection, and after "canvassed as provided for in", deleted "general municipal elections" and added "the Local Election Act".

Municipality may constitutionally compete with previously franchised utility. — The action of a municipal corporation in undertaking to compete with a privately operated public utility holding a franchise previously granted by the municipality itself in no way violates any constitutional right of the utility whether the right asserted be that based upon the constitutional provision invalidating laws which impair the obligation of a contract or those relating to the taking of property without due process of law, the injuring or destroying of property without just compensation or the denial of the equal protection of the laws. 1957-58 Op. Att'y Gen. No. 58-236.

Section provides exception to exemption of municipalities from commission jurisdiction. — The commission is given authority by virtue of Section 62-6-4 NMSA 1978 to regulate and supervise every private utility in respect to its rates and service regulations. This same statute specifically withholds from the commission any jurisdiction to regulate or supervise the rates or service of any utility owned and operated by a municipal corporation either directly or through a municipally owned corporation unless said municipality shall exercise its option to come within the provisions of the Public Utility Act as provided in this section. 1957-58 Op. Att'y Gen. No. 57-101.

62-6-6. Issuance, assumption or guarantee of securities.

A. The power of a public utility to issue, assume or guarantee securities and to create liens on its property situated within this state is a special privilege subject to the supervision and control of the commission as set forth in the Public Utility Act [Chapter 62, Articles 1 through 6 and 8 through 13 NMSA 1978].

B. Except as provided in Subsection E of this section, a public utility, when authorized by order of the commission and not otherwise, may issue stocks and stock certificates and may issue, assume or guarantee other securities payable at periods of more than eighteen months after the date thereof for the following purposes only:

(1) making loans or grants from the proceeds of federal loans for economic development projects benefiting its service area;

(2) the acquisition of property;

(3) the construction, completion, extension or improvement of its facilities;

(4) the improvement or maintenance of its service;

(5) the discharge or lawful refunding of its obligations; or

(6) the reimbursement of money actually expended for purposes set forth in this subsection from income or from any other money in the treasury not secured by or obtained from the issue, assumption or guarantee of securities, within five years next prior to the filing of an application with the commission for the required authorization.

C. Notwithstanding the provisions of Subsection B of this section, the commission may authorize issuance by a public utility of shares of stock of any class as a dividend on outstanding shares of stock of the public utility of any class and may authorize the issuance of the same or a different number of shares of stock of any class in exchange for outstanding shares of stock of any class of the public utility, and the public utility may issue the stock so authorized.

D. The commission shall not authorize a borrowing under the provisions of Paragraph (1) of Subsection B of this section unless the governing board has approved the borrowing by a two-thirds' majority vote of the members present at a special meeting called for that purpose. The commission shall review the terms of the economic development loan or grant to ascertain the adequacy of any collateral, to have the right to inspect books and review the level of co-participation by the borrower or grantee.

E. Commission approval is not required for the issuance, assumption or guarantee of any security of a public utility whose securities are subject to oversight and approval by the federal government pursuant to the Rural Electrification Act of 1936, as amended, or any successor law to that act.

No hearing by the commission shall be required for approval of the issuance and delivery of the evidences of indebtedness and security instruments to such lender or lenders and the commission shall approve the issuance and delivery thereof within the time provided in Section 62-6-9 NMSA 1978; provided that for good cause shown, the commission may order that a hearing shall be held with respect to the proposed financing. The order of approval of the commission may be conditioned on the approval of the issuance of the evidences of indebtedness or security by the United States of America or the agency or instrumentality thereof as may be appropriate.

62-6-12. Acquisitions, consolidations, etc.; consent of commission.

A. With the prior express authorization of the commission, but not otherwise:

(1) any two or more public utilities may consolidate or merge with each other so as to form a new concern;

(2) any person and a public utility or public utility holding company may consolidate or merge with each other so as to form a new concern;

(3) stock of a public utility or public utility holding company may be acquired by:

(a) any person who prior to the acquisition of any such stock or part thereof is a person subject to regulation or classified as a public utility or public utility holding company in any jurisdiction;

(b) any person who is or during the course of an acquisition covered by this section becomes subject to regulation or is classified as a public utility or public utility holding company in any jurisdiction based on reasons other than solely the acquisition described in this paragraph;

(c) any person associated, affiliated or acting in concert with any person subject to regulation or classified as a public utility or public utility holding company in any jurisdiction for the purposes of any acquisition subject to the provisions of this section;

(d) any person associated, affiliated or acting in concert with any person described in Subparagraphs [Subparagraph] (a), (b) or (c) of this paragraph; or

(e) any person who, during the course of an acquisition covered by this section, merges or consolidates with a person described in Subparagraphs [Subparagraph] (a), (b), (c) or (d) of this paragraph.

B. Any consolidation, merger, acquisition, transaction resulting in control or exercise of control, or other transaction in contravention of this section without prior authorization of the commission shall be void and of no effect.

C. Nothing in this section shall limit or expand the authority of the commission with respect to Class II transactions as provided in the Public Utility Act [Chapter 62, Articles 1 through 6 and 8 through 13 NMSA 1978].

62-6-14. Valuation by the commission.

A. When in the exercise of its powers and jurisdiction it is necessary for the commission to consider or ascertain the valuation of the properties or business of a public utility, or make any other determination involved in the fixing or setting of rates for a utility, the commission shall give due consideration to the history and development of the property and business of the particular public utility, to the original cost thereof, to the cost of reproduction as a going concern, to the revenues, investment and expenses of the utility in this state and otherwise subject to the commission's jurisdiction, to construction work in progress and to other elements of value and rate-making formulae and methods recognized by the laws of the land for rate-making purposes.

B. For the purpose of making such valuation or determinations, the members of the commission and its duly authorized agents and employees shall at all reasonable times have free access to the property, accounts, records and memoranda of the utility whose property and rights are being valued, and the utility shall aid and cooperate with the commission and its duly authorized agents and employees to the fullest degree for the purpose of facilitating the investigation.

C. In making any determination involving the rates or service of a utility, the commission may change its past practices or procedures, provided that substantial evidence on the record justifies such a change.

D. The commission shall set rates based on a test period that the commission determines best reflects the conditions to be experienced during the period when the rates determined by the commission take effect. If a future test period is proposed, the commission shall give due consideration that the future test period may best reflect those conditions.

E. Upon a request to include construction work in progress in the rate base, the commission shall grant the request only upon a finding that a project's costs are reasonable. The commission shall not include the associated allowance for funds used during construction in income. The projects for which the commission shall grant a request include environmental improvement projects and generation and transmission investments for which the utility has obtained a certificate of public convenience and necessity; provided that the projects are anticipated to be in service no later than five months after the end of a utility's test period, but in no event later than twenty-four months after the filing date of a utility's rate proceeding.

The 1983 amendment also inserted "or determinations" in Subsection B and added Subsection C.

ANNOTATIONS

Commission's remedy for utility's imprudent decision was reasonable. — Where PNM appealed the New Mexico public regulation commission's (commission) denial of recovery in its rate base for the repurchase of 64.1 MW of capacity and certain lease renewals at Palo Verde nuclear generating station (Palo Verde), and where the commission found that PNM's decisions were imprudent on the basis that PNM had failed to demonstrate that it considered alternative courses of action, the commission's remedy of disallowing recovery for the amount PNM paid for the 64.1 MW over the net book value of that capacity and allowing PNM to recover the costs of the five renewed leases was reasonable and lawful. The commission established valuations for the 64.1 MW and the renewed lease, which it considered appropriate to protect ratepayers and result in just and reasonable rates, and such an approach is a lawful and reasonable exercise of the commission's authority to determine the rate base of a utility and its obligation to ensure that rates are just and reasonable. It was reasonable and lawful for the commission to conclude that a total disallowance was not justified. Public Serv. Co. of N.M. v. N.M. Pub. Regulation Comm'n, 2019-NMSC-012.

Method does not violate the statutory rate caps. — Where the New Mexico public regulation commission (commission) ordered PNM to revise its method for calculating fuel costs, specifically ordering PNM to remove renewable energy from its fuel and purchased power cost adjustment clause calculation, and where PNM proposed a method of calculating fuel costs which would partially correct the fuel cost misallocation by more accurately charging customers for the true costs of their conventional energy usage, the commission lawfully exercised its authority in adopting the new method, because the new method did not impose additional charges for renewable energy usage on large and exempt customers, but rather increased their fuel costs to more accurately reflect the true costs of their conventional energy usage. The new method for calculating fuel costs does not violate the statutory rate caps set forth in this section, and its adoption was consistent with due process. Public Serv. Co. of N.M. v. N.M. Pub. Regulation Comm'n, 2019-NMSC-012.

Commission not limited in method of valuating utility or setting rates. — Neither New Mexico case law nor the Public Utility Act imposes any one particular method of valuation upon the commission in ascertaining the rate base of a utility; nor does the spirit of the statute tie the commission down to the consideration of a single factor in establishing rates. Hobbs Gas Co. v. N.M. Pub. Serv. Comm'n, 1980-NMSC-005, 94 N.M. 731, 616 P.2d 1116.

If plant acquisition adjustment is included as legitimate plant cost, it becomes a part of the rate base upon which a rate of return is to be computed. Hobbs Gas Co. v. N.M. Pub. Serv. Comm'n, 1980-NMSC-005, 94 N.M. 731, 616 P.2d 1116.

New Mexico is not "original cost" jurisdiction, but a "fair value" jurisdiction. Hobbs Gas Co. v. N.M. Pub. Serv. Comm'n, 1980-NMSC-005, 94 N.M. 731, 616 P.2d 1116.

"Used and useful" concept is but one factor among many to be considered by the commission in its rate base analysis. New Mexico Indus. Energy Consumers v. N.M. Pub. Serv. Comm'n, 1986-NMSC-059, 104 N.M. 565, 725 P.2d 244.

Utility may not capitalize capital investments previously treated as operating expenses. — Where prior capital investments were charged to operating expenses and the rate apparently fixed on that basis, a utility cannot later capitalize such amounts in determining original cost for ratemaking purposes. Moyston v. N.M. Pub. Serv. Comm'n, 1966-NMSC-062, 76 N.M. 146, 412 P.2d 840.

Commission may deduct deferred tax reserve from rate base. — The court did not err in failing to hold unreasonable and unlawful the commission's deduction from rate base of the company's reserve for deferred taxes because the statute does not compel inclusion of value of the latter type in the rate base and because the laws of the land do lend support for the commission's action. Southern Union Gas Co. v. N.M. Pub. Serv. Comm'n, 1972-NMSC-072, 84 N.M. 330, 503 P.2d 310.

62-6-15. Contract rate with the municipality and utilities; how established.

Rates and service regulations may be established by contract between the municipality and the utility for a specified term not exceeding twenty-five years, but only by and with the approval of the commission to be expressed by its order. Whenever any such contract shall be made, it shall, before becoming effective, be submitted to the commission. Unless the commission shall find the provisions of any such contract inconsistent with the public interest, the interest of the consumers and the interest of investors, it shall approve the same, otherwise it shall disapprove the same, and, unless and until so approved, such contract shall be of no effect, but if it be approved, it shall be in all respects lawful. Any such new contract shall provide for a redetermination by the commission of the reasonableness of the rates at such intervals as the commission may prescribe not longer than five years and every order made by the commission approving any contract shall expressly state the intervals at which redetermination of rates shall be made. For the purpose of determining whether any such contract hereafter made is consistent with public interest, the commission shall hold such hearings, after notice, as may be necessary to its determination. This act is intended to make rates in existing franchises and contracts subject to the control of the commission only to the extent that the legislature may lawfully do so. The provisions of this section shall not apply to any contract between a municipality and a utility relating to electric power and energy sales between such entities if the electric power and energy which is the subject of such contract is generated by such municipality's generating facility or its interest in a jointly owned generating facility.

62-6-17. Office, books and records; sanction; penalty.

A. Every utility furnishing service within the state shall maintain an office located in the state. The commission by order may require any utility or any officer or agent of any utility to produce within the state or provide access to, at such reasonable time and place as the commission may designate, any books, records, accounts or documents kept in any office or place within or without the state, or certified copies thereof, whenever the production thereof is reasonably required and pertinent to any matter under investigation before the commission.

B. Whenever the production of books, records, accounts or documents is reasonably required by the commission and pertinent to any matter under investigation before the commission, the commission may require the utility or any affiliated interest participating in a Class I or II transaction to produce or provide access to, at such reasonable time and place as the commission may designate, such books, records, accounts or documents.

C. Any person whose interest may be adversely affected by the production of any books, records, accounts or documents may petition the commission for a protective order for confidential or proprietary information. The commission shall determine the materiality and relevancy of the books, records, accounts or documents to any matter before the commission and determine whether such books, records, accounts or documents contain confidential or proprietary information. If the commission determines such books, records, accounts or documents contain confidential or proprietary information that is material and relevant to the proceeding, it shall determine whether the public interest requires that such books, records, accounts or documents be produced in any hearing or investigation held under the Public Utility Act [Chapter 62, Articles 1 through 6 and 8 through 13 NMSA 1978] or that an abstract of or the extraction of specific information from such books, records, accounts or documents be produced for use in any such hearing or investigation. Any books, records, accounts or documents determined under this section to contain confidential or proprietary information are not subject to the Public Records Act [Chapter 14, Article 3 NMSA 1978].

D. For so long as such information determined by the commission to contain confidential or proprietary information retains its confidential or proprietary character, any person who intentionally discloses such confidential or proprietary information is guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction shall be fined not less than five hundred dollars ($500) nor more than five thousand dollars ($5,000).

however, that repeal is of no effect as the section had previously been repealed by Chapter 23, Section 1, Laws 2003.

62-6-19. Standard of service.

A. The commission may prescribe reasonable and adequate service regulations and standards of service rendered or to be rendered by any utility and may prescribe such regulations for the examination and testing of such service and for the measurement thereof.

B. In order to assure reasonable and proper utility service at fair, just and reasonable rates, the commission may investigate:

(1) Class I transactions to determine the reasonableness of the cost and contract conditions to the utility in any such transaction; and

(2) Class II transactions or the resulting effect of such Class II transactions on the financial performance of the public utility to determine whether such transactions or such performance have an adverse and material effect on such service and rates.

C. A public utility engaging in any Class I or Class II transaction shall have the burden to produce such evidence and information as is sufficient to demonstrate:

(1) that such Class I transaction has resulted in reasonable cost and contract conditions to the utility; and

(2) that such Class II transaction or the resulting effect of such Class II transaction on the financial performance of the public utility has not materially and adversely affected the utility's ability to provide reasonable and proper utility service at fair, just and reasonable rates.

If the commission finds that the utility has failed to meet its burden, the commission may issue orders consistent with the authority granted to the commission under the Public Utility Act [Chapter 62, Articles 1 through 6 and 8 through 13 NMSA 1978] to assure the provision of such service at such rates. Any such order that explicitly and directly requires the production of information shall be in accordance with Section 62-6-17 NMSA 1978.

D. The commission may issue such orders in connection with an evidentiary proceeding involving a public utility as it finds appropriate and necessary to assure that appropriate cost allocations are made and that no cross-subsidization occurs between the utility and an affiliated interest.

E. The commission shall, by November 30, 1982, promulgate rules and may amend such rules thereafter, to implement the provisions of Subsections B, C and D of this section, including the manner of conducting such investigations and making such determinations, and the specification of such reporting requirements as may be reasonably necessary and as are consistent with the provisions of this 1982 act.

F. For a period of thirteen months from the effective date of this subsection, no utility or affiliated interest shall engage in a new Class II transaction described in Paragraph (1) or (2) of Subsection K of Section 62-3-3 NMSA 1978, nor during that period shall any utility or affiliated interest controlled by a utility engage in any nonutility activity not carried on prior to that effective date except as is necessary to protect or dispose of an asset, unless such nonutility activity had been the subject of substantial negotiations and had been publicly announced prior to the effective date of this section.

F. For a period of fifteen months from the effective date of this subsection, no utility or affiliated interest shall engage in a Class II transaction described in Paragraph (1) or (2) of Subsection K of Section 62-3-3 NMSA 1978, nor during that period shall any utility or affiliated interest controlled by a utility engage in any nonutility activity not carried on prior to that effective date except as is necessary to protect or dispose of an asset.

Compiler's notes. — The 1982 amendment added two Subsections F.

The term "the effective date of this subsection," referred to in each Subsection F, probably means the effective date of the 1982 act.

Sections 62-6-4 to 62-6-26.1 of the Public Utility Act are still effective as the repeal of Chapter 62, Article 6 by Laws 1998, Chapter 108, Section 82, effective July 1, 2003 Chapter 108, Section 82 was repealed prior to taking effect by Chapter 23, Section 1, Laws 2003. Although Laws 2003, Chapter 336, Section 8, amended Laws 1998, Chapter 82, as amended, an amendment of a repealed section is ineffective. See Quintana v. N.M. Dep't of Corrs., 100 N.M. 224, 668 P.2d 1101 (1983). Laws 2003, Chapter 416, Section 5 also repealed Laws 1998, Chapter 108, Section 82, as amended, a second time, however, that repeal is of no effect as the section had previously been repealed by Chapter 23, Section 1, Laws 2003.

The term, "this 1982 act," referred to in Subsection E, means Laws 1982, ch. 109, which is compiled as 62-3-3, 62-6-17, 62-6-19, 62-8-7, 62-11-1 to 62-11-3, 62-11-5 and 62-11-6 NMSA 1978.

Cross references. — For denial of service by utility being petty misdemeanor, see 30-13-2 NMSA 1978.

ANNOTATIONS

Primary purpose of extending commission's jurisdiction to Class I transactions was to protect against allocation of some of a regulated utility's profits to its unregulated affiliate. Gas Co. v. N.M. Pub. Serv. Comm'n, 1984-NMSC-002, 100 N.M. 740, 676 P.2d 817.

Commission may impute gas processor's unreasonable revenues to affiliate utility. — Where a company processed natural gas for its affiliate gas utility in a Class I transaction and had unreasonable revenues when compared to similar natural gas processors, the commission was authorized to impute some of those revenues to the affiliate gas utility for rate-making purposes. Gas Co. v. N.M. Pub. Serv. Comm'n, 1984-NMSC-002, 100 N.M. 740, 676 P.2d 817.

Variations in rates not ipso facto discriminatory. — Section 62-8-6 NMSA 1978 does not prohibit variations in rates, nor does it require "equal service." Rather, it prohibits "unreasonable differences" in rates of service between localities. Allowing municipalities to contract with utilities for service rates to their inhabitants does not, therefore, ipso facto, violate Section 62-8-6 NMSA 1978. City of Albuquerque v. N.M. Pub. Serv. Comm'n, 1993-NMSC-021, 115 N.M. 521, 854 P.2d 348.

Company restructuring. — This section allows the commission to disapprove a public utility holding company restructuring prior to its completion. Public Serv. Co. v. N.M. Pub. Serv. Comm'n, 1987-NMSC-124, 106 N.M. 622, 747 P.2d 917.

The commission properly disapproved a public utility holding company restructuring prior to its completion. This restructuring would have changed the status of certain subsidiaries of the utility to a status which can be called "sisters" (a subsidiary of a holding company of which the utility also is a co-equal subsidiary), which are not, under Section 62-3-3A NMSA 1978, included within the definition of an "affiliated interest." Therefore, this holding company structure would have prevented the commission's access, under Section 62-6-17 NMSA 1978, to the books and records of the "sister" necessary to ensure the reasonableness of transactions between that "sister" and the utility. Public Serv. Co. v. N.M. Pub. Serv. Comm'n, 1987-NMSC-124, 106 N.M. 622, 747 P.2d 917.

62-6-21. Inspection of meters and other devices for measuring public utility service.

The commission shall adopt rules, regulations and standards to secure the accuracy of all meters and other devices for measurement of utility service or products, and the commission may examine and test any and all such meters and other devices under such rules and regulations as it may prescribe. 62-6-22. Meters and other measuring devices; testing; fees.

Any consumer or user may have any meter or measuring device tested by the utility once without charge after a reasonable period to be fixed by the commission by rule, and at shorter intervals upon payment of reasonable fees fixed by the commission. The commission shall declare and establish reasonable fees to be paid for other examining and testing [of] such meters and other measuring devices on the request of the consumer. If the test is requested to be made within the period of presumed accuracy as fixed by the commission since the last such test of the same meter or other measuring device, the fee to be paid by the consumer or user at the time of his request shall be refunded to the consumer or user if the meter or measuring device be found unreasonably defective or incorrect to the substantial disadvantage of the consumer or user. If the consumer's request is made at a time beyond the period of presumed accuracy fixed by the commission since the last such test of the same meter or measuring device, the utility shall make the test without charge to the consumer or user.

Commission's general jurisdiction includes safety regulations and inspections. — The general and exclusive power and jurisdiction to regulate and supervise every public utility in respect to its rates and service regulations includes the power to make safety regulations and enforce them through inspections. 1972 Op. Commission may delegate its authority to inspect. — The commission is authorized by Section 62-6-4 NMSA 1978 and by the common law to delegate its authority to inspect and test liquefied petroleum gas utilities to the liquefied petroleum gas commission. Compliance with rules excuses discontinuance of service under hazardous conditions. — Compliance with rules of the commission permitting a public utility to immediately discontinue service in the event of a condition determined by the utility to be hazardous would be a defense to a criminal action upon a refusal to render electric service, but the burden would be upon the utility to produce some evidence that the condition was actually hazardous if the criminal action was brought against it, and to prove the existence of the rule itself. 1969 Op. A. The commission may require electric utilities and rural electric cooperatives to furnish the commission with available information material to the reliability of electrical power grids within the state.

B. To ensure efficient and reliable operation of New Mexico electrical power grids and upon complaint of an interested electric utility or rural electric cooperative, and after notice and hearing, the commission may, to the extent permitted by federal law and consistent with the standards prescribed by law for compulsory wheeling service ordered by the federal energy regulatory commission, require another electric utility to provide transmission services to the complainant, subject to arrangements for compensation therefor by agreement between the utilities or pursuant to a rate schedule filed with the federal energy regulatory commission.

repealed section is ineffective. See Quintana v. N.M. Dep't of Corrs., 100 N.M. 224, 668 P.2d 1101 (1983). Severability. — Laws 1983, ch. 104, § 2 provided for the severability of the act if any part or application thereof is held invalid.

ANNOTATIONS

"Interested electric utility". — The definition of "person" in Section 62-3-3E NMSA 1978 controls the meaning of "interested electric utility" in Subsection B of this section and, thus, a municipality that had not elected to come within the terms of the Public Utility Act was not authorized to seek wheeling orders from the commission. Public Serv. Co. v. N.M. Pub. Util. Comm'n, 1999-NMSC-040, 128 N.M. 309, 992 P.2d 860.

62-6-26. Economic development rates for gas and electric utilities; authorization.

A. The commission may approve or otherwise allow to become effective, as provided in Subsection B of this section, applications from utilities or persons subject to regulation pursuant to Subsection B of Section 62-6-4 NMSA 1978 or filings by cooperative utilities pursuant to Section 62-8-7 NMSA 1978, as appropriate, for special rates or tariffs in order to prevent the loss of customers, to encourage customers to expand present facilities and operations in New Mexico and to attract new customers where necessary or appropriate to promote economic development in New Mexico. Any such special rates or tariffs shall be designed so as to recover at least the incremental cost of providing service to such customers.

B. The commission may approve or otherwise allow to become effective applications from utilities or persons subject to regulation pursuant to Subsection B of Section 62-6-4 NMSA 1978 and filings by cooperative utilities pursuant to Section 62-8-7 NMSA 1978 for economic development rates and rates designed to retain load for gas and electric utility customers. For purposes of this section and Section 62-8-6 NMSA 1978, economic development rates and rates designed to retain load are rates set at a level lower than the corresponding service rate for which a customer would otherwise qualify.

C. Except as provided in Subsection D of this section, economic development rates shall be approved or otherwise allowed to become effective for an electric utility or persons subject to regulation pursuant to Subsection B of Section 62-6-4 NMSA 1978 or filings by cooperative utilities pursuant to Section 62-8-7 NMSA 1978 only when the utility or the substantially full requirements supplier of the utility has excess capacity. For purposes of this section, "excess capacity" means the amount of electric generating and purchased power capacity available to the utility or such supplier that is greater than the utility's or such supplier's peak load plus a fixed percentage reserve margin set by the commission.

D. Economic development rates may be approved or otherwise allowed to become effective for electric utilities or persons subject to regulation pursuant to Subsection B of Section 62-6-4 NMSA 1978 or filings by cooperative utilities pursuant to Section 62-8-7 NMSA 1978 that do not meet the qualifications of Subsection C of this section; provided that the following conditions are met:

(1) economic development rates approved under this subsection shall not be lower than the incremental cost of providing service to the economic development rate customer as determined by the commission. As used in this subsection, "economic development rate customer" means a customer that directly benefits from the economic development rate established pursuant to this subsection; and

(2) an economic development rate approved for any customer under this subsection shall last no longer than four years, except that the commission may approve the rate for up to twelve additional months if it finds that the additional period is necessary to attract a particular economic development rate customer to New Mexico.

E. For purposes of this section, "incremental cost" at a minimum shall include all additional costs incurred to serve the economic development rate customer that would not otherwise have been incurred to serve other customers, fuel and purchased power costs, costs recoverable from customers pursuant to the Renewable Energy Act and the Efficient Use of Energy Act and the direct costs of facilities necessary to provide service to the customer. The commission shall not impute to the electric utility revenues that would have been received from the economic development rate or load retention customer if they had been provided service under the corresponding rate for which they would have otherwise qualified.

The 2015 amendment, effective June 19, 2015, amended the Public Utility Act to provide for economic development rates no lower than the incremental cost of providing service; in Subsection A, after "utilities pursuant to", deleted "Subsection F of"; in Subsection B, after "utilities pursuant to", deleted "Subsection F of"; in Subsection C, added "Except as provided in Subsection D of this section", and after "utilities pursuant to", deleted "Subsection F of"; and added Subsections D and E.

The 1993 amendment, effective June 18, 1993, substituted "The commission" for "The New Mexico public service commission" at the beginning of Subsections A and B; and, in Subsection C, in the second sentence, deleted "and Section 62-8-6 NMSA 1978" preceding "excess capacity", substituted "the commission" for "the New Mexico public service commission", and made a stylistic change.

62-6-26.1. Rates for clean fuels used as vehicular fuels; authorization.

The commission may approve or otherwise allow to become effective applications from public utilities, subject to the commission's jurisdiction under the Public Utility Act [Chapter 62, Articles 1 through 6 and 8 through 13 NMSA 1978], for clean fuel rates, tariffs or other programs in order to encourage, develop or promote the development and use of natural gas and other clean fuels used as vehicular fuels. For the purposes of this section, clean fuel rates or tariffs are rates or tariffs set at a lower level than the corresponding service rate or tariff for which a customer would otherwise qualify.

62-6-28. Clean energy investments; authorization; department of environment certification.

A. The commission shall adopt rules to allow public utilities a reasonable opportunity to recover costs incurred by a public utility for the development and ongoing construction of a clean energy project. Such costs must not exceed the level authorized by the commission in a proceeding to establish a reasonable level of expenditure that the public utility may undertake to develop and construct a clean energy project. The public utility shall recover approved costs reasonably incurred up to the time it files a general rate case whether or not the project is in service. This section does not relieve a public utility of its duty to act reasonably and prudently as circumstances indicate once development and construction of a clean energy project begins.

B. A public utility that incurs costs to reduce harmful air emissions at new or existing power plants may seek recovery of those costs in a general rate case, regardless of whether the technology or method used qualifies as a clean energy project or advanced coal technology. If a public utility seeks cost recovery for expenditures to reduce harmful air emissions beyond levels required by law or rule, the commission may find that such expenditures are reasonable.

C. The commission, upon petition or its own motion, shall open a docket to consider appropriate performance-based financial or other incentives to encourage public utilities to develop and construct clean energy projects.

D. As used in this section:

(1) "advanced coal technology" means new coal-based generation, coal gasification or other technology using coal as a fuel source that is certified by the department of environment to meet the following specifications:

(a) emits the lesser of: 1) what is achievable with the best available control technology; or 2) thirty-five thousandths pound per million British thermal units of sulfur dioxide, twenty-five thousandths pound per million British thermal units of oxides of nitrogen and one hundredth pound per million British thermal units of total particulates in the flue gas;

(b) removes the greater of: 1) what is achievable with the best available control technology; or 2) ninety percent or more of the mercury from the input fuel;

(c) captures and sequesters or controls carbon dioxide emissions such that by the later of January 1, 2017, or eighteen months after the commercial operation date, no more than one thousand one hundred pounds per megawatt-hour of carbon dioxide is emitted into the atmosphere;

(d) all infrastructure required for sequestration is in place by the later of January 1, 2017, or eighteen months after the commercial operation date of the qualified generating facility;

(e) includes methods and procedures to monitor the disposition of the carbon dioxide captured and sequestered from the facility; and

(f) does not exceed seven hundred net megawatts nameplate capacity;

(2) "clean energy project" means the construction or modification of a new or existing electric generation facility in a manner that employs a technology that has additional financial risk because it is not commercially established or because it employs an established technology that is not commercially proven under the altitude, geographic or resource availability conditions under which it is proposed to operate and may include associated renewable energy storage facilities, recycled energy and, for the limited purposes of this section, advanced coal technology, or other technology as deemed appropriate by the commission; a "clean energy project" shall achieve emission levels no greater than those specified for advanced coal technology and shall not include nuclear power;

(3) "development" means the study, plan, design, site, permit, engineering, assessment and determination of the economic and operational feasibility at one or more locations and may include small-scale demonstration projects, if approved by the commission, as a reasonable expenditure;

(4) "recycled energy" means energy produced by a generation unit with a name-plate capacity of not more than fifteen megawatts that converts the otherwise lost energy from exhaust stacks or pipes to electricity without combustion of additional fossil fuel; and

(5) "sequester" means to store, or chemically convert, carbon dioxide in a manner that prevents its release into the atmosphere and may include the use of geologic formations and enhanced oil, coalbed methane or natural gas recovery techniques.

E The department of environment may issue rules governing the procedure for administering the certification provisions of this section.

Commission not limited in method of valuating utility or setting rates. — Neither New Mexico case law nor the Public Utility Act imposes any one particular method of valuation upon the commission in ascertaining the rate base of a utility; nor does the spirit of the statute tie the commission down to the consideration of a single factor in establishing rates. Hobbs Gas Co. v. N.M. Pub. Serv. Comm'n, 1980-NMSC-005, 94 N.M. 731, 616 P.2d 1116.

As commission is vested with considerable discretion in determining whether a rate to be received and Commission's remedy for utility's imprudent decision was reasonable. — Where PNM appealed the New Mexico public regulation commission's (commission) denial of recovery in its rate base for the repurchase of 64.1 MW of capacity and certain lease renewals at Palo Verde nuclear generating station (Palo Verde), and where the commission found that PNM's decisions were imprudent on the basis that PNM had failed to demonstrate that it considered alternative courses of action, the commission's remedy of disallowing recovery for the amount PNM paid for the 64.1 MW over the net book value of that capacity and allowing PNM to recover the costs of the five renewed leases was reasonable and lawful. The commission established valuations for the 64.1 MW and the renewed lease, which it considered appropriate to protect ratepayers and result in just and reasonable rates, and such an approach is a lawful and reasonable exercise of the commission's authority to determine the rate base of a utility and its obligation to ensure that rates are just and reasonable. It was reasonable and lawful for the commission to conclude that a total disallowance was not justified. Public Serv. Co. of N.M. v. N.M. Pub. Regulation Comm'n, 2019-NMSC-012.

Commission did not exceed its authority in denying utility's recovery for costs. — Where PNM appealed the New Mexico public regulation commission's (commission) decision to deny it recovery for the costs of converting certain San Juan generating station units to a balanced draft system, which is designed to reduce fugitive emissions, on the grounds that PNM had failed to demonstrate that these costs were prudently incurred, the commission was within its authority in denying recovery, because the commission's finding that balanced draft was included in the permits for San Juan at PNM's request and not because it was required by the applicable environmental regulation was a finding specifically concerning the reasonableness of costs PNM was seeking to include in its rate base and was squarely within the authority of the commission to regulate the rates of public utilities and the obligation of the commission to ensure that those rates are just and reasonable. Public Serv. Co. of N.M. v. N.M. Pub. Regulation Comm'n, 2019-NMSC-012.

Ordering increase in contract rate is within commission's jurisdiction. — Where the commission had entered an order authorizing a public utility to enter into a contract and to continue to charge the gas rate therein specified until further order and on the ex parte petition of the utility subsequently entered an interlocutory order making a rate increase to be effective until the commission could hold a hearing to determine and set a new and proper rate, the commission was moving strictly in conformity with the act creating it to determine one of the major questions submitted to its jurisdiction — a question of rates. *Potash Co. of Am. v. Under such rules and regulations as the commission may prescribe, every public utility subject to the jurisdiction of the commission, shall file with the commission, within such time and in such form as the commission may designate, schedules showing all rates established by it and collected or enforced, or to be collected or enforced, within the jurisdiction of the commission. The utility shall keep a copy of such schedules open to public inspection under such rules and regulations as the commission may prescribe.

Cost recovery based on a uniform per kilowatt hour basis. — Where a public utility applied for an emergency fuel and purchased power cost adjustment clause; the public regulation commission approved a fuel and purchased power cost adjustment clause that permitted the public utility to recover its fuel and purchased power costs through a uniform per kilowatt hour charge; the public utility's expert witness testified that the proposed fuel and purchased power cost adjustment clause fairly apportioned cost recovery across different rate classes; the commission had a long standing policy that required fuel and purchased power costs to be recovered on a uniform per kilowatt basis; and the policy was reflected in a rule promulgated by the commission, emergency fuel and purchased power cost adjustment clause was supported by substantial evidence. *Albuquerque Bernalillo Cnty. 73B C.J.S. Public Utilities § 43.

62-8-7. Change in rates.

A. At any hearing involving an increase in rates or charges sought by a public utility, the burden of proof to show that the increased rate or charge is just and reasonable shall be upon the utility.

B. Unless the commission otherwise orders, no public utility shall make any change in any rate that has been duly established except after thirty days' notice to the commission, which notice shall plainly state the changes proposed to be made in the rates then in force and the time when the changed rates will go into effect and other information as the commission by rule requires. The utility shall also give notice of the proposed changes to other interested persons as the commission may direct. All proposed changes shall be shown by filing new schedules that shall be kept open to public inspection. The commission for good cause shown may allow changes in rates without requiring the thirty days' notice, under conditions that it may prescribe.

C. Whenever there is filed with the commission by any public utility a complete application as prescribed by commission rule proposing new rates, the commission may, upon complaint or upon its own initiative, except as otherwise provided by law, upon reasonable notice, enter upon a hearing concerning the reasonableness of the proposed rates. If the commission determines a hearing is necessary, it shall suspend the operation of the proposed rates before they become effective but not for a longer initial period than nine months beyond the time when the rates would otherwise go into effect, unless the commission finds that a longer time will be required, in which case the commission may extend the period for an additional three months. The commission shall hear and decide cases with reasonable promptness. The commission shall adopt rules identifying criteria for various rate and tariff filings to be eligible for suspension periods shorter than what is allowed by this subsection and to be eligible for summary approval without hearing.

D. If after a hearing the commission finds the proposed rates to be unjust, unreasonable or in any way in violation of law, the commission shall determine the just and reasonable rates to be charged or applied by the utility for the service in question and shall fix the rates by order to be served upon the utility or the commission by its order shall direct the utility to file new rates respecting such service that are designed to produce annual revenues no greater than those determined by the commission in its order to be just and reasonable. Those rates shall thereafter be observed until changed, as provided by the Public Utility Act [Chapter 62, Articles 1 through 6 and 8 through 13 NMSA 1978].

E. Except as otherwise provided by law, any increase in rates or charges for the utility commodity based upon cost factors other than taxes or cost of fuel, gas or purchased power, filed for after April 4, 1991, shall be permitted only after notice and hearing as provided by this section. The commission shall enact rules governing the use of tax, fuel, gas or purchased power adjustment clauses by utilities that enable the commission to consider periodically at least the following:

- (1) whether the existence of a particular adjustment clause is consistent with the purposes of the Public Utility Act, including serving the goal of providing reasonable and proper service at fair, just and reasonable rates to all customer classes;

- (2) the specific adjustment mechanism to recover tax, gas, fuel or purchased power costs;

- (3) which costs should be included in an adjustment clause, procedures to avoid the inclusion of costs in an adjustment clause that should not be included and methods by which the propriety of costs that are included may be determined by the commission in a timely manner, including what informational filings are required to enable the commission to make such a determination; and

- (4) the proper adjustment period to be employed.

F. Except as otherwise provided by law, any increase in rates or charges for a public utility as defined in Paragraph (3) of Subsection G of Section 62-3-3 NMSA 1978 based upon cost factors other than taxes or cost of fuel, gas, purchased power or acquisition of water resources shall be permitted only after notice and hearing as provided by this section. For the purposes of this subsection, "acquisition of water resources" does not include the purchase or other permanent acquisition of water rights. The commission shall enact rules governing the use of tax, fuel, gas, purchased power or water resource acquisition adjustment clauses by such utilities that enable the commission to consider periodically at least the following:

- (1) whether the existence of a particular adjustment clause is consistent with the purposes of the Public Utility Act, including serving the goal of providing reasonable and proper service at fair, just and reasonable rates to all customer classes;

- (2) the specific adjustment mechanism to recover tax, gas, fuel, purchased power or acquisition of water resource costs;

- (3) which costs should be included in an adjustment clause, procedures to avoid the inclusion of costs in an adjustment clause that should not be included and methods by which the propriety of costs that are included may be determined by the commission in a timely manner, including what informational filings are required to enable the commission to make such a determination; and

- (4) the proper adjustment period to be employed.

G. The commission may eliminate or condition a particular adjustment clause if it finds such elimination or condition is consistent with the purposes of the Public Utility Act, including serving the goal of providing reasonable and proper service at fair, just and reasonable rates to all customer classes; provided, however, that no such elimination or condition shall be ordered unless such elimination or condition will not place the affected utility at a competitive disadvantage. The commission rules shall also provide for variances and may provide for separate examination of a utility's adjustment clause based upon that utility's particular operating characteristics.

H. Whenever there is filed with the commission a schedule proposing new rates by a rural electric cooperative organized under the Rural Electric Cooperative Act [Chapter 62, Article 15 NMSA 1978] or by a foreign distribution cooperative, the rates shall become effective as proposed by the rural electric cooperative or the foreign distribution cooperative without a hearing, except as provided in this subsection. The rural electric cooperative or the foreign distribution cooperative shall give written notice of the proposed rates to its affected patrons in New Mexico at least thirty days prior to the filing with the commission. Upon the filing with the commission of a protest setting forth grounds for review of the proposed rates signed by the lesser of one percent of or twenty-five members of a customer rate class of the rural electric cooperative or foreign distribution cooperative and if the commission determines that there is just cause for reviewing the proposed rates on one or more of the grounds of the protest, the commission shall suspend the rates and conduct a hearing concerning the reasonableness of any proposed rates filed by a rural electric cooperative or a foreign distribution cooperative pursuant to Subsections C and D of this section. The protest shall be filed no later than twenty days after the filing with the commission of the schedule proposing the new rates. The hearing and review shall be limited to the issues set forth in the protest and for which the commission may find just cause for the review, which issues shall be contained in the notice of hearing. The provisions of this subsection shall not be construed to affect commission authority or procedure to regulate the sale, furnishing or delivery by wholesale suppliers of electricity to rural electric cooperatives or foreign distribution cooperatives pursuant to Section 62-6-4 NMSA 1978. In addition to the adjustments permitted by Subsections E and G of this section, the commission may authorize rate schedules of rural electric cooperatives and foreign distribution cooperatives to recover, without notice and hearing, changes in the cost of debt capital incurred pursuant to securities that are lawfully issued. This subsection shall not apply to any foreign distribution cooperative that proposes rates for any of its customer rate classes in the state that are higher than the rates it charges to the same or substantially similar customer rate class in the state under the laws of which the foreign distribution cooperative is organized. For the purposes of this subsection:

(1) "foreign distribution cooperative" means a rural electric distribution cooperative corporation serving its members at retail and transacting business in New Mexico pursuant to the authority granted under Section 62-15-26 NMSA 1978;

(2) "member of a foreign distribution cooperative" means a retail customer in New Mexico serviced by a foreign distribution cooperative; and

(3) "member of a rural electric cooperative" means a member as defined by the Rural Electric Cooperative Act.

History: 1978 Comp., § 62-8-7, enacted by Laws 1991, ch. 251, § 1; 1998, ch. 108, § 48; 2003, ch. 416, § 4; 2007, ch. 186, § 1; 2011, ch. 155, § 1; 2011, ch. 170, § 1.

Repeals and reenactments. — Laws 1991, ch. 251, § 1 repealed former 62-8-7 NMSA 1978, as amended by Laws 1985, ch. 221, § 2, relating to change in rates, and enacted the above section, effective April 4, 1991.

Compiler's notes. — Sections 62-8-1 to 62-8-9 of the Public Utility Act are still effective as the repeal of Chapter 62, Article 6 by Laws 1998, Chapter 108, Section 82, effective July 1, 2003 Chapter 108, Section 82 was repealed prior to taking effect by Chapter 23, Section 1, Laws 2003. Although Laws 2003, Chapter 336, Section 8, amended Laws 1998, Chapter 82, as amended, an amendment of a repealed section is ineffective. See Quintana v. N.M. Dep't of Corrs., 100 N.M. 224, 668 P.2d 1101 (1983). Laws 2003, Chapter 416, Section 5 also repealed Laws 1998, Chapter 108, Section 82, as amended, a second time, however, that repeal is of no effect as the section had previously been repealed by Chapter 23, Section 1, Laws 2003.

2011 Multiple Amendments. — Laws 2011, ch. 155, § 1 and 2011, ch. 170, § 1 enacted different amendments to this section that can be reconciled. Pursuant to 12-1-8 NMSA 1978, 2011, ch. 170, § 1, as the last act signed by the governor, is set out above and incorporates both amendments. The amendments enacted by Laws 2011, ch. 155, § 1 and 2011, ch. 170, § 1 are described below. To view the session laws in their entirety, see the 2011 session laws on NMSources.com.

Laws 2011, ch. 170, § 1, effective July 1, 2011, in Subsection G, permitted foreign distribution cooperatives to increase rates, without a hearing, if the proposed rates are not higher than the rates the cooperative charged in the state in which it is organized; permitted the commission to suspend the cooperative's rates if there is a protest by the specified number of customers; and added definitions of "foreign distribution cooperative" and "member of a foreign distribution cooperative".

Laws 2011, ch. 155, § 1, effective July 1, 2011, added Subsection F to permit water utilities to increase rates, without notice and hearing, based on taxes, the cost of fuel, gas and purchased power, and the cost to purchase or acquire permanent water rights.

The 2007 amendment, effective July 1, 2007, in Subsection G, required that a petition for hearing be signed by the lesser of one percent or twenty-five members of a customer class.

The 2003 amendment, effective July 1, 2003, substituted "that are lawfully issued" for "the issuance of which are approved by the commission" following "pursuant to securities" in Subsection G.

The 1998 amendment, effective January 1, 1999, deleted "as provided in this section" near the beginning of Subsection A; in Subsection B, substituted "that" for "which" at the beginning and inserted "and other information as the commission by rule requires" near the middle; rewrote Subsection C; in Subsection E, substituted "April 4, 1991" for "the effective date of this section" near the middle and deleted "and regulations" preceding "shall enact rules" near the end; and added Subsection F, redesignated former Subsection F as Subsection G and made minor stylistic changes in Subsection G.

ANNOTATIONS

Franchise fees are not items included in adjustment clauses. — Franchise fees charged by counties pursuant to Section 62-1-3 NMSA 1978 are not within the jurisdiction of the public regulation commission by analogy to fuel and purchased power adjustment clauses, over which the commission has jurisdiction under Section 62-8-7 NMSA 1978. El Paso Elec. Co. v. N.M. Pub. Regulation Comm'n, 2010-NMSC-048, 149 N.M. 174, 246 P.3d 443.

Denial of due process. — Where PNM appealed the New Mexico public regulation commission's (commission) denial of recovery in its rate base for the repurchase of 64.1 MW of capacity and certain lease renewals at Palo Verde nuclear generating station (Palo Verde), and where the commission found that PNM's actions in renewing and reacquiring the leases exposed ratepayers to costs associated with nuclear decommissioning responsibilities that likely would not have been incurred had an alternative resource other than nuclear been selected and denied recovery for all future nuclear decommissioning costs, the commission denied PNM's right to due process of law, because PNM was not given sufficient notice of a potential permanent disallowance of all recovery for its future contributions to the nuclear decommissioning trusts and was not afforded an opportunity to be heard on the issue. Public Serv. Co. of N.M. v. N.M. Pub. Regulation Comm'n, 2019-NMSC-012.

Adequate public notice. — Where a public utility applied for an emergency fuel and purchased power cost adjustment clause; the public regulation commission published a public notice of the proceedings which stated that the public utility had asked the commission to implement the proposed fuel and purchase power cost clause and to include conditions to mitigate the impact on customer bills during peak periods and incentives to the public utility to control costs, that the public utility contended that it was experiencing serious cash flow problems, that it was at risk of losing its investment grade rating, that it was experiencing a loss of overall financial integrity, and that the lack of a fuel and purchased power cost adjustment clause would result in the downgrading of the public utility's credit rating, and that because of the serious concerns raised by the public utility regarding its imminent financial crisis, the commission had established an expedited procedural schedule for reviewing the emergency fuel and purchased power cost adjustment clause; and the commission subsequently decided that the public utility's financial condition was not relevant to the issue of whether the commission should grant the emergency fuel and purchased power cost adjustment clause, the notice properly informed the public of the arguments raised in the public utility's application and of the expedited procedural schedule, was not inadequate or misleading, and did not deny the intervenors procedural due process. Albuquerque Bernalillo Cnty. Water Util. Auth. v. NMPRC, 2010-NMSC-013, 148 N.M. 21, 229 P.3d 494.

Expedited procedural schedule. — Where a public utility applied for a rate increase and a fuel and purchased power cost adjustment clause; a hearing examiner appointed by the public regulation commission issued a recommendation that the application for the fuel and purchased power cost adjustment clause be denied; the public utility then applied for an emergency fuel and purchased power cost adjustment clause; the commission severed the emergency application from the underlying rate case and determined that the commission would take administrative notice of any evidence relevant to the emergency application that was in the underlying rate case; intervenors participated in the underlying rate case; because the public utility contended that it was facing an immediate and critical financial crisis due to the lack of appropriate recovery of rapidly escalating fuel and purchased power costs, the commission established an expedited procedural schedule for reviewing the public utility's application which required the intervenors to file testimony within nine days after notice of the proceeding had been published; and the commission subsequently granted the intervenors two extensions of time which extended the time period in which the intervenors were required to file their responsive testimony from 12 to 42 days, the commission's denial of the intervenors' additional requests for extensions of time was not arbitrary, capricious or unreasonable and did not deny the intervenors procedural due process. Albuquerque Bernalillo Cnty. Water Util. Auth. v. NMPRC, 2010-NMSC-013, 148 N.M. 21, 229 P.3d 494.

Failure of commissioners to attend public hearings on matters on which they vote. — Where a public utility applied for an emergency fuel and purchased power cost adjustment clause; the public regulation commission held public hearings on the public utility's application; two members of the commission who voted in favor of the public utility's application did not personally attend many of the public hearings; and the intervenors did not present any evidence to support their claim that the two commissioners failed to review the evidentiary record prior to voting, the intervenors failed to show they were denied their procedural due process right to a full and fair hearing. Albuquerque Bernalillo Cnty. Water Util. Auth. v. NMPRC, 2010-NMSC-013, 148 N.M. 21, 229 P.3d 494.

Failure of commissioners to recuse themselves. — Where a public utility applied for an emergency fuel and purchased power cost adjustment clause; the public utility contended that it was facing an immediate and critical financial crisis due to the lack of appropriate recovery of rapidly escalating fuel and purchased power costs; at a hearing that was held before the commission held public hearings on the merits of the public utility's application, two commissioners argued that in view of the public utility's financial crisis, the commission should grant the public utility interim relief on its application; the intervenors filed a motion requesting that the two commissioners recuse themselves from participating in the proceeding on the grounds that they had prejudged the merits of the public utility's application; and the two commissioners declined to recuse themselves, the intervenors were not denied their procedural due process right to a fair and impartial hearing. Albuquerque Bernalillo Cnty. Water Util. Auth. v. NMPRC, 2010-NMSC-013, 148 N.M. 21, 229 P.3d 494.

To require a utility to offset its fuel and purchased power costs against cost-savings in other areas would undermine the direct and automatic nature of the cost recovery system inherent in the fuel and purchased power cost adjustment clause authorized by Subsection E of Section 62-8-7 NMSA 1978. Albuquerque Bernalillo Cnty. Water Util. Auth. v. NMPRC, 2010-NMSC-013, 148 N.M. 21, 229 P.3d 494.

Recovery of costs of prudence review audit.

— Where a public utility applied for an emergency fuel and purchased power cost adjustment clause; the public regulation commission approved the fuel and purchased power cost adjustment clause and required the public utility to pay the costs of an independent prudence review of its fuel and purchased power costs by auditors selected by and under the direction of the commission; and after issuance of the commission's order approving the fuel and purchased power cost adjustment clause, the commission issued a request for proposals to select a qualified auditor which summarized the scope of the audit and the scope of the prudence review, the independent audit provided for sufficient regulatory oversight. Albuquerque Bernalillo Cnty. Water Util. Auth. v. NMPRC, 2010-NMSC-013, 148 N.M. 21, 229 P.3d 494.

Filing schedule of rate changes. — Where a public utility applied for an emergency fuel and purchased power cost adjustment clause; the public utility notified the public regulation commission of its proposed rate changes in the application; the public was notified of the proposed rate changes when the commission published notice of the proceedings; the commission's final order granting the fuel and purchased power cost adjustment clause required the public utility to file new schedules for the fuel and purchased power cost adjustment clause within five days after the date of the final order; and the public utility filed new schedules six days before the fuel and purchase power cost adjustment clause went into effect, the public utility complied with the substantive requirements of Subsection B of Section 62-8-7 NMSA 1978. Albuquerque Bernalillo Cnty. Water Util. Auth. v. NMPRC, 2010-NMSC-013, 148 N.M. 21, 229 P.3d 494.

Regulation 17.9.550.17(A)(2) NMAC does not require a showing that fuel and purchased power costs are volatile or fluctuate more than some other cost of providing service. Albuquerque Bernalillo Cnty. Water Util. Auth. v. NMPRC, 2010-NMSC-013, 148 N.M. 21, 229 P.3d 494.

Substantial evidence supported finding that costs fluctuate and cannot be determined in a rate case.

— Where a public utility applied for an emergency fuel and purchased power cost adjustment clause and the public utility provided testimony that prices for all fuels had increased substantially and had become more volatile compared with past years, fuel and purchased power prices and off system sales were difficult to predict for rate setting purposes, financial markets downgrade the credit rating of public utilities that do not have fuel and purchased power cost adjustment clauses, natural gas will be an increasing percentage of the public utility's fuel base, purchased power agreements will have variable fuel costs based on natural gas prices, natural gas prices have evidenced 50% to 60% price swings, and the public utility's long term contracts for nuclear fuel and coal were not fixed price contracts, the commission's findings that the public utility's fuel and purchased power costs periodically fluctuate and cannot be precisely determined in a rate case were supported by substantial evidence. Albuquerque Bernalillo Cnty. Water Util. Auth. v. NMPRC, 2010-NMSC-013, 148 N.M. 21, 229 P.3d 494.

Purchased power. — Renewable energy certificates unaccompanied by the purchase of the renewable energy that the certificates represent do not constitute purchased power and the renewable energy certificate costs cannot be recovered through the automatic adjustment clause. N.M. Indus. Energy Consumers v. N.M. PRC, 2007-NMSC-053, 142 N.M. 533, 168 P.3d 105.

The commission exceeded its authority when it determined that renewable energy certificates costs were closely related to purchased power and recoverable through the automatic adjustment clause. N.M. Indus. Energy Consumers v. N.M. PRC, 2007-NMSC-053, 142 N.M. 533, 168 P.3d 105.

Rate requests carried out under this section. — This section is the provision under which the overall purpose of Section 62-8-1 NMSA 1978 is carried out for the given instance of a rate request. Otero Cnty. Elec. Coop. v. N.M. Pub. Serv. Comm'n, 1989-NMSC-033, 108 N.M. 462, 774 P.2d 1050.

Commission is vested with considerable discretion in determining whether a rate to be received and charged is just and reasonable. Hobbs Gas Co. v. N.M. Pub. Serv. Comm'n, 1980-NMSC-005, 94 N.M. 731, 616 P.2d 1116.

Discretion to review rates efficiently. — The statutory scheme vests broad discretion in the commission to review utility rates in an efficient and reasonable manner. Otero Cnty. Elec. Coop. v. N.M. Pub. Serv. Comm'n, 1989-NMSC-033, 108 N.M. 462, 774 P.2d 1050.

Commission may change rates by unilateral action followed by hearing. — This section contains express language conferring power on the commission, by unilateral action, to make a change in rates, providing hearing on what is a fair and reasonable rate follows in due season on proper notice and an opportunity is made for all interested parties to be heard. Potash Co. of Am. v. N.M. Pub. Serv. Comm'n, 1956-NMSC-091, 62 N.M. 1, 303 P.2d 908.

Including increase in contract rate. — Where the commission had entered an order authorizing a public utility to enter into a contract and to continue to charge the gas rate therein specified until further order and on the ex parte petition of the utility subsequently entered an interlocutory order making a rate increase to be effective until the commission could hold a hearing to determine and set a new and proper rate, the commission was moving strictly in conformity with the act creating it to determine one of the major questions submitted to its jurisdiction - a question of rates. Potash Co. of Am. v. N.M. Pub. Serv. Comm'n, 1956-NMSC-091, 62 N.M. 1, 303 P.2d 908.

Action on rate change not required within nine months. — With respect to rate changes, this section does not make it mandatory for the commission to act within any specific time; it merely provides that if the commission fails to act within the nine-month suspension period, the utility may put the proposed rates into effect. Public Serv. Co. v. N.M. Pub. Serv. Comm'n, 1979-NMSC-042, 92 N.M. 721, 594 P.2d 1177.

Commission may not order refund passed on to consumers. — Commission has no express or implied statutory authority to order the flow-through of refunds to electric company from power supplier to consumers. N.M. Elec. Serv. Co. v. N.M. Pub. Serv. Comm'n, 1970-NMSC-097, 81 N.M. 683, 472 P.2d 648.

Where refund is not trust fund for consumers. — Where refund was ordered paid over to power company by the federal power commission without any restrictions, and there was nothing in the order indicating an intention on the part of the commission to create a "trust fund" for the benefit of the ultimate consumers, the refund did not constitute a trust fund belonging to company's customers. N.M. Elec. Serv. Co. v. N.M. Pub. Serv. Comm'n, 1970-NMSC-097, 81 N.M. 683, 472 P.2d 648.

Commission's order held unsupported by substantial evidence. — Where gas company seeking rate increase proposed to trend the general plant account items by using a nationally recognized index, but the commission instead inserted its own method - to simply use the untrended original cost, although the witness who strongly supported this approach admitted that he did not know whether this would accurately establish the reproduction cost of the items, the court held the commission's order was unreasonable, being unsupported by substantial evidence. Southern Union Gas Co. v. N.M. Pub. Serv. Comm'n, 1972-NMSC-072, 84 N.M. 330, 503 P.2d 310.

Assignment of issue to separate proceeding. — The commission may assign an issue raised in a rate request hearing to a separate proceeding. Otero Cnty. Elec. Coop. v. N.M. Pub. Serv. Comm'n, 1989-NMSC-033, 108 N.M. 462, 774 P.2d 1050.

Burden of proof on utility. — The legislature has granted the commission discretion to place the burden of proof on the utility in any rate proceeding. Otero Cnty. Elec. Coop. v. N.M. Pub. Serv. Comm'n, 1989-NMSC-033, 108 N.M. 462, 774 P.2d 1050.

62-8-7.1. Hearing procedures for change of rates of small water and sewer utilities.

A. Whenever there is filed with the commission any schedule proposing any new rates pursuant to Section 62-8-7 NMSA 1978 by any public utility as defined in Paragraph (3) or (5) of Subsection G of Section 62-3-3 NMSA 1978 with equal to or fewer than an aggregate of one thousand five hundred service connections in any utility operating district or division in New Mexico averaged over the previous three consecutive years, the rates shall become effective as proposed by the utility without a hearing; provided that the utility shall be required to give written notice of the proposed rates to the ratepayers receiving service from the utility at least sixty days prior to filing the proposed rate change with the commission; and provided further that the commission shall enter upon a hearing concerning the reasonableness of any proposed rates filed by such a utility pursuant to Subsections C and D of Section 62-8-7 NMSA 1978 when a rate increase would have the effect of increasing the rates fifty percent or more in a twelve-month period or upon the filing with the commission of a protest seeking review of the proposed rates signed by ten percent or more of the ratepayers or twenty-five ratepayers, whichever is more, receiving service from such a utility if the commission determines there is just cause for reviewing the proposed rates. For purposes of this section, a "service connection" means a metered hookup to the utility's water system or a sewer tap to the utility's wastewater system, and each person who receives a separate bill equals one ratepayer and each person who receives multiple bills equals one ratepayer. The petition shall be signed by the person in whose name service is carried. The petition shall be filed no later than twenty days after the filing with the commission of the schedule proposing the new rates. In all other respects, Section 62-8-7 NMSA 1978 shall apply to such water utilities. If a utility provides both water and sewer service, the service connection revenues attributable to the provision of water service only shall determine whether the procedures specified in this subsection shall apply to a schedule proposing new rates for water service, and the service connection revenues attributable to the provision of sewer service shall determine whether the procedures specified in this subsection shall apply to a schedule proposing new rates for sewer service. Nothing in this subsection shall prevent a utility from filing for a rate change pursuant to any other rule or procedure of the commission.

B. Whenever there is filed with the commission a schedule proposing new rates pursuant to Section 62-8-7 NMSA 1978 by a public utility as defined in Paragraph (3) or (5) of Subsection G of Section 62-3-3 NMSA 1978, with more than an aggregate of one thousand five hundred service connections and fewer than an aggregate of five thousand service connections in any utility operating district or division in New Mexico averaged over the previous three consecutive years, the rates shall become effective as proposed by the public utility without a hearing; provided that the public utility shall be required to give written notice of the proposed rates to the ratepayers receiving service from the public utility at least sixty days prior to filing the proposed rate change with the commission; and provided further that the commission shall enter upon a hearing concerning the reasonableness of proposed rates filed by such a public utility pursuant to Subsections C and D of Section 62-8-7 NMSA 1978 when a rate increase would have the effect of increasing rates more than eight percent in a twelve-month period, or upon the commission staff's motion or upon the filing with the commission of a protest seeking review of the proposed rates signed by ten percent or more of the ratepayers receiving service from the public utility, if the commission determines there is just cause for reviewing the proposed rates. The petition shall be signed by the person in whose name service is carried. The petition shall be filed no later than twenty days after the filing with the commission of the schedule proposing the new rates. In all other respects, Section 62-8-7 NMSA 1978 shall apply to such water utilities. If a public utility provides both water and sewer service, the service connection revenues attributable to the provision of water service only shall determine whether the procedure specified in this subsection shall apply to a schedule proposing new rates for water service, and the service connection revenues attributable to the provision of sewer service shall determine whether the procedures specified in this subsection shall apply to a schedule proposing new rates for sewer service. Nothing in this subsection shall prevent a public utility from filing for a rate change pursuant to any other rule or procedure of the commission.

C. Notwithstanding the provisions of Subsections A and B of this section, a public utility as defined in Paragraph (3) or (5) of Subsection G of Section 62-3-3 NMSA 1978, with fewer than an aggregate of five thousand service connections in any utility operating district or division in New Mexico averaged over the previous three consecutive years, that is currently in good standing with all applicable requirements of the commission, may adjust its charges for commodity and service by up to two percent in any calendar year without a hearing; provided that the public utility shall not have changed its rates in the prior twelve-month period; and provided further that the public utility shall be required to give written notice of the proposed rate adjustments to the ratepayers receiving service from the public utility prior to its effective date. The increased rates shall not become effective until at least thirty days after notice and filing with the commission. If a public utility provides both water and sewer service, the service connection revenues attributable to the provision of water service only shall determine whether the procedure specified in this subsection shall apply to any schedule proposing any new rate or rates for water service, and the service connection revenues attributable to the provision of sewer service shall determine whether the procedures specified in this subsection shall apply to any schedule proposing any new rate or rates for sewer service. Nothing in this subsection shall prevent a public utility from filing for a rate change pursuant to any other rule or procedure of the commission.

History: Laws 1985, ch. 221, § 3; 1987, ch. 52, § 3; 2005, ch. 339, § 4.

The 2005 amendment, effective July 1, 2005, deleted the former provision of Subsection A, which provided that rates become effective without hearing if filed by a public utility whose annual operating revenues averaged less than $500,000 over a consecutive three year period; provided in Subsection A that rates become effective without hearing if filed by a public utility with equal to or fewer than an aggregate of one thousand five hundred connections in any district or division averaged over the previous three consecutive years; provided in Subsection A that the commission shall hold a hearing if a protest is signed by ten percent of ratepayers or twenty-five ratepayers, whichever is more, if the commission determines there is just cause for reviewing the proposed rates; added the definition of "service connection" in Subsection A to include a metered hookup to the utility's water system or a sewer tap to the utility's wastewater system; changed "annual operating revenues" to "service connection revenues" in Subsection A; provided in Subsection A that nothing shall prevent a utility from filing for a rate change pursuant to any other rule or procedure of the commission; added Subsection B to provide for rates changed by a public utility with more than an aggregate of one thousand five hundred service connections and fewer than an aggregate of five thousand service connections; added Subsection C to provide for rate increase of up to two percent without a hearing by a public utility that has fewer than an aggregate of five thousand service connections and that meets the criteria of Subsection C.

The 1987 amendment, effective June 19, 1987, designated the existing language as Subsection A (there is no Subsection B), substituted "this section" for "this act" near the beginning of the second sentence, added the present last sentence and made minor language changes throughout the section.

62-8-8. Inspection and supervision fee.

Each utility doing business in this state and subject to the control and jurisdiction of the commission with respect to its rates or service regulations shall pay annually to the state a fee for the inspection and supervision of such business in an amount equal to five hundred six thousandths percent of its gross receipts from business transacted in New Mexico for the preceding calendar year. That sum shall be payable on or before the first day of April in each year. An inspection and supervision fee shall be paid by utilities in addition to all property, franchise, license, intangible and other taxes, fees and charges provided by law. No similar inspection and supervision fee shall be measured by the amount of the gross receipts of such utility for the calendar year next preceding the date fixed in this section for the payment of the fee. In the case of utilities engaged in interstate business, the inspection and supervision fee shall be measured by the gross receipts of those utilities from intrastate business only for that preceding calendar year and not in any respect upon receipts derived wholly or in part from interstate business. No inspection and supervision fee shall be charged on the gross receipts from the sale of gas, water or electricity to a utility regulated by the commission for resale to the public.

History: 1953 Comp., § 68-6-8, enacted by Laws 1967, ch. 96, § 6; 1992, ch. 22, § 1; 2003, ch. 14, § 21; 2005, ch. 339, § 5.

Repeals and reenactments. — Laws 1967, ch. 96, § 6, repealed 68-6-8, 1953 Comp., relating to inspection and supervision fees, and enacted the above section.

The 2005 amendment, effective July 1, 2005, changed the date the sum is payable from the last day of February to the first day of April.

The 2003 amendment, effective July 1, 2003, substituted "fee" for "fees" in the section heading, in the first sentence, substituted "five hundred six thousandths" for "one-half of one" following "an amount equal to", deleted "In calendar year 1992, that sum shall be payable in equal quarterly installments on or before the last day of February, May, August and November, respectively. Thereafter" preceding "That sum shall", substituted "An inspection and supervision fee shall be paid by utilities in addition to" for "Inspection and supervision fees shall be paid by such utilities in addition to any and" preceding "all property, franchise", deleted "now or hereafter" preceding "provided by law", in the final and penultimate sentences substituted "the inspection and supervision fee" for "the fees".

The 1992 amendment, effective March 5, 1992, substituted the present second and third sentences for the former second sentence, which read "Said sum shall be payable in equal quarterly installments on or before the last day of February, May, August and November in each year" and made stylistic changes.

ANNOTATIONS

Recovery of costs of prudence review audit. — Where a public utility applied for an emergency fuel and purchased power cost adjustment clause; the public regulation commission approved the fuel and purchased power cost adjustment clause; to ensure the proper administration of the fuel and purchased power costs adjustment clause and to ensure that the public utility's electric power was generated at the lowest reasonable cost, the commission required the public utility to pay the costs of an independent prudence review of its fuel and purchased power costs by auditors selected by and under the direction of the commission; and the commission permitted the public utility to treat all prudence review costs paid by the public utility as a regulatory asset which could be recovered from the public utility's ratepayers through the public utility's base rates, the costs of the prudence review audit were a legitimate operating expense of the public utility and could be recovered through its base rates. Albuquerque Bernalillo Co. Water Util. Auth. v. NMPRC, 2010-NMSC-013, 148 N.M. 21, 229 P.3d 494.

Fees permitted for prior year's services. — The commission has authority to assess and collect inspection and supervision fees for the preceding year, despite the fact that, during the year the fees are actually assessed and become payable, the utility is no longer doing business in New Mexico. United Waterworks, Inc. v. N.M. Pub. Util. Comm'n, 2000-NMCA-057, 129 N.M. 262, 5 P.3d 584.

Legislative intent is that fees collected go to the state, not to any specific fund. Once deposited with the state, in the general fund, they may be appropriated by the legislature as it sees fit. Thus, the commission is only entitled for its operation to such money generated by the fees collected pursuant to this section as the legislature may appropriate. The commission may not expend the entire amount received. 1978 Op. Att'y Gen. No. 78-10.

Fee calculated at beginning of year based on past year's receipts. — Under this section the fee to be paid in any given year is calculated at the beginning of the year on the basis of gross receipts for the past year. It is only the payment of the fee which is permitted to be spread throughout the year. 1967 Op. Att'y Gen. No. 67-96.

Where utility operates only for part of a year, it is liable for the full annual fee. 1943-44 Op. Att'y Gen. No. 43-4266 (rendered under former statute).

Effect of disposing of major part of holdings. — Where utility disposes of a major part of its holdings, the fees for the remaining holdings will be based upon gross receipts of such remaining holdings for the previous year. 1943-44 Op. Att'y Gen. No. 43-4266 (rendered under former statute).

First fees paid by rural electric cooperatives. 1961-62 Op. Att'y Gen. No. 62-16 (rendered under former statute).

62-8-9. Disposition of funds; interest and penalty on late payments.

A. All fees and money collected under the provisions of the Public Utility Act [Chapter 62, Articles 1 through 6 and 8 through 13 NMSA 1978], including fees provided for in Section 62-13-2 NMSA 1978 and including fees and charges for inspection and supervision, for stenographic services and for transcripts of evidence, shall be remitted by the commission to the state treasurer not later than the day following receipt. Payments provided for in the Public Utility Act shall be obligatory upon all utilities subject to the Public Utility Act.

B. When a fee is not paid on the date it is due, interest shall be paid to the state on the amount due. The interest on the amount due shall start to accrue on the day following the due date and will continue to accrue until the total amount due is paid. The rate of interest on a late fee payment shall be fifteen percent per year, computed at the rate of one and one-fourth percent per month.

C. In addition to any interest due on a late fee payment, a penalty shall be paid to the state for failure to pay the fee when it was due. The penalty imposed shall be two percent of the amount of the fee due.

D. The attorney general, in the name of the state, shall bring suit to collect fees, interest and penalties that remain unpaid.

History: 1953 Comp., § 68-6-9.1, enacted by Laws 1957, ch. 25, § 1; 1992, ch. 23, § 1.

Compiler's notes. — Sections 62-8-1 to 62-8-9 of the Public Utility Act are still effective as the repeal of Chapter 62, Article 6 by Laws 1998, Chapter 108, Section 82, effective July 1, 2003 Chapter 108, Section 82 was repealed prior to taking effect by Chapter 23, Section 1, Laws 2003. Although Laws 2003, Chapter 336, Section 8, amended Laws 1998, Chapter 82, as amended, an amendment of a repealed section is ineffective. See Quintana v. N.M. Dep't of Corrs., 100 N.M. 224, 668 P.2d 1101 (1983). Laws 2003, Chapter 416, Section 5 also repealed Laws 1998, Chapter 108, Section 82, as amended, a second time, however, that repeal is of no effect as the section had previously been repealed by Chapter 23, Section 1, Laws 2003.

The 1992 amendment, effective July 1, 1992, added the present catchline; added the Subsection A designation; in Subsection A, made a section reference substitution, inserted "inspection and supervision, for", deleted the former last sentence, relating to failure, neglect or refusal of a utility to pay on the date it is due, and made stylistic changes; and added Subsections B, C, and D.

62-8-12. Applications to expand transportation electrification.

A. No later than January 1, 2021, and thereafter upon request by the commission, but no more frequently than every two years, a public utility shall file with the commission an application to expand transportation electrification. Applications may include investments or incentives to facilitate the deployment of charging infrastructure and associated electrical equipment that support transportation electrification, including electrification of public transit and publicly owned vehicle fleets, rate designs or programs that encourage charging that supports the operation of the electric grid and customer education and outreach programs that increase awareness of such programs and of the benefits of transportation electrification.

B. When considering applications for approval, the commission shall consider whether the investments, incentives, programs and expenditures are:

(1) reasonably expected to improve the public utility's electrical system efficiency, the integration of variable resources, operational flexibility and system utilization during off-peak hours;

(2) reasonably expected to increase access to the use of electricity as a transportation fuel, with consideration given for increasing such access to low-income users and users in underserved communities;

(3) designed to contribute to the reduction of air pollution and greenhouse gases;

(4) reasonably expected to support increased consumer choices in electric vehicle charging and related infrastructure and services; allow for private capital investments and skilled jobs in related services; and provide customer information and education;

(5) reasonable and prudent, as determined by the commission; and

(6) transparent, incorporating public reporting requirements to inform program design and commission policy.

C. A public utility that undertakes measures to expand transportation electrification pursuant to this section shall have the option of recovering the public utility's reasonable costs for the expansion through a commission-approved tariff rider or base rate or both.

D. The provisions of this section do not apply to a distribution cooperative organized pursuant to the Rural Electric Cooperative Act [Chapter 62, Article 15 NMSA 1978].

E. As used in this section:

(1) "low-income" means annual household adjusted gross income, as defined in the Income Tax Act [Chapter 7, Article 2 NMSA 1978], of equal to or less than two hundred percent of the federal poverty level;

(2) "transportation electrification" means the use of electricity from external sources to power all or part of passenger vehicles, trucks, buses, trains, boats or other equipment that transport goods or people; and

(3) "underserved community" means an area in this state, including a county, municipality or neighborhood, or subset of such area, where the median income of the area is low-income.

History: Laws 2019, ch. 196, § 1.

Effective dates. — Laws 2019, ch. 196 contained no effective date provision, but, pursuant to N.M. Const., art.

IV, § 23, was effective June 14, 2019, 90 days after the adjournment of the legislature.

62-8-13. Application for grid modernization projects.

A. A public utility may file an application with the commission to approve grid modernization projects that are needed by the utility, or upon request of the commission. Applications may include requests for approval of investments or incentives to facilitate grid modernization, rate designs or programs that incorporate the use of technologies, equipment or infrastructure associated with grid modernization and customer education and outreach programs that increase awareness of grid modernization programs and of the benefits of grid modernization. Applications shall include the utility's estimate of costs for grid modernization projects. Applications for grid modernization projects shall be filed pursuant to Sections 62-9-1 and 62-9-3 NMSA 1978, as applicable.

B. When considering applications for approval, the commission shall review the reasonableness of a proposed grid modernization project and as part of that review shall consider whether the requested investments, incentives, programs and expenditures are:

(1) reasonably expected to improve the public utility's electrical system efficiency, reliability, resilience and security; maintain reasonable operations, maintenance and ratepayer costs; and meet energy demands through a flexible, diversified and distributed energy portfolio, including energy standards established in Section 62-16-4 NMSA 1978;

(2) designed to support connection of New Mexico's electrical grid into regional energy markets and increase New Mexico's capability to supply regional energy needs through export of clean and renewable electricity;

(3) reasonably expected to increase access to and use of clean and renewable energy, with consideration given for increasing access to low-income users and users in underserved communities;

(4) designed to contribute to the reduction of air pollution, including greenhouse gases;

(5) reasonably expected to support increased product and program offerings by utilities to their customers; allow for private capital investments and skilled jobs in related services; and provide customer protection, information or education;

(6) transparent, incorporating public reporting requirements to inform project design and commission policy; and

(7) otherwise consistent with the state's grid modernization planning process and priorities.

C. Except as provided in Subsection D of this section, a public utility that undertakes grid modernization projects approved by the commission may recover its reasonable costs through an approved tariff rider or in base rates, or by a combination of the two. Costs that are no greater than the amount approved by the commission for a utility grid modernization project are presumed to be reasonable. A tariff rider proposed by a public utility to fund approved grid modernization projects shall go into effect thirty days after filing, unless suspended by the commission for a period not to exceed one hundred eighty days. If the tariff rider is not approved or suspended within thirty days after filing, it shall be deemed approved as a matter of law. If the commission has not acted to approve or disapprove the tariff rider by the end of the suspension period, it shall be deemed approved as a matter of law.

D. Costs for a grid modernization project that only benefits customers of an electric distribution system shall not be recovered from customers served at a level of one hundred ten thousand volts or higher from an electric transmission system in New Mexico.

E. The provisions of this section do not apply to a distribution cooperative organized pursuant to the Rural Electric Cooperative Act [Chapter 62, Article 15 NMSA 1978].

F. As used in this section, "grid modernization" means improvements to electric distribution or transmission infrastructure through investments in assets, technologies or services that are designed to modernize the electrical system by enhancing electric distribution or transmission grid reliability, resilience, interconnection of distributed energy resources, distribution system efficiency, grid security against cyber and physical threats, customer service or energy efficiency and conservation and includes:

(1) advanced metering infrastructure and associated communications networks;

(2) intelligent grid devices for real time or near-real time system and asset information;

(3) automated control systems for electric transmission and distribution circuits and substations;

(4) high-speed, low-latency communications networks for grid device data exchange and remote and automated control of devices;

(5) distribution system hardening projects for circuits and substations designed to reduce service outages or service restoration times, but does not include the conversion of overhead tap lines to underground service;

(6) physical security measures at critical distribution substations;

(7) cybersecurity measures;

(8) systems or technologies that enhance or improve distribution system planning capabilities by the public utility;

- (9) technologies to enable demand response;
- (10) energy storage systems and microgrids that support circuit-level grid stability, power quality, reliability or resiliency or provide temporary backup energy supply;
- (11) infrastructure and equipment necessary to support electric vehicle charging or the electrification of community infrastructure or industrial production, processing, or transportation; and
- (12) new customer information platforms designed to provide improved customer access, greater service options and expanded access to energy usage information.

History: Laws 2020, ch. 15, § 3; 2021, ch. 110, § 1.

The 2021 amendment, effective April 6, 2021, clarified that grid modernization projects may include distribution system hardening projects for circuits and substations designed to reduce service outages or service restoration times, but does not include the conversion of overhead tap lines to underground service; in Subsection F, Paragraph F(5), after "projects for circuits", deleted "not including the conversion of overhead tap lines to underground service", and after "restoration times", added "but does not include the conversion of overhead tap lines to underground service".

Sec.

62-9-1. New construction; ratemaking principles.

62-9-1.1. Additional authority with respect to water and sewer utilities.

62-9-2. Applications by utilities brought under the Public Utility Act.

62-9-2.1. Applications by sewer utilities brought under the Public Utility Act.

62-9-3. Location control; limitations.

62-9-3.1. Limited regulation of certain jointly owned generation facilities.

Sec.

62-9-3.2. Application for determination of right-of-way width.

62-9-4. Authority exercised.

62-9-5. Abandonment of service.

62-9-6. Certificates; application; issuance.

62-9-7. Legislative declaration; voluntary service agreements.

62-9-1. New construction; ratemaking principles.

A. No public utility shall begin the construction or operation of any public utility plant or system or of any extension of any plant or system without first obtaining from the commission a certificate that public convenience and necessity require or will require such construction or operation. This section does not require a public utility to secure a certificate for an extension within any municipality or district within which it lawfully commenced operations before June 13, 1941 or for an extension within or to territory already served by it, necessary in the ordinary course of its business, or for an extension into territory contiguous to that already occupied by it and that is not receiving similar service from another utility. If any public utility or mutual domestic water consumer association in constructing or extending its line, plant or system unreasonably interferes or is about to unreasonably interfere with the service or system of any other public utility or mutual domestic water consumer association rendering the same type of service, the commission, on complaint of the public utility or mutual domestic water consumer association claiming to be injuriously affected, may, upon and pursuant to the applicable procedure provided in Chapter 62, Article 10 NMSA 1978, and after giving due regard to public convenience and necessity, including reasonable service agreements between the utilities, make an order and prescribe just and reasonable terms and conditions in harmony with the Public Utility Act [Articles 1 through 6 and 8 through 13 of Chapter 62 NMSA 1978] to provide for the construction, development and extension, without unnecessary duplication and economic waste.

B. If a certificate of public convenience and necessity is required pursuant to this section for the construction or extension of a generating plant or transmission lines and associated facilities, a public utility may include in the application for the certificate a request that the commission determine the ratemaking principles and treatment that will be applicable for the facilities that are the subject of the application for the certificate. If such a request is made, the commission shall, in the order granting the certificate, set forth the ratemaking principles and treatment that will be applicable to the public utility's stake in the certified facilities in all ratemaking proceedings on and after such time as the facilities are placed in service. The commission shall use the ratemaking principles and treatment specified in the order in all proceedings in which the cost of the public utility's stake in the certified facilities is considered. If the commission later decertifies the facilities, the commission shall apply the ratemaking principles and treatment specified in the original certification order to the costs associated with the facilities that were incurred by the public utility prior to decertification.

C. The commission may approve the application for the certificate without a formal hearing if no protest is filed within sixty days of the date that notice is given, pursuant to commission order, that the application has been filed. The commission shall issue its order granting or denying the application within nine months from the date the application is filed with the commission. Failure to issue its order within nine months is deemed to be approval and final disposition of the application; provided, however, that the commission may extend the time for granting approval for an additional six months for good cause shown.

D. In an application for a certificate of public convenience and necessity for an energy storage system, the commission shall approve energy storage systems that:

- (1) reduce costs to ratepayers by avoiding or deferring the need for investment in new generation and for upgrades to systems for the transmission and distribution of energy;
- (2) reduce the use of fossil fuels for meeting demand during peak load periods and for providing ancillary services;
- (3) assist with ensuring grid reliability, including transmission and distribution system stability, while integrating sources of renewable energy into the grid;
- (4) support diversification of energy resources and enhance grid security;
- (5) reduce greenhouse gases and other air pollutants resulting from power generation;
- (6) provide the public utility with the discretion, subject to applicable laws and rules, to operate, maintain and control energy storage systems so as to ensure reliable and efficient service to customers; and
- (7) are the most cost effective among feasible alternatives.

E. As used in this section:

- (1) "energy storage system" means methods and technologies used to store electricity; and
- (2) "mutual domestic water consumer association" means an association created and organized pursuant to the provisions of:
 - (a) Laws 1947, Chapter 206; Laws 1949, Chapter 79; or Laws 1951, Chapter 52; or
 - (b) the Sanitary Projects Act [Chapter 3, Article 29 NMSA 1978].

History: Laws 1941, ch. 84, § 46; 1941 Comp., § 72-701; 1953 Comp., § 68-7-1; Laws 1965, ch. 289, § 10; 1967, ch. 96, § 1; 1990, ch. 95, § 1; 2000, ch. 51, § 1; 2005, ch. 340, § 1; 2019, ch. 65, § 25.

Compiler's notes. — Sections 62-9-1 to 62-9-7 of the Public Utility Act are still effective as the repeal of Chapter 62, Article 6 by Laws 1998, Chapter 108, Section 82, effective July 1, 2003 Chapter 108, Section 82 was repealed prior to taking effect by Chapter 23, Section 1, Laws 2003. Although Laws 2003, Chapter 336, Section 8, amended Laws 1998, Chapter 82, as amended, an amendment of a repealed section is ineffective. See Quintana v. N.M. Dep't of Corrs., 100 N.M. 224, 668 P.2d 1101 (1983). Laws 2003, Chapter 416, Section 5 also repealed Laws 1998, Chapter 108, Section 82, as amended, a second time, however, that repeal is of no effect as the section had previously been repealed by Chapter 23, Section 1, Laws 2003.

The 2019 amendment, effective June 14, 2019, provided guidelines for the public regulation commission when reviewing for approval an application for a certificate of public convenience and necessity for an energy storage system, and defined "energy storage system; added a new Subsection D and redesignated former Subsection D as Subsection E; in Subsection E, added a new Paragraph E(1) and redesignated former Paragraphs E(1) and E(2) as Subparagraphs E(2)(a) and E(2)(b), respectively.

The 2005 amendment, effective July 1, 2005, added Subsection B to provide for the determination of the rate making principles and treatment that will be applicable for a facility that is subject to a certificate of public convenience and necessity; and added Subsection C to provide for the approval of the certificate of public convenience and necessity without a hearing.

The 2000 amendment, effective May 17, 2000, designated the existing provisions of the section as Subsection A, and in Subsection A deleted "after the effective date of this 1941 act" following "No public utility shall" in the first sentence, substituted "June 13, 1941" for "the effective date of this 1941 act" in the second sentence, deleted "Notwithstanding any other provision of the Public Utility Act, as amended, or any privilege granted under that act" from the beginning of the third sentence, and added Subsection B.

The 1990 amendment, effective May 16, 1990, inserted "or mutual domestic water consumer association" following "public utility" in three places, substituted "Chapter 62, Article 10 NMSA 1978" for "Sections 68-8-1 through 68-8-16 New Mexico Statutes Annotated, 1953 Compilation" in the third sentence and made numerous stylistic changes throughout the section.

ANNOTATIONS

Constitutionality. — The preference in this section indicated by its protection of mutual domestic water consumer associations from invasion by a regulated utility but not from an unregulated utility does not lack a rational basis, and an argument that it unconstitutionally discriminates against the invaded utility solely on the basis of the status of the invader was without merit. Morningstar Water Users Ass'n v. N.M. Pub. Util. Comm'n, 1995-NMSC-062, 120 N.M. 579, 904 P.2d 28 (decided prior to 2000 amendment).

Deference to commission interpretation. — The court will defer to the public regulation commission's interpretation of the ambiguous phrase "unreasonably interfere with the service or system" because the public regulation commission has policy-making authority to plan and coordinate the activities of New Mexico public utilities and because the public regulation commission has developed the expertise to understand the operation of public utilities. Doña Ana Mut. Domestic Water Consumers Ass'n v. N.M. Pub. Regulation Comm'n, 2006-NMSC-032, 140 N.M. 6, 139 P.3d 166.

Interpretation of "unreasonably interfere with the service or system". — The public regulation commission interpretation of the phrase "unreasonably interfere with the service or system", which presumes that all contiguous territory lies within a utility's "service or system", and its definition of "contiguous" to include territory within one-half mile of a public utility's pipes or facilities are not arbitrary or capricious. Doña Ana Mut. Domestic Water Consumers Ass'n v. N.M. Pub. Regulation Comm'n, 2006-NMSC-032, 140 N.M. 6, 139 P.3d 166.

Substantial evidence of interference. — Evidence that encroachment by a competing public utility on the service area of an objecting public utility would interfere with the objecting public utility's physical system, planning to provide future service and ability to realize economies of scale for its customers is substantial evidence of interference with the service or system of the objecting public utility. Doña Ana Mut. Domestic Water Consumers Ass'n v. N.M. Pub. Regulation Comm'n, 2006-NMSC-032, 140 N.M. 6, 139 P.3d 166.

State engineer approval of water rights obtained. — By an encroaching public utility to be used in disputed service area occupied by another public utility does not preclude the public regulation commission from entering an order denying the encroaching public utility the right to provide service in the disputed area. Doña Ana Mut. Domestic Water Consumers Ass'n v. N.M. Pub. Regulation Comm'n, 2006-NMSC-032, 140 N.M. 6, 139 P.3d 166.

Water users association not within commission's jurisdiction. — A water users association formed under Chapter 73, Article 5 NMSA 1978 was not a mutual domestic water consumer within the meaning of this section; further, absent any evidence showing the association was subject to the Public Utility Act, it did not come within the jurisdiction of the public utility commission (now public regulation commission). Morningstar Water Users Ass'n v. N.M. Pub. Util. Comm'n, 1995-NMSC-062, 120 N.M. 579, 904 P.2d 28 (decided prior to 2000 amendment).

City not within commission's jurisdiction. — A city operating a water facility which had not elected to come under the Public Utility Act and which had a population of less than 200,000 was not a public utility within the jurisdiction of the public utility commission (now public regulation commission). Morningstar Water Users Ass'n v. N.M. Pub. Util. Comm'n, 1995-NMSC-062, 120 N.M. 579, 904 P.2d 28 (decided prior to 2000 amendment).

Certificate is needed for construction, but not for extensions where lawfully operating. — This section prohibits construction of any facilities for public utility service without first obtaining a certificate of convenience and necessity, and provides that the holder of a certificate need not get a permit for extensions within a district where it has lawfully commenced operations, or to territory being served by it and necessary in the ordinary course of its business. N.M. Elec. Serv. Co. v. Lea Cnty. Elec. Coop., 1966-NMSC-046, 76 N.M. 434, 415 P.2d 556, cert. denied, 385 U.S. 969, 87 S. Ct. 506, 17 L. Ed. 2d 433.

New certificate not required for service to few transferred customers. — It is not required that utility obtain a new certificate for the purpose of providing service to a few customers who are to be transferred to it from another utility. Gonzales v. Pub. Serv. Comm'n, 1985-NMSC-038, 102 N.M. 529, 697 P.2d 948.

1987 amendment to this section did not annul appellant's certificate of public convenience and necessity which was valid at the date of amendment. Pub. Serv. Co. v. N.M. Pub. Serv. Comm'n, 1974-NMSC-045, 86 N.M. 255, 522 P.2d 802.

Other provisions govern revocation of certificate. — If the commission is assumed to have power to revoke a certificate, the authority as well as the procedure therefor is found in Sections 62-10-1 to 62-10-16 NMSA 1978 rather than in Sections 62-9-1 and 62-9-4 NMSA 1978, as contended by the commission. Pub. Serv. Co. v. N.M. Pub. Serv. Comm'n, 1974-NMSC-045, 86 N.M. 255, 522 P.2d 802; N.M. Elec. Serv. Co. v. Lea Cnty. Elec. Coop., 1966-NMSC-046, 76 N.M. 434, 415 P.2d 556, cert. denied, 385 U.S. 969, 87 S. Ct. 506, 17 L. Ed. 2d 433 (1966).

Commission cannot deny right to continue under valid certificate. — The commission cannot deny to service company its right to continue in the area covered by its certificate if its certificate has been exercised as required by Section 62-9-4 NMSA 1978, or, in other words, if its certificate is valid in the area sought to be served by it, even though other public utilities have overlapping or conflicting certificates; furthermore, the commission cannot hold existing franchise rights null and void, nor can it make an order which would conflict with Section 62-9-2 B NMSA 1978, which states that when certificates granted utilities under that section overlap, certificates theretofore issued and exercised within the time required are valid under Section 62-9-4 NMSA 1978 and both utilities shall be permitted to continue service. Pub. Serv. Co. v. N.M. Pub. Serv. Comm'n, 1974-NMSC-045, 86 N.M. 255, 522 P.2d 802; N.M. Elec. Serv. Co. v. Lea Cnty. Elec. Coop., 1966-NMSC-046, 76 N.M. 434, 415 P.2d 556, cert. denied, 385 U.S. 969, 87 S. Ct. 506, 17 L. Ed. 2d 433.

Even though commission could find certificate void under this section. — A conclusion that the certificate of a public service company was null and void, if based upon proper findings, could probably be made in determining the issues in a hearing under this section as a necessary incident of the larger questions presented thereunder. Pub. Serv. Co. v. N.M. Pub. Serv. Comm'n, 1974-NMSC-045, 86 N.M. 255, 522 P.2d 802; N.M. Elec. Serv. Co. v. Lea Cnty. Elec. Coop., 1966-NMSC-046, 76 N.M. 434, 415 P.2d 556, cert. denied, 385 U.S. 969, 87 S. Ct. 506, 17 L. Ed. 2d 433.

If holder does not exercise certificate in time. — A certificate of public convenience and necessity cannot be declared null and void in the absence of findings by the commission, based upon substantial evidence, that the certificate holder failed to exercise its right with diligence. Pub. Serv. Co. v. N.M. Pub. Serv. Comm'n, 1974-NMSC-045, 86 N.M. 255, 522 P.2d 802; *N.M. Elec. Serv. Co. v. Lea Cnty. Elec. Formerly, section did not apply to rural electric cooperatives. Socorro Elec. Coop. v. Pub. Serv. Co., 1959-NMSC-105, 66 N.M. 343, 348 P.2d 88; 1957-58 Op. Att'y Gen. No. 57-31.

Section does not apply to water and sanitation districts. — Water and sanitation districts are not required by statute to obtain a certificate of convenience

62-9-1.1. Additional authority with respect to water and sewer utilities.

A. Notwithstanding any other provision of the Public Utility Act [Chapter 62, Articles 1 through 6 and 8 through 13 NMSA 1978], or any provision of the Municipal Code [Chapter 3 NMSA 1978, except Article 66], or any privilege granted under either act, if any municipality that has not elected to come within the terms of the Public Utility Act, as provided in Section 62-6-5 NMSA 1978, constructs or extends or proposes to construct or extend its water or sewer line or system or water pumping station or reservoir into a geographical area described in a certificate of public convenience and necessity granted by the commission to a public utility rendering the same type of service, the commission, on complaint of the public utility claiming to be injuriously affected thereby, shall, after giving notice to the municipality and affording the municipality an opportunity for a hearing with respect to the issue of whether its water or sewer line, plant or system actually intrudes or will intrude into the area certificated to the public utility, determine whether such intrusion has occurred or will occur. If the commission determines such an intrusion has occurred or will occur, the municipality owning or operating the water or sewer utility shall cease and desist from making such construction or extension in the absence of written consent of the public utility involved and approval of the commission.

B. The authority and jurisdiction conferred by Subsection A of this section shall be in addition and cumulative to the independent authority of the commission to determine territorial disputes between public utilities and between mutual domestic water consumer associations and public utilities as provided in Section 62-9-1 NMSA 1978, which provisions shall govern the resolution of a territorial dispute between a municipality that has elected to come within the terms of the Public Utility Act, as provided in Section 62-6-5 NMSA 1978, and any other public utility rendering the same type of service. Provided, however, in the event that a certificate of public convenience and necessity granted to such a municipality overlaps, or conflicts with, a valid certificate previously issued by the commission and exercised within the term required under Section 62-9-4 NMSA 1978, the municipal utility shall be permitted to continue operation of its plant, line and system in existence upon the effective date of this 1991 act and the other public utility may continue service in the area covered by its certificate, subject to the other provisions of the Public Utility Act.

C. For purposes of this section, "municipality" means any municipality that has a population of more than two hundred thousand as determined in the most recent federal decennial census and is located in a class A county.

History: Laws 1991, ch. 143, § 2.

Compiler's notes. — Sections 62-9-1 to 62-9-7 of the Public Utility Act are still effective as the repeal of Chapter 62, Article 6 by Laws 1998, Chapter 108, Section 82, effective July 1, 2003 Chapter 108, Section 82 was repealed prior to taking effect by Chapter 23, Section 1, Laws 2003. ANNOTATIONS

Right of municipality to provide service in the certified area of a public utility. — Where the public regulation commission issued the public utility a certificate of public convenience and necessity authorizing the public utility to provide water in an area outside the limits of the municipality; the municipality later annexed three undeveloped tracts of land within the public utility's certified area, subdivided the land and committed itself to provide water to the subdivision; and the municipality had not elected to become subject to the Public Utilities Act, Section 62-1-1 NMSA 1978 et seq., and did not have a population of more than 200,000, the public utility's certificate of public convenience and necessity did not prevent the municipality from competing with the public utility in the certified area because the municipality was not subject to the Public Utilities Act. Moongate Water Co., Inc. v. City of Las Cruces, 2013-NMSC-018, 302 P.3d 405, affg 2012-NMCA-003, 269 P.3d 1.

Certificate of convenience and necessity did not grant exclusive service rights against a small municipality. — A certificate of public convenience and necessity issued by the public regulation commission does not grant a public utility service rights against a municipality that has a population less than or equal to two hundred thousand people and that has not elected to be subject to the Public Utility Act. Moongate Water Co., Inc. v. City of Las Cruces, 2012-NMCA-003, 269 P.3d 1, cert. granted, 2012-NMCERT-001.

Where a privately owned and regulated public utility company held a certificate of convenience and necessity issued by the public regulation commission to provide water service to residents in an area of new residential subdivisions; a municipality annexed the area, extended its water utility infrastructure into the area as part of its municipal water utility system, and began providing water service to residents in the area; and the municipality had a population of less than two hundred thousand and had not elected to be subject to the Public Utility Act, the certificate of convenience and necessity did not give the public utility exclusive service rights in the area against the municipal water system. Moongate Water Co., Inc. v. City of Las Cruces, 2012-NMCA-003, 269 P.3d 1, cert. granted, 2012-NMCERT-001.

City not within commission's jurisdiction. — A city operating a water facility which had not elected to come under the Public Utility Act and which had a population of less than 200,000 was not a public utility within the jurisdiction of the public utility commission (now public regulation commission). Morningstar Water Users Ass'n v. N.M. Pub. Util. Comm'n, 1995-NMSC-062, 120 N.M. 579, 904 P.2d 28.

62-9-2. Applications by utilities brought under the Public Utility Act.

A. Within sixty days after the effective date of this 1967 act, each utility brought within the jurisdiction of the commission by virtue of this 1967 act shall file with the commission an application, in such form as may be prescribed by the commission, for a certificate of public convenience and necessity covering its present plant, lines and system. Upon proof of the existence and operation of the plant, lines and system upon the effective date of this 1967 act, the commission shall grant the certificate to the utility.

B. In the event the certificate granted a utility under Subsection A of this section overlaps or conflicts with a valid certificate heretofore issued by the commission and exercised within the time required under Section 62-9-4 NMSA 1978, both certificates shall be valid and both utilities shall be permitted to continue service subject to the other provisions of the Public Utility Act [Chapter 62, Articles 1 through 6 and 8 through 13 NMSA 1978], as amended.

History: 1953 Comp., § 68-7-1.1, enacted by Laws 1967, ch. 96, § 7; 1993, ch. 282, § 35.

Repeals and reenactments. — Laws 1967, ch. 96, § 7, repealed 68-7-1.1, 1953 Comp., relating to applications by utilities covered by the Public Utility Act by virtue of Laws 1961, ch. 89, and enacted the above section.

Compiler's notes. — The words "this 1967 act," appearing in Subsection A, refer to Laws 1967, ch. 96, compiled as 62-3-1 to 62-3-4, 62-6-8, 62-8-8, 62-9-1, 62-9-2 and 62-9-6 NMSA 1978.

Sections 62-9-1 to 62-9-7 of the Public Utility Act are still effective as the repeal of Chapter 62, Article 6 by Laws 1998, Chapter 108, Section 82, effective July 1, 2003. Chapter 108, Section 82 was repealed prior to taking effect by Chapter 23, Section 1, Laws 2003. Although Laws 2003, Chapter 336, Section 8, amended Laws 1998, Chapter 82, as amended, an amendment of a repealed section is ineffective. See Quintana v. N.M. Dep't of Corrs., 100 N.M. 224, 668 P.2d 1101 (1983). Laws 2003, Chapter 416, Section 5 also repealed Laws 1998, Chapter 108, Section 82, as amended, a second time, however, that repeal is of no effect as the section had previously been repealed by Chapter 23, Section 1, Laws 2003.

The 1993 amendment, effective June 18, 1993, in Subsection A, deleted "public service" following "jurisdiction of" and made stylistic changes; and substituted "Section 62-9-4 NMSA 1978" for "Section 68-7-2 New Mexico Statutes Annotated, 1953 Compilation" in Subsection B.

Certificate cannot be held void unless not exercised diligently. — A certificate of public convenience and necessity cannot be declared null and void in the absence of findings by the commission, based upon substantial evidence, that the certificate holder failed to exercise its right with diligence. Public Serv. Co. v. N.M. Pub. Serv. Comm'n, 1974-NMSC-045, 86 N.M. 255, 522 P.2d 802.

Application covering existing facilities must be granted. — Upon timely filing of an application for a certificate of public convenience and necessity to cover a cooperative's "present plant, lines and system" and upon proof that the same are in existence and operating, the certificate so applied for must be granted. Lea Cnty. Elec. Coop. v. N.M. Pub. Serv. Comm'n, 1965-NMSC-057, 75 N.M. 191, 402 P.2d 377, cert. denied, 385 U.S. 969, 87 S. Ct. 506, 17 L. Ed. 2d 433 (1966) (decided under former similar provision).

Regardless of conflicting or overlapping certificates. — The commission cannot deny to service company its right to continue in the area covered by its certificate if its certificate has been exercised as required by Section 62-9-4 NMSA 1978, or, in other words, if its certificate is valid in the area sought to be served by it, even though other public utilities have overlapping or conflicting certificates; furthermore, the commission cannot hold existing franchise rights null and void, nor can it make an order which would conflict with this section, which states that when certificates granted utilities under this section overlap, certificates theretofore issued and exercised within the time required are valid under Section 62-9-4 NMSA 1978 and both utilities shall be permitted to continue service. Public Serv. Co. v. N.M. Pub. Serv. Comm'n, 1974-NMSC-045, 86 N.M. 255, 522 P.2d 802; N.M. Elec. Serv. Co. v. Lea Cnty. Elec. Coop., 1966-NMSC-046, 76 N.M. 434, 415 P.2d 556, cert. denied, 385 U.S. 969, 87 S. Ct. 506, 17 L. Ed. 2d 433.

New certificate and conflicting or overlapping certificate are both valid. — Subsection B provides that both the certificate so granted as well as any pre-existing certificate overlapping or conflicting with that granted to the cooperative shall be valid and the service under both shall continue. No suggestion of delineation of areas or territory served or to be served is contained in the plain language used by the legislature. Lea Cnty.

62-9-2.1. Applications by sewer utilities brought under the Public Utility Act.

Within six months after the effective date of these 1987 amendments to the Public Utility Act [Chapter 62, Articles 1 through 6 and 8 through 13 NMSA 1978], each sewer utility brought within the jurisdiction of the commission by virtue of these 1987 amendments to the Public Utility Act shall file with the commission an application, in such form as may be prescribed by the commission, for a certificate of public convenience and necessity covering its present plant, lines and system. Upon proof of the existence and operation thereof upon the effective date of these 1987 amendments to the Public Utility Act, the commission shall grant to the utility such certificate. The commission shall enter upon a hearing to determine whether the rate or rates of such a sewer utility in effect on the effective date of these amendments to the Public Utility Act are just and reasonable pursuant to Subsection D of Section 62-8-7 NMSA 1978 upon the filing with the commission of protests signed by ten percent or more of the ratepayers receiving sewer service from such a sewer utility. For purposes of this section, each person who receives a separate bill equals one ratepayer and each person who receives multiple bills equals one ratepayer. The protest shall be signed by the person in whose name service is carried. The protests shall be filed no later than sixty days after the filing with the commission of an application by the sewer utility for a certificate of public convenience and necessity as prescribed by this section. Each sewer utility filing an application for a certificate of public convenience and necessity under this section shall be required at the time of filing to give written notice to its ratepayers of the filing of its application and the ratepayers' rights to protest its rates under this section.

History: Laws 1987, ch. 52, § 4; 1993, ch. 282, § 36.

Compiler's notes. — The terms "these amendments" and "these 1987 amendments," referred to throughout the first three sentences, apparently mean Laws 1987, ch. 52, which appears as Sections 62-3-2.1, 62-3-3, 62-8-7.1 and 62-9-2.1 NMSA 1978.

Sections 62-9-1 to 62-9-7 of the Public Utility Act are still effective as the repeal of Chapter 62, Article 6 by Laws 1998, Chapter 108, Section 82, effective July 1, 2003 Chapter 108, Section 82 was repealed prior to taking effect by Chapter 23, Section 1, Laws 2003. Although Laws 2003, Chapter 336, Section 8, amended Laws 1998, Chapter 82, as amended, an amendment of a repealed section is ineffective. See Quintana v. N.M. Dep't of Corrs., 100 N.M. 224, 668 P.2d 1101 (1983). Laws 2003, Chapter 416, Section 5 also repealed Laws 1998, Chapter 108, Section 82, as amended, a second time, however, that repeal is of no effect as the section had previously been repealed by Chapter 23, Section 1, Laws 2003.

The 1993 amendment, effective June 18, 1993, in the first sentence, inserted "1987" preceding "amendments" and substituted "the commission" for "the public service commission"; made a stylistic change in the second sentence; and substituted "The commission" for "The public service commission" at the beginning of the third sentence.

62-9-3. Location control; limitations.

A. The legislature finds that it is in the public interest to consider any adverse effect upon the environment and upon the quality of life of the people of the state that may occur due to plants, facilities and transmission lines needed to supply present and future electrical services. It is recognized that such plants, facilities and transmission lines will be needed to meet growing demands for electric services and cannot be built without in some way affecting the physical environment where these plants, facilities and transmission lines are located. The legislature therefore declares that it is the purpose of this section to provide for the supervision and control by the commission of the location within this state of new plants, facilities and transmission lines for the generation and transmission of electricity for sale to the public.

B. A person, including any municipality, shall not begin the construction of any plant designed for or capable of operation at a capacity of three hundred thousand kilowatts or more for the generation of electricity for sale to the public within or without this state, whether or not owned or operated by a person that is a public utility subject to regulation by the commission, or of transmission lines in connection with such a plant, on a location within this state unless the location has been approved by the commission. For the purposes of this section, "transmission line" means any electric transmission line and associated facilities designed for or capable of operations at a nominal voltage of two hundred thirty kilovolts or more, to be constructed in connection with and to transmit electricity from a new plant for which approval is required.

C. Application for approval shall contain all information required by the commission to make its determination, be made in writing setting forth the facts involved and be filed with the commission. The commission shall, after a public hearing and upon notice as the commission may prescribe, act upon the application. The commission may condition its approval upon a demonstration by the applicant that it has received all necessary air and water quality permits. A public utility regulated by the commission may submit an application pursuant to Section 62-9-1 NMSA 1978 for a certificate of public convenience and necessity prior to filing an application for location approval pursuant to this section in order to determine the need for the generating plant or transmission line prior to determination of the appropriate location.

D. Approval shall not be required for additions to or modifications of an existing plant or transmission line.

E. The commission shall approve the application for the location of the generating plant unless the commission finds that the operations of the facilities for which approval is sought will not be in compliance with all applicable air and water pollution control standards and regulations existing or will unduly impair system reliability. The commission shall not require compliance with performance standards other than those established by the agency of this state having jurisdiction over a particular pollution source.

F. The commission shall approve the application for the location of the transmission lines unless the commission finds that the location will unduly impair important environmental values or the operation of the proposed transmission lines will unduly impair power system reliability.

G. An application shall not be approved pursuant to this section that violates an existing state, county or municipal land use statutory or administrative regulation unless the commission finds that the regulation is unreasonably restrictive and compliance with the regulation is not in the interest of the public convenience and necessity, in which event and to the extent found by the commission, the regulation shall be inapplicable and void as to the siting. When it becomes apparent to the commission that an issue exists with respect to whether a regulation is unreasonably restrictive and compliance with the regulation is not in the interest of public convenience and necessity, it shall promptly serve notice of that fact by certified mail upon the agency, board or commission having jurisdiction for land use of the area affected and shall make the agency, board or commission a party to the proceedings upon its request and shall give it an opportunity to respond to the issue. The judgment of the commission shall be conclusive on all questions of siting, land use, aesthetics and any other state or local requirements affecting the siting.

H. A public utility subject to the jurisdiction of the commission may elect to file an application pursuant to this section with the commission for location approval of an electric transmission line or associated facilities designed for or capable of operation at a nominal voltage of one hundred fifteen kilovolts or more but less than two hundred thirty kilovolts if:

- (1) the public utility files an application for construction, extension, rebuilding or improvement of the electric transmission line or associated equipment under any applicable county or municipal land use statute, ordinance or administrative regulation; and

- (2) the agency, board or commission of the county or municipality disapproves the application. For purposes of this subsection, "disapprove" means the failure of the county or municipal agency, board or commission to issue a final order approving the application within two hundred forty days of the public utility's filing of a complete application with the agency, board or commission. An application shall be deemed complete if within fifteen working days of the public utility's filing of the application, or a supplement or amendment thereto, the agency, board or commission fails to send written notice to the public utility enumerating the specific requirements under the applicable county or municipal land use statute, ordinance or administrative regulation that the application fails to satisfy.

I. Upon consideration of the application and the standards set forth in Subsection G of this section, the commission may authorize construction, extension, rebuilding or improvement of the transmission line or facilities notwithstanding the prior disapproval of the county or municipal agency, board or commission. The judgment of the commission shall be conclusive on all questions of siting, land use, aesthetics and any other state or local requirements affecting the siting.

J. Nothing in this section shall be deemed to confer upon the commission power or jurisdiction to regulate or supervise any person, including a municipality, that is not otherwise a public utility regulated and supervised by the commission, with respect to its rates and service and with respect to its securities, nor shall any other provision of the Public Utility Act be applicable with respect to such a person, including a municipality.

K. The commission may approve an application filed pursuant to this section without a formal hearing if no protest is filed within sixty days of the date that notice is given that the application has been filed. The commission shall issue its order granting or denying the application within six months from the date the application is filed with the commission; provided, however, that:

(1) if a public utility simultaneously files an application for approval of location of a transmission line pursuant to this section and an application for a certificate of public convenience and necessity pursuant to Subsection B of Section 62-9-1 NMSA 1978, the commission shall issue its order granting or denying the applications within nine months from the date the applications are filed with the commission; provided, however, that the commission may extend the time for granting approval an additional six months for good cause shown;

(2) if a public utility files an application for approval of location of a transmission line pursuant to this section after its application for a certificate of public convenience and necessity has been approved pursuant to Subsection B of Section 62-9-1 NMSA 1978, the commission shall issue its order granting or denying the application for approval of location of a transmission line within ninety days from the date the application is filed with the commission; and

(3) if a public utility files an application for approval of location of a transmission line pursuant to this section while its application for a certificate of public convenience and necessity is pending pursuant to Subsection B of Section 62-9-1 NMSA 1978, and the application for a certificate is subsequently approved, the commission shall issue its order granting or denying the application for approval of location of a transmission line within ninety days from the date the application for certificate of public convenience and necessity is approved.

L. Failure to issue its order approving or denying an application filed pursuant to this section within the time periods set forth in Subsection [J] K of this section is deemed to be approval of the application; provided, however, that the commission may extend the time for granting approval for a transmission line that is subject to this section for an additional nine months upon finding that the additional time is necessary to determine if the proposed location of the line will unduly impair important environmental values.

M. In determining if the proposed location of the transmission line will unduly impair important environmental values, the commission may consider the following factors:

- (1) existing plans of the state, local government and private entities for other developments at or in the vicinity of the proposed location;
- (2) fish, wildlife and plant life;
- (3) noise emission levels and interference with communication signals;
- (4) the proposed availability of the location to the public for recreational purposes, consistent with safety considerations and regulations;
- (5) existing scenic areas, historic, cultural or religious sites and structures or archaeological sites at or in the vicinity of the proposed location; and
- (6) additional factors that require consideration under applicable federal and state laws pertaining to the location.

Compiler's notes. — Sections 62-9-1 to 62-9-7 of the Public Utility Act are still effective as the repeal of Chapter 62, Article 6 by Laws 1998, Chapter 108, Section 82, effective July 1, 2003 Chapter 108, Section 82 was repealed prior to taking effect by Chapter 23, Section 1, Laws 2003. Although Laws 2003, Chapter 336, Section 8, amended Laws 1998, Chapter 82, as amended, an amendment of a repealed section is ineffective. See Quintana v. N.M. Dep't of Corrs., 100 N.M. 224, 668 P.2d 1101 (1983). Laws 2003, Chapter 416, Section 5 also repealed Laws 1998, Chapter 108, Section 82, as amended, a second time, however, that repeal is of no effect as the section had previously been repealed by Chapter 23, Section 1, Laws 2003.

2005 Multiple Amendments. — Laws 2005, ch. 339, § 6 and Laws 2005, ch. 340, § 2, both effective July 1, 2005, enacted different amendments to this section that can be reconciled. Pursuant to 12-1-8 NMSA 1978, Laws 2005, ch. 340,

§ 2, as the last act signed by the governor, is set out above and incorporates both amendments. The amendments enacted by Laws 2005, ch. 339, § 6, and Laws 2005, ch. 340, § 2 are described below. To view the session laws in their entirety, see the 2005 session laws on NMOneSource.com.

The nature of the difference between the amendments is that Laws 2005, ch. 339, § 6, made substantive changes dealing with system reliability, and also made several minor technical changes. Laws 2005, ch. 340, § 2, provided that a public utility may apply for a certificate of public convenience and necessity before applying for location approval in order to determine the need for the plant or line prior to a determination of the appropriate location, provided a list of conditions that permit a public utility to file an application for location approval for an electric transmission line, provided for the authorization of a transmission line that has been disapproved by a county or municipal agency, board or commission, provided that the commission may approve an application without a hearing if no protest is filed within sixty days after notice has been given that an application has been filed, provided that if a public utility simultaneously files an application for location approval and an application for a certificate of public convenience and necessity, the commission shall issue its order within nine months after the applications are filed, provided that if a public utility files an application for location approval after an application for a certificate of public convenience and necessity has been approved, the commission shall issue its order within ninety days after the application is filed, and that if a public utility files an application for location approval while its application for public convenience and necessity is pending and the application for a certificate is subsequently approved, the commission shall issue its order within ninety days after the application for a certificate is approved, provided that failure to issue its order approving or denying an application filed pursuant to this section within the time periods set forth in this section is deemed to be approval of the application, and provided criteria for determining if a location of a transmission line will unduly impair environmental value.

Laws 2005, ch. 340, § 2, effective July 1, 2005, provided in Subsection C that a public utility may apply for a certificate of public convenience and necessity before applying for location approval in order to determine the need for the plant or line prior to a determination of the appropriate location; deleted the former provision in Subsection E, which provided that no approval is required for construction in progress on the effective date of this section; added Subsection H to provide for the conditions that permit a public utility to file an application for location approval for an electric transmission line; added Subsection I to provide for the authorization of a transmission line that has been disapproved by a county or municipal agency, board or commission; provided in Subsection K that the commission may approve an application without a hearing if no protest is filed within sixty days after notice has been given that an application has been filed; added Subsection K (1) through (3) to provide that if a public utility simultaneously files an application for location approval and an application for a certificate of public convenience and necessity, the commission shall issue its order within nine months after the applications are filed; provided that if a public utility files an application for location approval after an application for a certificate of public convenience and necessity has been approved, the commission shall issue its order within ninety days after the application is filed; and that if a public utility files an application for location approval while its application for public convenience and necessity is pending and the application for a certificate is subsequently approved, the commission shall issue its order within ninety days after the application for a certificate is approved; provided in Subsection L that failure to issue its order approving or denying an application filed pursuant to this section within the time period set forth in Subsection J is deemed approval and deleted for former time period of six month within which the commission had to issue an order; and added Subsection M to provide criteria for determining if a location of a transmission line will unduly impair environmental value.

Laws 2005, ch. 339, § 6, effective July 1, 2005, changed "lines" to "transmission lines" in Subsection A; provided in Subsection E that the commission shall approve the location of the plant unless the commission finds that the operations of the facilities will unduly impair system reliability; and provided in Subsection F that the commission shall approve the location of the transmission lines unless the commission finds that the operation of the transmission lines will unduly impair power system reliability, and provided:

The 2001 amendment, effective June 15, 2001, deleted "within this state" following "a public utility subject to regulation by the commission" in Subsection B; deleted former Subsection C, concerning application for approval by an existing public utility; redesignated the subsequent subsections; in present Subsection C, deleted "If a person is not a public utility regulated by the commission" from the beginning of the subsection, added the "all information" requirement, and added the approval condition at the end of the subsection; substituted "section" for "act" in current Subsection D; added Subsection I; and made stylistic changes throughout the section.

ANNOTATIONS

Scope of commission authority. — Because the legislature empowered the public regulation commission to modify the common-law rule of relocation only for local regulations deemed unreasonable under Subsection G of this section, a tariff permitting the Public Service Company of New Mexico to recover relocation costs was ultra vires where the commission made no finding that the ordinance requiring the relocation was unreasonable. City of Albuquerque v. N.M. Pub. Regulation Comm'n, 2003-NMSC-028, 134 N.M. 472, 79 P.3d 297.

The commission's attempt to preempt local regulations imposing the costs of relocation on the Public Service Company of New Mexico was an unlawful infringement on the power of local governments to regulate the use of public ways by utilities. *City of Albuquerque v. 62-9-3.1. Limited regulation of certain jointly owned generation facilities.

No municipality or H class county shall hereafter begin construction or operation of any jointly owned generating facility within this state without first obtaining from the commission a certificate that public convenience and necessity require or will require such construction or operation; provided, however, that the commission's regulation shall be limited to such determination unless the municipality or H class county has elected to come under the general supervision of the commission as provided by law.

Sections 62-9-1 to 62-9-7 of the Public Utility Act are still effective as the repeal of Chapter 62, Article 6 by Laws 1998, Chapter 108, Section 82, effective July 1, 2003 Chapter 108, Section 82 was repealed prior to taking effect by Chapter 23, Section 1, Laws 2003. Chapter 82, as amended, an amendment of a repealed section is ineffective. See Quintana v. N.M. Dep't of Corrs., 100 N.M. 224, 668 P.2d 1101 (1983). Severability. — Laws 1979, ch. 260, § 20, provided for the severability of the act if any part or application thereof is held invalid.

62-9-3.2. Application for determination of right-of-way width.

A. Unless otherwise agreed to by the parties, no person shall begin the construction of any transmission line requiring a width for right of way of greater than one hundred feet without first obtaining from the commission a determination of the necessary right-of-way width to construct and maintain the transmission line. For the purposes of this subsection, "construction" does not include acquisition of rights of way, preparation of surveys or ordering of equipment.

B. For the purposes of this section, "transmission line" means any electric transmission line and associated facilities requiring a width for right of way of greater than one hundred feet.

C. Application for the right-of-way width determination shall contain all information required by the commission to make its determination, be made in writing, setting forth the facts involved, and be filed with the commission.

D. The applicant shall cause notice of the time and place of hearing on the application for the right-of-way determination to be given to any owner of property proposed to be taken and, if applicable, to the person in actual occupancy of the property. Notice shall be given by mailing a copy by ordinary first class mail at least twenty days before the time set for hearing. Proof of the giving of notice shall be made on or before the hearing and filed in the proceeding.

E. The commission shall, after public hearing, act upon the application.

F. The commission shall issue its order granting or denying the application within six months from the date the application is filed with the commission. Failure to issue its order within six months is deemed to be approval of the application.

The 2001 amendment, effective June 15, 2001, deleted former Subsection C, concerning application by a person regulated by the commission; redesignated the subsequent subsections; in current Subsection C, deleted language concerning application by persons not regulated by the commission, and inserted the "all information" requirement; and added Subsection F.

The 1993 amendment, effective June 18, 1993, deleted "public service" preceding "commission" in the first sentence of Subsection A; and made minor stylistic changes in Subsections A and E.

62-9-5. Abandonment of service.

No utility shall abandon all or any portion of its facilities subject to the jurisdiction of the commission, or any service rendered by means of such facilities, without first obtaining the permission and approval of the commission. The commission shall grant such permission and approval, after notice and hearing, upon finding that the continuation of service is unwarranted or that the present and future public convenience and necessity do not otherwise require the continuation of the service or use of the facility; provided, however, that ordinary discontinuance of service or use of facilities for nonpayment of charges, nonuser or other reasons in the usual course of business shall not be considered as abandonment. In considering the present and future public convenience and necessity, the commission shall specifically consider the impact of the proposed abandonment of service on all consumers served in this state, directly or indirectly, by the facilities sought to be abandoned.

The 2005 amendment, effective June 17, 2005, provided that in considering public necessity, the commission shall consider the impact the abandonment of service on all customers served, directly or indirectly, by the facilities sought to be abandoned.

The 1983 amendment deleted "regulated" at the end of the catchline and rewrote the text of the section.

ANNOTATIONS

Constitutionality of commission's actions. — Exclusion of an electric utility's interest in a generating facility from its rate base, coupled with the commission's refusal to decertify the facility, did not violate the due process provisions or the takings clauses of the New Mexico and United States constitutions. Public Serv. Co. v. Public Serv. Comm'n, 1991-NMSC-083, 112 N.M. 379, 815 P.2d 1169.

Construction of section. — The first part of this section refers to "continuation of service", while the second part addresses "continuation of the service or use of the facility". Thus, the section is written in the disjunctive to provide not for alternative bases upon which decertification of facilities is authorized, but for distinct factual scenarios giving rise to abandonment. Public Serv. Co. v. Public Serv. Comm'n, 1991-NMSC-083, 112 N.M. 379, 815 P.2d 1169.

Jurisdiction of municipal condemnation of public utility. — This section and Section 62-6-12A(4) NMSA 1978 (sale of assets) do not give the commission jurisdiction over municipal condemnations of regulated water and sewer utilities. United Water N.M., Inc. v. N.M. Pub. Util. Comm'n, 1996-NMSC-007, 121 N.M. 272, 910 P.2d 906.

Certificate is no longer necessary for abandonment of service; all that is required is the commission's permission and approval. Gonzales v. Public Serv. Comm'n, 1985-NMSC-038, 102 N.M. 529, 697 P.2d 948.

Application to sale of vacant land. — Sale of 41 vacant acres within 2,564-acre electric utility site was not an "abandonment" of a "facility," and did not require the permission and approval of the commission. Plains Elec. Generation & Transmission Coop. v. N.M. Pub. Util. Comm'n, 1998-NMSC-038, 126 N.M. 152, 967 P.2d 827.

Burden of proof. — Utility, as the movant for abandonment, bore the burden to establish the factual predicate upon which the commission could base its decision to grant or deny abandonment. Public Serv. Co. v. Public Serv. Comm'n, 1991-NMSC-083, 112 N.M. 379, 815 P.2d 1169.

Utility's assertion that "exclusion from rates of the 26.10% interest in that unit . . . represents a loss in terms of capital costs alone of $19.8 million a year" fell short of the required showing, where the utility failed to demonstrate with any degree of certainty the overall impact continued regulation had on its financial condition. Public Serv. Co. v. Public Serv. Comm'n, 1991-NMSC-083, 112 N.M. 379, 815 P.2d 1169.

Mandamus was the appropriate remedy where the New Mexico public regulation commission refused to follow a nondiscretionary duty. — Where petitioners filed an emergency petition on behalf of the state of New Mexico seeking a writ of mandamus against the New Mexico public regulation commission (commission) to direct the commission and its individual commissioners to apply the Energy Transition Act (ETA), 62-18-1 to 62-18-23 NMSA 1978, to proceedings related to public service company of New Mexico's (PNM) abandonment of units one and four of the San Juan generating station (San Juan), and where the commission asserted that the ETA did not apply because abandonment proceedings had already begun prior to the ETA's enactment, petition for writ of mandamus was granted because the commission did not have the authority to initiate an abandonment proceeding, and as a matter of law, abandonment proceedings for San Juan units one and four did not effectively begin until PNM filed its application for abandonment, which was after the ETA was enacted. The ETA serves as the statutory scheme that the legislature provided for abandonment proceedings, and therefore the commission had a nondiscretionary obligation to apply the ETA to the San Juan abandonment proceedings. *State ex rel. 62-9-6. Certificates; application; issuance.

Before any certificate may be issued under Sections 62-9-1 through 62-9-6 New Mexico Statutes Annotated, 1978 Compilation, a certified copy of its articles of incorporation or charter, if the applicant be a corporation, shall be on file in the office of the commission. Every applicant for a certificate shall give such reasonable notice of its application as the commission may require and shall file in the office of the commission such evidence as shall be required by the commission to show that such applicant has received the consent and franchise from the municipality wherein construction and operation is proposed. The commission shall have power, after hearing, to issue said certificate, as prayed for, or to refuse to issue the same, or to issue it for the construction or operation of a portion only of the contemplated facility, line, plant or system, or extension thereof, or for the partial exercise only of said rights or privilege, and may attach to the exercise of the rights granted by said certificates such terms and conditions in harmony with the Public Utility Act [Chapter 62, Articles 1 through 6 and 8 through 13 NMSA 1978], as amended, as in its judgment the public convenience and necessity may require. Except as otherwise provided in Section 62-9-2 New Mexico Statutes Annotated, 1978 Compilation, in determining whether any certificate shall issue as prayed for, the commission shall give due regard to public convenience and necessity including, but not limited to, any reasonable service agreement between the applicant and another utility and unnecessary duplication and economic waste. Whenever a public utility is engaged or is about to engage in construction or operation without having secured a certificate of public convenience and necessity as required by the provisions of the Public Utility Act, as amended, any interested person may file a complaint with the commission. The commission may, with or without notice, make its order requiring the public utility complained of to cease and desist from such construction or operation until the commission makes and files its decision on said complaint or until the further order of the commission. The commission may after hearing, after reasonable notice, make such order and prescribe such terms and conditions in harmony with the Public Utility Act, as amended, as are just and reasonable.

repealed prior to taking effect by Chapter 23, Section 1, Laws 2003. ANNOTATIONS

Provision of non-utility services. — Because electric utility's Certificate of Convenience and Necessity (CCN) contained no specific restrictions regarding non-utility use, the commission incorrectly determined that the utility violated the CCN when it provided or agreed to provide non-utility services to paper company. Plains Elec. Generation & Transmission Coop. v. N.M. Pub. Util. Comm'n, 1998-NMSC-038, 126 N.M. 152, 967 P.2d 827.

62-9-7. Legislative declaration; voluntary service agreements.

A. The legislature declares that the existing scheme of public utility regulation is adequate to exempt voluntary service agreements, as approved and regulated pursuant to the Public Utility Act [Chapter 62, Articles 1 through 6 and 8 through 13 NMSA 1978], from the antitrust laws.

B. In exercising its authority pursuant to Chapter 62, Article 9 NMSA 1978, the commission may, after public hearing upon at least twenty days notice, approve voluntary service agreements between utilities providing similar service proposing the delineation between themselves of one or more service areas in which each shall be entitled to furnish service, if the commission first determines that the proposed delineation of service areas is consistent with the public convenience and necessity and otherwise conforms to the Public Utility Act.

C. Voluntary service agreements that the commission, after public notice and hearing, has previously approved are deemed to comply with Subsection A of this section and to have the same effect as if approved pursuant to Subsection B of this section.

D. Approval of a voluntary service agreement shall not affect the duties and restrictions imposed upon a public utility pursuant to Chapter 62, Article 8 NMSA 1978.

Article governs revocation of certificate of convenience and necessity. — If the commission is assumed to have power to revoke a certificate of public convenience and necessity, the authority as well as the procedure therefor would be found in this article rather than in Sections 62-9-1 and 62-9-4 NMSA 1978 even though a conclusion that the certificate of the service company was null and void, if based upon proper findings, could probably be made in determining the issues in a hearing under Section 62-9-1 NMSA 1978 as a necessary incident of the larger questions presented thereunder. *Public Serv. Review of Commission Orders

Sec.
62-11-1. Right of appeal.

62-11-1. Right of appeal.

Any party to any proceeding before the commission may file a notice of appeal in the supreme court asking for a review of the commission's final orders. If an application for rehearing has been filed, a notice of appeal must be filed within thirty days after the application for rehearing has been refused or deemed refused because of the commission's failure to act within the time specified in Section 62-10-16 NMSA 1978. If an application for rehearing has not been filed, a notice of appeal must be filed within thirty days after the entry of the commission's final order. Every notice of appeal shall name the commission as appellee and shall identify the order from which the appeal is taken. Any person whose rights may be directly affected by the appeal may appear and become a party, or the supreme court may, upon proper notice, order any person to be joined as a party.

Compiler's notes. — Sections 62-11-1 to 62-11-6 of the Public Utility Act are still effective as the repeal of Chapter 62, Article 6 by Laws 1998, Chapter 108, Section 82, effective July 1, 2003 Chapter 108, Section 82 was repealed prior to taking effect by Chapter 23, Section 1, Laws 2003. Although Laws 2003, Chapter 336, Section 8, amended Laws 1998, Chapter 82, as amended, an amendment of a repealed section is ineffective. See Quintana v. N.M. Dep't of Corrs., 100 N.M. 224, 668 P.2d 1101 (1983). Laws 2003, Chapter 416, Section 5 also repealed Laws 1998, Chapter 108, Section 82, as amended, a second time, however, that repeal is of no effect as the section had previously been repealed by Chapter 23, Section 1, Laws 2003.

The 1993 amendment, effective June 18, 1993, made minor stylistic changes in the first and second sentences, and deleted "New Mexico public service" preceding "commission" in the next-to-last sentence.

ANNOTATIONS

Requiring exhaustion of remedies is constitutional.

— The requirement of the Public Utility Act that a person first exhaust his administrative remedy before resorting to the courts does not violate N.M. Const., art. Serv. Co. v. N.M. Pub. Serv. Comm'n*, 1983-NMSC-026, 99 N.M. 493, 660 P.2d 583.

Courts have jurisdiction to vacate unlawful administrative order. — The statutory provisions for limited review of an order of a commission by the district court do not oust the courts of jurisdiction to annul and vacate a final administrative order as unlawful. Llano, Inc. v. Southern Union Gas Co., 1964-NMSC-257, 75 N.M. 7, 399 P.2d 646.

Complete administrative remedy for testing rates is provided. — The Public Utility Act envelops the commission with an aura of broad power and jurisdiction to determine just and reasonable rates and sets up a complete remedy within the framework of the act for testing their propriety and reasonableness. Potash Co. of Am. v. N.M. Pub. Serv. Comm'n, 1956-NMSC-091, 62 N.M. 1, 303 P.2d 908.

Action will be dismissed if remedies have not been exhausted. — Where plaintiff brought action to enjoin commission from enforcing new gas rates and to recover amounts paid without waiting for final determination in pending statutory review proceeding, complaint was properly dismissed because plaintiff failed to exhaust administrative remedies. Potash Co. of Am. v. N.M. Pub. Serv. Comm'n, 1956-NMSC-091, 62 N.M. 1, 303 P.2d 908.

Standard of review for appeal is whether there is substantial evidence in the record as a whole to support the agency's decision. Gonzales v. Public Serv. Comm'n, 1985-NMSC-038, 102 N.M. 529, 697 P.2d 948.

Review limited. — On appeals from administrative bodies the questions to be answered by the court are questions of law and are restricted to whether the administrative body acted fraudulently, arbitrarily or capriciously, whether the order was supported by substantial evidence and, generally, whether the action of the administrative body was within the scope of its authority. Maestas v. N.M. Pub. Serv. Comm'n, 1973-NMSC-096, 85 N.M. 571, 514 P.2d 847; Llano, Inc. v. Southern Union Gas Co., 1964-NMSC-257, 75 N.M. 7, 399 P.2d 646.

Section 62-12-2 applicable. — Where it is alleged that the public regulation commission is acting outside the scope of its jurisdiction or refusing to perform under the Public Utility Act, Section 62-12-2 NMSA 1978 is applicable. City of Sunland Park v. N.M. Pub. Regulation Comm'n, 2004-NMCA-024, 135 N.M. 143, 85 P.3d 267, cert. denied, 2004-NMCERT-002, 135 N.M. 169, 86 P.3d 47.

62-11-2. Notice to the commission.

Upon the filing of a notice of appeal, the appellant shall cause a copy thereof to be served upon the commission and parties of record in the proceeding before the commission in the manner prescribed by the Rules of Appellate Procedure for Civil Cases. Within thirty days after service of the notice of appeal or such further time as the supreme court for good cause may specify, the commission shall certify to the supreme court the record of the testimony taken before the commission and all exhibits offered or received in evidence at the hearing before the commission, and all pleadings, findings, conclusions, orders and opinions, or certified copies thereof, made and entered in, or in connection with, the hearing before the commission; provided, however, that the parties and the commission may stipulate that a specified portion only of the testimony taken at the hearing before the commission shall be certified to the supreme court for review on appeal.

62-11-3. Appeal on the record.

The appeal shall be heard on the record made before the commission, and the supreme court shall not permit the introduction of new evidence addressed to any of the issues presented at the hearing before the commission.

ANNOTATIONS

Standard of review. — On appeal, the court, viewing the evidence in the light most favorable to the order appealed from, determines whether the order was supported by substantial evidence, was neither arbitrary nor capricious, and was within the commission's scope of authority. Plains Elec. Generation & Transmission Coop. v. N.M. Pub. Util. Comm'n, 1998-NMSC-038, 126 N.M. 152, 967 P.2d 827.

Grounds required for reversal. — The party challenging a commission decision must show that agency action falls within one of the oft-mentioned grounds for reversal, including: whether the decision is arbitrary and capricious; whether it is supported by substantial evidence; and whether it represents an abuse of the agency's discretion by being outside the scope of the agency's authority, clear error, or violative of due process. Morningstar Water Users Ass'n v. N.M. Pub. Util. Comm'n, 1995-NMSC-062, 120 N.M. 579, 904 P.2d 28.

Burden of proving construction was not commenced in time. — The burden was on petitioners-landowners, as the moving parties before the commission, to demonstrate by substantial evidence, and thereby prove to the commission, that electrical cooperative failed to commence construction of a transmission line and related facilities within the time prescribed by Section 62-9-4 NMSA 1978. Lone Mountain Cattle Co. v. N.M. Pub. Serv. Comm'n, 1972-NMSC-008, 83 N.M. 465, 493 P.2d 950.

When commission's construction of certificate and statutes is binding. — The commission's construction of the certificate issued by it and the statutes governing its operation was binding on review, unless this construction was unreasonable or unlawful. Lone Mountain Cattle Co. v. N.M. Pub. Serv. Comm'n, 1972-NMSC-008, 83 N.M. 465, 493 P.2d 950.

Utility's request for proposal process was not arbitrary or capricious. — Where the public service company of New Mexico (PNM) submitted an application for the public regulation commission (PRC) to approve its renewable energy procurement plan for the year 2018, and where, in its application, PNM sought to demonstrate its compliance with the Renewable Energy Act, 62-16-1 to -10 NMSA 1978, requirements and obtain the PRC's approval of renewable energy procurements, the PRC's approval of PNM's solar energy procurement plan was not unreasonable or unlawful, because PNM's request for proposal (RFP) gave all bidders a fair opportunity to participate and compete for PNM's selection, and evidence in the record demonstrates that the challenged aspects of PNM's RFP were consistent with industry standards. N.M. Indus. Energy Comm'n v. N.M. Pub. Regulation Comm'n, 2019-NMSC-015.

Public Regulation Commission's summary fact-finding procedure denied qualifying facility due process. — In a case that arose under the federal Public Utility Regulatory Policies Act of 1978 (PURPA), which was designed to encourage the development of small power production facilities in order to diversify the nation's energy sources and thereby reduce the demand for traditional fossil fuels, where appellant filed a petition with the New Mexico public regulation commission (PRC), contending that it is a "qualifying facility" under PURPA and requested that the PRC enter an order declaring that Lea county electric is obligated under PURPA to purchase the energy and capacity that appellant produces and determine the proper "avoided costs" Lea county electric is required to pay appellant for its energy and capacity, and where the PRC determined that it would process appellant's filing as a complaint subject to the formal complaint process set forth in its rules of procedure and not as a petition for a declaratory order, and where the PRC further summarily dismissed the complaint with prejudice, finding that the affidavits and supporting documentation constituted substantial evidence that Lea county electric transferred its mandatory purchase obligation to another electric utility which served as Lea county electric's "full-requirements" supplier, the New Mexico supreme court vacated and annulled the PRC's final order, because the summary fact-finding procedure employed by the PRC violated due process when it precluded appellant from presenting evidence and developing a record on the disputed full-requirements issue. The PRC's decision was also not supported by substantial evidence, and was therefore arbitrary, capricious, or an abuse of discretion. D. Resolute Wind 1 LLC v. N.M. Pub. Regul. Comm'n, 2022-NMSC-011.

62-11-5. Decision on appeal.

The supreme court shall have no power to modify the action or order appealed from, but shall either affirm or annul and vacate the same. The supreme court shall vacate and annul the order complained of if it is made to appear to the satisfaction of the court that the order is unreasonable or unlawful. Proceedings in the supreme court shall be governed by the provisions of this act and by the Rules of Appellate Procedure for Civil Cases promulgated by the supreme court of New Mexico.

ANNOTATIONS

Entire order must be annulled if part is unlawful.

— Where the court finds part of the order of the commission to be unreasonable and unlawful, it must annul the entire order. The court has no power to modify the order of the commission. Moyston v. N.M. Pub. Serv. Comm'n, 1966-NMSC-062, 76 N.M. 146, 412 P.2d 840.

Supreme court is limited to affirming or reversing lower court. — Because of the form of this section (prior to the 1982 amendment), supreme court was limited in its disposition of cause to affirming or reversing the lower court, and the cause cannot be remanded to permit the commission to supply necessary findings. N.M. Elec. Serv. Co. v. Lea Cnty. Elec. Coop., 1966-NMSC-046, 76 N.M. 434, 415 P.2d 556, cert. denied, 385 U.S. 969, 87 S. Ct. 506, 17 L. Ed. 2d 433 (1966).

Court is limited in its review to determining whether the order of the commission was unreasonable and/or unlawful, whether it was supported by substantial evidence and, generally, whether the action of the commission was within the scope of its authority. Llano, Inc. v. S. Union Gas Co., 1964-NMSC-257, 75 N.M. 7, 399 P.2d 646.

On appeals from administrative bodies the questions to be answered by the court are questions of law and are restricted to whether the administrative body acted fraudulently, arbitrarily or capriciously, whether the order was supported by substantial evidence and, generally, whether the action of the administrative body was within the scope of its authority. The district court may not substitute its judgment for that of the administrative body. Maestas v. N.M. Pub. Serv. Comm'n, 1973-NMSC-096, 85 N.M. 571, 514 P.2d 847; *Llano, Inc. v. Commission decision not upheld without substantial evidence. — Although every inference is to be drawn in support of the commission's decision, a reviewing court may not uphold a commission's decision which is not supported by substantial evidence. Public Serv. Co. v. N.M. Pub. Serv. Comm'n, 1979-NMSC-042, 92 N.M. 721, 594 P.2d 1177.

Questions of fact are for commission, not court. — Whether or not the construction had been commenced on a certain date is a question of fact to be determined by the commission. Lone Mountain Cattle Co. v. N.M. Pub. Serv. Comm'n, 1972-NMSC-008, 83 N.M. 465, 493 P.2d 950.

When commission's construction of certificate and statute is binding. — The commission's construction of the certificate issued by it and the statutes governing its operation was binding on review, unless this construction was unreasonable or unlawful. Lone Mountain Cattle Co. v. N.M. Pub. Serv. Comm'n, 1972-NMSC-008, 83 N.M. 465, 493 P.2d 950.

Once commission's order is annulled and vacated, a rate case is in the same posture it was in before the original decision was rendered: the commission may hold additional hearings and take additional testimony just as if the vacated order had never been entered; however, because the proposed rates may be put into effect after expiration of the initial nine-month period, the commission will have every reason to act expeditiously to enter new findings based on substantial evidence. Public Serv. Co. v. N.M. Pub. Serv. Comm'n, 1979-NMSC-042, 92 N.M. 721, 594 P.2d 1177.

Regulation held neither arbitrary nor capricious. — The question of a potential for abuse in a regulation allowing company to adjust consumers' rates relative to change in the company's cost prior to the approval by the commission in that the company could negotiate contracts with its subsidiaries who supply 26% of its natural gas at favorable rates, and thereby accrue hidden profits, was a question of fact for the commission to decide, and as the commission's findings were supported by substantial evidence, this regulation was neither arbitrary nor capricious. Maestas v. N.M. Pub. Serv. Comm'n, 1973-NMSC-096, 85 N.M. 571, 514 P.2d 847.

Commission's finding of fact held supported by substantial evidence. — Considering petitioner's burden of proof, the nature and extent of the evidence adduced and the qualifications of the commission in knowing and understanding what is meant by "surveys" and "construction," in the sense in which these terms are used in the construction of power transmission lines and related facilities, the commission's finding of fact was supported by substantial evidence, and it is not the province of the court to substitute its judgment for that of the commission. Lone Mountain Cattle Co. v. N.M. Pub. Serv. Comm'n, 1972-NMSC-008, 83 N.M. 465, 493 P.2d 950.

Commission's order held unsupported by substantial evidence. — Where gas company seeking rate increase proposed to trend the general plant account items by using a nationally recognized index, but the commission instead inserted its own method - to simply use the untrended original cost, although the witness who strongly supported this approach admitted that he did not know whether this would accurately establish the reproduction cost of the items, the court held the commission's order was unreasonable, being unsupported by substantial evidence. Southern Union Gas Co. v. N.M. Pub. Serv. Comm'n, 1972-NMSC-072, 84 N.M. 330, 503 P.2d 310.

Commission's establishment of a two-tiered rate plan that allowed residential customers to elect between a higher customer access fee combined with a lower distribution charge per therm, or choose a lower customer access fee combined with a higher distribution charge was not supported by the evidence. Attorney Gen. v. N.M. Pub. Util. Comm'n, 2000-NMSC-008, 128 N.M. 747, 998 P.2d 1198.

Commission's order in a utility-rate proceeding was vacated and remanded because its decision on the disallowance of gas company's actual tax expenses was arbitrary, its determination of zero cash working capital was lacking a basis in substantial evidence and the amount of its award for aircraft expenses was unsupported by substantial evidence. Zia Natural Gas Co. v. N.M. Pub. Util. Comm'n, 2000-NMSC-011, 128 N.M. 728, 998 P.2d 564.

In its final order regarding a gas utility's requested rate increase, the commission's denial of recovery of losses on reacquired debt, the denial of the opportunity for the utility to recover reservation fees in a separate proceeding, the denial of certain settlement expenses and rate case expenses, and the dramatic increase in the residential access charge were not supported by substantial evidence. PNM Gas Servs. v. N.M. Pub. Util. Comm'n, 2000-NMSC-012, 129 N.M. 1, 1 P.3d 383.

Factors considered in rate hearing. Public Serv. Co. v. N.M. Pub. Serv. Comm'n, 1979-NMSC-042, 92 N.M. 721, 594 P.2d 1177.

Departure from prior practice without notice. — A regulatory body cannot, without prior notice, abruptly depart from past practice on which the regulatee has relied and impose a retroactive refund requirement upon the regulatee. However, once notice was given, nothing prevented the commission from adopting a new regulatory practice and applying it prospectively; if the regulatee chose not to comply, it did so at its own peril. Hobbs Gas Co. v. N.M. Pub. Serv. Comm'n, 1993-NMSC-032, 115 N.M. 678, 858 P.2d 54.

62-11-6. Appeals; supreme court may stay or suspend commission's order.

The pendency of an appeal shall not of itself stay or suspend the operation of the order of the commission, but, during the pendency of such proceedings, the supreme court in its discretion may stay or suspend, in whole or in part, the operation of the commission's order on such terms as it deems just and in accordance with the practice of courts exercising equity jurisdiction. If the supreme court stays or suspends the operation of an order of the commission, pending a review of the order, the court may require the party seeking the stay or suspension to secure the other parties against loss due to the delay in the enforcement of the order, in case the order on appeal is affirmed, in such amount and in such form as the supreme court shall direct.

History: Laws 1941, ch. 84, § 71; 1941 Comp., § 72-906; 1953 Comp., § 68-9-6; Laws 1982, ch. 109, § 15; 1983, ch. 250, § 4.

Compiler's notes. — Sections 62-11-1 to 62-11-6 of the Public Utility Act are still effective as the repeal of Chapter 62, Article 6 by Laws 1998, Chapter 108, Section 82, effective July 1, 2003 Chapter 108, Section 82 was repealed prior to taking effect by Chapter 23, Section 1, Laws 2003. Although Laws 2003, Chapter 336, Section 8, amended Laws 1998, Chapter 82, as amended, an amendment of a repealed section is ineffective. See Quintana v. N.M. Dep't of Corrs., 100 N.M. 224, 668 P.2d 1101 (1983). Laws 2003, Chapter 416, Section 5 also repealed Laws 1998, Chapter 108, Section 82, as amended, a second time, however, that repeal is of no effect as the section had previously been repealed by Chapter 23, Section 1, Laws 2003.

Cross references. — For definition of "commission," see 62-3-3 NMSA 1978.

The 1983 amendment inserted "stay or suspend commission's order" at the end of the catchline and substituted

"If the supreme court stays or suspends the operation of an order of the commission, pending a review of the order, the court may require the party seeking the stay or suspension to secure" for "Any party shall have the right to secure from the supreme court an order suspending or staying the operation of an order of the commission, pending a review of such order, by securing" in the second sentence.

ANNOTATIONS

A party looking to stay a public regulation commission final order must seek a stay from the commission before requesting a stay from the New Mexico supreme court. — Where El Paso electric company (El Paso electric) submitted its 2018 annual renewable energy plan to the New Mexico public regulation commission (commission), in which El Paso electric sought a ten-year extension of its agreement with the Camino Real energy facility to purchase renewable energy certificates at a price of $30 per megawatt hour of renewable energy, which doubled the $15 per megawatt hour price for the certificates under its expiring agreement with the Camino Real facility, and where the commission issued a final order approving the proposal, and where the city of Las Cruces (city) filed a notice of appeal with the New Mexico supreme court seeking review of the commission's final order and requesting that the court stay the portion of the commission's order that approved El Paso electric's agreement with the Camino Real facility, the city was required to first seek a stay from the commission, because a party is required to pursue relief from an administrative agency, where available, before seeking redress from the courts, which allows for the development of a complete factual record and preserves the New Mexico supreme court's role as a court of review. City of Las Cruces v. N.M. Pub. Regulation Comm'n, 2020-NMSC-016.

The New Mexico public regulation commission retains jurisdiction to act on a stay request following a final order. — Where El Paso electric company (El Paso electric) submitted its 2018 annual renewable energy plan to the New Mexico public regulation commission (commission), in which El Paso electric sought a ten-year extension of its agreement with the Camino Real energy facility to purchase renewable energy certificates at a price of $30 per megawatt hour of renewable energy, which doubled the $15 per megawatt hour price for the certificates under its expiring agreement with the Camino Real facility, and where the commission issued a final order approving the proposal, the commission was within its authority to grant the city of Las Cruces' motion for stay despite a pending appeal, because the commission retains jurisdiction to act on a stay request following a final order. *City of Las Cruces v. 62-12-1. Mandamus; injunction; utilities.

Whenever the commission shall be of the opinion that any person or utility is failing or omitting or about to fail or omit to do anything required of it by this act or by any order of the commission, or is doing anything or about to do anything, or permitting anything or about to permit anything to be done, contrary to or in violation of this act or of any order of the commission, it may direct the attorney general of New Mexico to commence an action or proceeding in the district court in and for the county of Santa Fe, or in the district court of the county in which the complaint or controversy arose, in the name of the state of New Mexico for the purpose of having such violations or threatened violations stopped and prevented either by mandamus or injunction. The attorney general of New Mexico shall thereupon begin such action or proceeding by petition to such court, alleging the violation or threatened violation complained of, and praying for appropriate relief by way of mandamus or injunction. It shall thereupon be the duty of the court to specify a time, not exceeding thirty days after the service of the copy of the petition, within which the public utility or person complained of must plead, and in the meantime said public utility or person may for good cause shown be restrained. In case of default, the court shall immediately inquire into the facts and circumstances of the case. Such corporations or persons as the court may deem necessary or proper to be joined as parties, in order to make its judgment, order or writ effective, may be joined as parties. ANNOTATIONS

Equity has inherent power to restrain acts beyond commission's jurisdiction. — The power to restrain the exercise by the commission of acts entirely beyond or in excess of its jurisdiction inheres in a court of equity, and a mere declaration of the power in this section adds no new strength to the power. Potash Co. of Am. v. N.M. Pub. Serv. Comm'n, 1956-NMSC-091, 62 N.M. 1, 303 P.2d 908.

Complete administrative remedy for testing rates is provided. — The Public Utility Act envelops the commission with an aura of broad power and jurisdiction to determine just and reasonable rates and sets up a complete remedy within the framework of the act for testing their propriety and reasonableness. Potash Co. of Am. v. N.M. Pub. Serv. Comm'n, 1956-NMSC-091, 62 N.M. 1, 303 P.2d 908.

Increasing contract rate is not in excess of commission's jurisdiction. — Where the commission had entered an order authorizing a public utility to enter into a contract and to continue to charge the gas rate therein specified until further order and on the ex parte petition of the utility subsequently entered an interlocutory order making a rate increase to be effective until the commission could hold a hearing to determine and set a new and proper rate, the commission was moving strictly in conformity with the act creating it to determine one of the major questions submitted to its jurisdiction - a question of rates. *Potash Co. of Am. v. of its jurisdiction or refusing to perform under the Public Utility Act, this section is applicable. City of Sunland Park v. N.M. Pub. Regulation Comm'n, 2004-NMCA-024, 135 N.M. 143, 85 P.3d 267, cert. denied, 2004-NMCERT-002, 135 N.M. 169, 86 P.3d 47.

B. In any commission rate proceeding in which the utility seeks rates to recover adjusted test-year litigation expenses there shall be no presumption that the litigation expenses are prudent. Nothing in this section shall be construed to create or imply a presumption of prudence for any utility expenditures not addressed in this section.

C. As used in this section, "litigation expenses" means all attorneys' fees, consulting fees and other costs of litigation, including in-house expenditures.

ANNOTATIONS

Rate case expenses. — By removing the presumption of reasonableness with respect to litigation expenses, the legislature did not intend to preclude the pragmatic practice of estimating rate case expenses, but intended that utilities demonstrate the reasonableness of rate case expenses, whether estimated or actual. In re PNM Gas Servs., 2000-NMSC-012, 129 N.M. 1, 1 P.3d 383.

Because the enactment of Subsection B was intended to effect a change in the policy of with respect to litigation expenses, a gas utility failed to carry its burden of proving that the amount of its requested rate case expense was reasonable and prudent by presenting only a budget-based estimate with no itemization of costs or evidence of reasonableness. In re PNM Gas Servs., 2000-NMSC-012, 129 N.M. 1, 1 P.3d 383.

A. Notwithstanding any other provision of the Public Utility Act [Chapter 62, Articles 1 through 6 and 8 through 13 NMSA 1978] to the contrary, a person not otherwise a public utility shall not be deemed to be a public utility subject to the jurisdiction, control or regulation of the commission and the provisions of the Public Utility Act solely because the person owns or controls all or any part of any renewable energy distributed generation facility that:

- (1) is located on the host's site;
- (2) produces electric energy used at the host's site and sold to the host or the host's tenants or employees located at the host's site; and
- (3) shares a common point of connection with the electric utility serving the area and the host or the host's tenants and employees served by the renewable energy distributed generation facility.

B. Nothing contained in this section shall be interpreted to prohibit the sale of energy produced by the renewable energy distributed generation facility to the electric utility serving the area in which the renewable energy distributed generation facility is located.

C. As used in this section:

- (1) "host" means the customer of a public utility who uses the electric energy produced by a renewable energy distributed generation facility and occupies the site upon which the renewable energy distributed generation facility is located;
- (2) "renewable energy distributed generation facility" means a facility that produces electric energy by the use of renewable energy and that is sized to supply no more than one hundred twenty percent of the average annual consumption of electricity by the host at the site of the renewable energy distributed generation facility in accordance with applicable interconnection rules; and
- (3) "site" means all the contiguous property owned or leased by the host, without regard to interruptions in contiguity caused by easements, public thoroughfares, transportation rights of way or utility rights of way.

Upon request of an investor-owned utility in any general rate case, the commission shall approve interconnected customer rate riders to recover the costs of ancillary and standby services pursuant to this section only for new interconnected customers, except that a utility may seek approval of interconnected customer rate riders in the utility's renewable energy procurement plan filing before January 1, 2011, to be in effect until the conclusion of the utility's next general rate case. In establishing interconnected customer rate riders, the commission shall assure that costs to be recovered through the rate riders are not duplicative of costs to be recovered in underlying rates and shall give due consideration to the reasonably determinable embedded and incremental costs of the utility to serve new interconnected customers and the reasonably determinable benefits to the utility system provided by new interconnected customers during each three-year period after which new interconnected customer rate riders go into effect. The benefits to the utility system, as applicable, include avoided renewable energy certificate procurement costs, reduced capital investment costs resulting from the avoidance or deferral of capital expenditures, reduced energy and capacity costs and line loss reductions.

B. In a filing made pursuant to Subsection G of Section 62-8-7 NMSA 1978, a rural electric cooperative may implement rates or rate riders by customer class, giving due consideration to reasonably determinable costs and benefits of interconnected systems, that are specifically designed to recover from interconnected customers the fixed costs of providing electric services to those customers.

C. Nothing in this section shall be interpreted as preventing the utility from charging rates designed to recover all of its reasonable costs of providing service to customers.

D. As used in this section:

(1) "ancillary and standby services" means services that are essential to maintain electric system reliability and are required by or are a consequence of interconnecting distributed generation facilities to a utility's system and may include, among other services, regulation and frequency response, regulation and voltage support, spinning reserves and supplemental reserves;

The creation of a holding company under this subsection shall not result in any loss of the commission's jurisdiction over corporate allocations to the utility or over costs that are charged to ratepayers.

B. Any order of the commission entered prior to January 1, 2011 declaring the public utility status of a person who owns or controls all or any part of any distributed generation facility and sells the electricity produced by the facility to other persons shall have no force or effect on or after May 19, 2010.

62-13-14. Prohibition against water utilities imposing additional standby charges on owners of structures containing automatic fire protection sprinkler systems.

No water utility defined as a public utility under the provisions of Section 62-3-3 NMSA 1978 shall impose sprinkler standby charges on the owners of structures that contain automatic fire protection sprinkler systems. As used in this section, "sprinkler standby charges" means additional charges imposed by a water utility on owners of structures because the structures are equipped with automatic fire protection sprinkler systems.

History: Laws 1987, ch. 294, § 1.

Compiler's notes. — Sections 62-13-1 to 62-13-14 of the Public Utility Act are still effective as the repeal of Chapter 62, Article 13 by Laws 1998, Chapter 108, Section 82, effective July 1, 2003 Chapter 108, Section 82 was repealed prior to taking effect by Chapter 23, Section 1, Laws 2003. Although Laws 2003, Chapter 336, Section 8, amended Laws 1998, Chapter 82, as amended, an amendment of a repealed section is ineffective. See Quintana v. N.M. Dep't of Corrs., 100 N.M. 224, 668 P.2d 1101 (1983). Laws 2003, Chapter 416, Section 5 also repealed Laws 1998, Chapter 108, Section 82, as amended, a second time, however, that repeal is of no effect as the section had previously been repealed by Chapter 23, Section 1, Laws 2003.

62-13-15. Appointment of receiver.

Whenever the commission determines, after notice and hearing, that a public utility is unable or unwilling to adequately service its customers or has been actually or effectively abandoned by its owners or operator, or consistently violates the rules or orders of the commission, the commission may commence an action in the district court of the county where the utility has its principal office or place of business for the appointment of a receiver to assume possession of its property and to operate its system upon terms and conditions in accordance with the provisions of the Public Utility Act [Chapter 62, Articles 1 through 6 and 8 through 13 NMSA 1978], commission rules and orders of the court. Upon the order of the court, the receiver may issue receiver's certificates to provide funds to operate, repair, improve or enlarge the public utility. Unless otherwise provided in the court order, payment of the receiver's certificates is a first lien on the real and personal property of the public utility. The court shall prescribe the certificate's form, term and rate of interest. Receiver's certificates are exempt from the operation of any law that regulates the issuance or sale of securities of public utilities.

B. If the owner or operator of the underground facility finds that the owner or operator has no underground facilities in the proposed area of excavation, the owner or operator shall provide a positive response and, at the option of the owner or operator of the underground facility mark the area as "Clear" or "No Underground Facilities" in the appropriate color code as specified in Section 62-14-5.1 NMSA 1978.

C. If the owner or operator fails to correctly mark the underground facility after being given advance notice and such failure to correctly mark the facility results in additional costs to the person doing the excavating, then the owner or operator shall reimburse the person engaging in the excavation for the reasonable costs incurred.

D. An owner of an underground facility shall not move or obliterate markings made pursuant to Chapter 62, Article 14 NMSA 1978 or fabricate markings in an unmarked location for the purpose of concealing or avoiding liability for a violation of or noncompliance with the provisions of Chapter 62, Article 14 NMSA 1978.

If the area is not marked 'Clear' or 'No Underground Facilities', the excavator shall contact the one-call notification system operating in the region in order to verify the area as 'Clear' or 'No Underground Facilities'.

The 2011 amendment, effective June 17, 2011, required excavators to contact the regional one-call notification system if an area is not marked as "Clear" or "No Underground Facilities" to verify the status of the area.

Means of communication to distribute excavation notice to owners or operators of pipeline facilities and other underground facilities shall be reliable and capable of coordination with one-call notification systems operating in other regions of the state.

H. Operators of one-call notification systems shall notify the commission of its members and the name and telephone number of the contact person for each member and make available to the commission appropriate records in investigations of alleged violations of Chapter 62, Article 14 NMSA 1978.

I. One-call notification systems and owners and operators of pipeline facilities shall promote public awareness of the availability and operation of one-call notification systems and work with state and local governmental agencies charged with issuing excavation permits to provide information concerning and promoting awareness by excavators of one-call notification systems.

The 2013 amendment, effective June 14, 2013, required owners and operators to provide a positive response; required the one-call center to provide positive response records to the commission; and in Subsection F, in the first sentence, after "excavation area", added "and shall provide a positive response" and added the second sentence.

The 2011 amendment, effective June 17, 2011, exempted private underground facilities owned by homeowners and operated and located on residential property from the requirement that the owners and operators of underground facilities be a member of the regional one-call notification system.

The 2007 amendment, effective June 15, 2007, required an owner or operator of an underground facility in a region in which a one-call system is operating to be a member of the one-call system by April 15, 2008 unless earlier membership is required by federal law; and added Subsection J.

The 2001 amendment, effective July 1, 2001, deleted "and regulation" following "rule" in Subsection D; inserted "and make available to the commission appropriate records in investigations of alleged violations of Chapter 62, Article 14 NMSA 1978" at the end of Subsection H; and substituted "promoting" for "promote" in Subsection I.

62-14-8. Penalties.

In addition to any other liability imposed by law, an excavator, after a formal hearing and upon a finding, who has failed to comply with Subsection C of Section 62-14-3 NMSA 1978 is subject to an administrative penalty of up to five thousand dollars ($5,000) for a first offense as assessed by the commission. Thereafter, the commission may assess an administrative penalty of up to a maximum of twenty-five thousand dollars ($25,000) for subsequent violations of Subsection C of Section 62-14-3 NMSA 1978. In addition to any other penalty imposed by law, an operator of underground pipeline facilities or underground utilities, excavator or operator of a one-call notification system, after formal hearing and upon a finding, who has willfully failed to comply with Chapter 62, Article 14 NMSA 1978 shall be subject to an administrative penalty of up to five thousand dollars ($5,000) for a first offense as assessed by the commission. Thereafter, upon finding that a violation of Chapter 62, Article 14 NMSA 1978 has occurred, the commission may, upon consideration of the nature, circumstances, gravity of the violation, history of prior violations, effect on public health, safety or welfare and good faith on the part of the person in attempting to remedy the cause of the violation, assess an administrative penalty up to a maximum of twenty-five thousand dollars ($25,000) per violation consistent with federal law. No offense occurring more than five years prior to the current offense charged shall be considered for any purpose. All actions to recover the penalties provided for in this section shall be brought by the commission. All penalties recovered in any such action shall be paid into the state general fund.

History: 1953 Comp., § 12-32-8, enacted by Laws 1973, ch. 252, § 8; 1993, ch. 282, § 41; 1997, ch. 30, § 5; 2001, ch. 150, § 7; 2011, ch. 103, § 7.

The 2011 amendment, effective June 17, 2011, authorized the imposition of an administrative penalty even if an operator's failure to comply with the law did not contribute to the damage of an underground facility.

The 2001 amendment, effective July 1, 2001, rewrote the section, which formerly provided for a civil penalty of up to $500 for those who willfully failed to comply with Chapter 62, Article 14 NMSA 1978, and stated who is responsible for prosecuting the case and the proper venue.

The 1997 amendment, effective October 1, 1997, made stylistic changes in the second and third sentences.

The 1993 amendment, effective June 18, 1993, made stylistic changes in the first sentence; in the second sentence, substituted "New Mexico public utility commission" for "public service commission" and "division of the regulation and licensing department" for "commission"; and substituted "their" for "its" in the next-to-last sentence.

62-14-9. Enforcement.

If any person excavates or intends to excavate in violation of Chapter 62, Article 14 NMSA 1978, the commission or any interested or affected owner or operator of an underground facility may file, in the district court of the county in which the excavation is occurring or intended, an action seeking to enjoin the excavation.

History: Laws 1997, ch. 30, § 2.

62-14-9.1. Alternative dispute resolution.

The commission shall promulgate rules for voluntary alternative dispute resolution procedures available to owners or operators, excavators and other interested parties regarding disputes that cannot be resolved through consultation and negotiation arising from damage to underground facilities, including any cost or damage incurred by the owner or operator or the excavator as a result of any delay in an excavation project while an underground facility is restored, repaired or replaced. The alternative dispute resolution procedure shall not affect civil penalties levied pursuant to Section 62-14-8 NMSA 1978 or change the basis for civil liability for damages.

Chapter 62, Article 15 NMSA 1978 may be cited as the "Rural Electric Cooperative Act".

History: Laws 1939, ch. 47, § 1; 1941 Comp., § 48-401; 1953 Comp., § 45-4-1; Laws 1998, ch. 108, § 49.

The 1998 amendment, effective January 1, 1999, substituted "Chapter 62, Article 15 NMSA 1978" for "This Act" near the beginning of the section.

ANNOTATIONS

The 1987 amendment, effective June 19, 1987, in the first sentence substituted "primary purpose of supplying electric power and energy" for "purpose of supplying electric energy," and made minor changes in language and punctuation throughout the section.

ANNOTATIONS

Scope of service. — Prior to the 1967 amendment to Subsection D, a rural electric cooperative could only supply electric energy to its members, to governmental agencies and political subdivisions and to other persons not in excess of 10% of the number of its members. Socorro Elec. Coop. v. Pub. Serv. Co., 1959-NMSC-105, 66 N.M. 343, 348 P.2d 88.

Power of eminent domain. — A corporation organized for the primary purpose of supplying electric power or energy to rural areas on a cooperative basis, although organized under the laws of another state and resulting from an interstate merger, is a rural electric cooperative under the Rural Electric Cooperative Act, and thus has the power of eminent domain under 62-15-14 NMSA 1978. Tri-State Generation & Transmission Ass'n v. King, 2003-NMSC-029, 134 N.M. 467, 78 P.3d 1226.

62-15-3.1. Subsidiary business activities.

A. Cooperatives may form, organize, acquire, hold, dispose of and operate any interest up to and including full controlling interest in separate business entities that provide energy services and products and telecommunications and communications services and products, including cable and satellite television and water and wastewater collection and treatment, without prior approval from the public regulation commission so long as those other business entities meet all of the following conditions:

(1) the subsidiary is not financed with loans from the federal rural utilities service of the United States department of agriculture or the United States department of agriculture or with similar financing from any successor agency. This limitation shall not apply to rural utilities service loans or United States department of agriculture loans, or loans from successor agencies, to the extent the loan is to be used for a purpose authorized by the lending agency;

(2) the subsidiary fully compensates the cooperative for the use of personnel, services, equipment, tangible property and the cooperative's fully distributed costs, including all direct and indirect costs and the cost of capital incurred in providing the personnel, services, equipment or tangible property in question;

(3) the total investments, loans, guarantees and pledges of assets of a cooperative in all of its subsidiaries shall not exceed twenty percent of the cooperative's assets; and

(4) the subsidiary agrees to not offer any service or product to the public until it has obtained federal and state regulatory approvals, if any, required to provide the service or product to the public.

B. A director, or spouse of a director, of a cooperative may not be employed or have any financial interest in a separate business entity formed, organized, acquired, held or operated by that cooperative pursuant to the provisions of this section.

C. Should the public regulation commission, upon complaint showing reasonable grounds for investigation, find after investigation and public hearing that the charges for the transactions between the cooperative and other business entity do not conform with the provisions of this section, the public regulation commission is authorized to direct the cooperative to adjust those charges to comply with the provisions of this section. If the cooperative does not comply with the public regulation commission's directive, the public regulation commission is authorized to direct the cooperative to divest its interest in the other business entity. For purposes of enforcing this section, members of the public regulation commission, and the public regulation commission staff, are authorized to inspect the books and records of such other business entities and the cooperatives, provided that proprietary or confidential data or information of the separate business entities shall not be disclosed to a third party. The public regulation commission shall adopt rules and reporting requirements to enforce the provisions of this section.

D. Nothing in this section grants the public regulation commission the power to regulate a generation and transmission cooperative referred to in Section 62-6-4 NMSA 1978.

History: Laws 2003, ch. 416, § 1.

Effective dates. — Laws 2003, ch. 416, § 6 makes the act effective on July 1, 2003.

62-15-4. Name.

The name of each cooperative shall include the words "electric" and "cooperative" and the abbreviation "inc."; provided that limitation shall not apply if, in an affidavit made by the president or vice president of a cooperative and filed with the secretary of state, it appears that the cooperative desires to transact business in another state and is precluded therefrom by reason of its name. The name of a cooperative shall distinguish it from the name of any other corporation organized under the laws of, or authorized to transact business in, this state. The words "electric" and "cooperative" shall not both be used in the name of any corporation organized under the laws of, or authorized to transact business in, this state, except a cooperative or a corporation transacting business in this state pursuant to the provisions of the Rural Electric Cooperative Act.

History: Laws 1939, ch. 47, § 4; 1941 Comp., § 48-404; 1953 Comp., § 45-4-4; 2013, ch. 75, § 25.

The 2013 amendment, effective July 1, 2013, required that cooperatives file an affidavit with the secretary of state that the cooperative is precluded from doing business in another state because its name includes the required words; and in the first sentence, after "filed with the", deleted "state corporation commission" and added "secretary of state".

History: Laws 1939, ch. 47, § 5; 1941 Comp., § 48-405; 1953 Comp., § 45-4-5.

62-15-6. Articles of incorporation.

A. The articles of incorporation of a cooperative shall recite in the caption that they are executed pursuant to the Rural Electric Cooperative Act, shall be signed and acknowledged by each of the incorporators and shall state:

- (1) the name of the cooperative;
- (2) the address of its principal office;
- (3) the names and addresses of the incorporators;
- (4) the names and addresses of the persons who constitute its first board of trustees; and
- (5) any provisions not inconsistent with the Rural Electric Cooperative Act deemed necessary or advisable for the conduct of its business and affairs.

B. The articles of incorporation shall be submitted to the secretary of state for filing as provided in the Rural Electric Cooperative Act.

C. It shall not be necessary to set forth in the articles of incorporation of a cooperative the purpose for which it is organized or any of the corporate powers vested in a cooperative under the Rural Electric Cooperative Act.

History: Laws 1939, ch. 47, § 6; 1941 Comp., § 48-406; 1953 Comp., § 45-4-6; 2013, ch. 75, § 26.

The 2013 amendment, effective July 1, 2013, required that articles of incorporation of cooperatives be filed with the secretary of state; and in Subsection B, after "submitted to the", deleted "state corporation commission" and added "secretary of state".

62-15-7. Bylaws.

The original bylaws of a cooperative shall be adopted by its board of trustees. Thereafter bylaws shall be adopted, amended or repealed by the majority of the members present at any regular annual meeting or special meeting called for that purpose, a quorum being present. The bylaws shall set forth the rights and duties of members and trustees and may contain other provisions for the regulation and management of the affairs of the cooperative not inconsistent with this act [62-15-1 to 62-15-32 NMSA 1978] or with its articles of incorporations [incorporation].

History: Laws 1939, ch. 47, § 7; 1941 Comp., § 48-407; 1953 Comp., § 45-4-7; Laws 1957, ch. 97, § 1.

Bracketed material. — The bracketed material was inserted by the compiler and is not part of the law.

ANNOTATIONS

Bylaws may be amended by vote at district meetings. — A rural electric cooperative may provide for the amendment of its bylaws by a vote taken at a series of meetings of voting districts rather than at a general meeting of all the members, but, in so doing, it cannot take away the power of the majority of members to adopt, amend or repeal the bylaws. 1961-62 Op. Att'y Gen. No. 61-62.

It is legal to provide for the amendment of bylaws by a majority vote of the members voting by districts, rather than at a general meeting of all the members. This interpretation does no violence to this section, since it mentions "regular annual meeting," and does not exclude a regular annual meeting or special meeting of a voting district. The interpretation is supported by the liberal construction required to be given these statutes under Section 62-15-32 NMSA 1978. 1961-62 Op. Att'y Gen. No. 61-62.

62-15-8. Members.

A. No person who is not an incorporator shall become a member of a cooperative unless the person agrees to use electric energy furnished by the cooperative when electric energy is available through its facilities. The bylaws of a cooperative may provide that any person, including an incorporator, shall cease to be a member of a cooperative if the person fails or refuses to use electric energy made available by the cooperative or if the electric energy is not made available to that person by the cooperative within a specified time after the person becomes a member of the cooperative. Membership in the cooperative shall not be transferable except as provided in the bylaws. The bylaws may prescribe additional qualifications and limitations in respect of membership.

B. An annual meeting of the members shall be held at such time as shall be provided in the bylaws or, if not contrary to the bylaws, by the board of trustees.

C. Special meetings of the members may be called by the board of trustees, by any three trustees, by petition signed by not less than ten percent of the members or by the president.

D. Annual and special meetings of members, whether general or by voting districts established pursuant to the Rural Electric Cooperative Act, shall be held at such place as may be provided in the bylaws. In the absence of any such provision, all general meetings shall be held in the city or town in which the principal office of the cooperative is located, and all meetings by voting districts shall be held at a location set by the board of trustees within the boundaries of each district.

E. Except as otherwise provided in the Rural Electric Cooperative Act, written or printed notice stating the time and place of each meeting of members and, in the case of a special meeting, the purpose for which the meeting is called, shall be given to each member by the board of trustees or the secretary, or their legal representatives, either personally or by mail not less than ten or more than twenty-five days before the date of the meeting. Failure to receive notice deposited in the mail addressed to a member at the member's address shown on the cooperative's books and records shall not affect the validity of any business conducted at a meeting.

F. Five percent of all members present in person constitutes a quorum for the transaction of business at all meetings of the members, unless the bylaws prescribe a different number of members for determining a quorum. The bylaws may allow for ballots submitted by mail to be considered in establishing a quorum for the sole purpose of voting on an issue or question, the language of which is stated exactly in the notices and on the ballots provided to all members. If less than a quorum is present at any meeting, the majority of those present in person may adjourn the meeting from time to time without further notice. The failure to hold a meeting of members due to the absence of a quorum shall not affect the validity of any business conducted by the board of trustees.

G. Each member shall be entitled to one vote on each matter submitted to a vote at a meeting. Voting shall be in person; provided that if the bylaws provide for voting by proxy or by mail, the bylaws shall prescribe the conditions under which proxy or mail voting shall be exercised. No person shall vote as proxy for more than three members at any meeting of the members.

H. All actions required by the Rural Electric Cooperative Act to be adopted or approved by a simple majority or greater number of members voting on the action at an annual or special meeting may be acted upon by voting at a general meeting or, to the extent and in the manner that the board of trustees may authorize, by voting by the voting districts established pursuant to that act, so long as the requisite majority of members voting on the action is obtained regardless of whether such a majority is obtained in any particular voting district. Action by voting by the voting districts shall be valid if a quorum exists as a result of a series of voting district meetings regardless of whether a quorum is present in any particular voting district.

History: Laws 1939, ch. 47, § 8; 1941 Comp., § 48-408; 1953 Comp., § 45-4-8; Laws 1961, ch. 210, § 1; 1983, ch. 273, § 1; 2019, ch. 131, § 1.

The 2019 amendment, effective July 1, 2019, provided that the bylaws of a rural electric cooperative may allow for ballots submitted by mail to be considered in establishing a quorum for voting on an issue or question; in Subsection F, after "unless the bylaws prescribe", deleted "the presence of a greater or lesser" and added "a different", after "number of members for", added "determining", and after "quorum", added "The bylaws may allow for ballots submitted by mail to be considered in establishing a quorum for the sole purpose of voting on an issue or question, the language of which is stated exactly in the notices and on the ballots provided to all members."

The 1983 amendment rewrote Subsection A, substituted "bylaws or, if not contrary to the bylaws, by the board of trustees" for "bylaw" in Subsection B, inserted "by petition signed" and substituted "percent" for "per centum (10%)" in Subsection C, deleted "and the meeting shall be held at the place as may be designated in the petition" at the end of Subsection C and, in Subsection D, inserted "and special" and the language beginning with "whether general" and ending with "Cooperative Act" in the first sentence, and "general" in the second sentence and added the language beginning with "and all meetings" at the end of the second sentence. The 1983 amendment also, in Subsection E, added the second sentence and rewrote the first sentence; in Subsection F, substituted "constitutes" for "shall constitute" and "or lesser number of" for "of the" in the first sentence, inserted "in person" in the second sentence and added the last sentence; in Subsection G, substituted "provided that" for "but" and "provide for voting by proxy or by mail, the bylaws shall prescribe" for "so provide, may also be by proxy or by mail; they shall also prescribe" in the second sentence, deleted "In any event" at the beginning of the third sentence; and added Subsection H.

ANNOTATIONS

Statutes, articles of incorporation, bylaws, application and certificate are contract. — Sections 62-15-1 to 62-15-32 NMSA 1978, together with the articles of incorporation and the bylaws of the cooperative, the application made by the plaintiff and the certificate of membership issued to him, constituted the contract between him and the cooperative. *King v. 62-15-9. Board of trustees; suits.

A. The business and affairs of a cooperative shall be managed by a board of not less than five trustees, each of whom shall be a member of the cooperative or of another cooperative which shall be a member thereof. The bylaws shall prescribe the number of trustees, the terms of the trustees and the manner of their election by the members, their qualifications, other than those provided for in the Rural Electric Cooperative Act, the manner of holding meetings of the board of trustees and of the election of successors to trustees who resign, die or otherwise are incapable of acting. The bylaws may provide for the removal of trustees from office and for the election of their successors and for the classification of trustees by terms of office. Without approval of the members, trustees shall not receive any salaries for their services as trustees and, except in emergencies, shall not be employed by the cooperative in any capacity involving compensation. The bylaws may, however, provide that a fixed per diem fee and advancement, reimbursement or a per diem amount in lieu of reasonably incurred expenses may be allowed to each trustee for attendance at each meeting of the board of trustees and of a committee thereof and for the performance of other cooperative business when such has had prior approval of the board of trustees.

B. The trustees of a cooperative named in any articles of incorporation, consolidation, merger or conversion shall hold office until the next following annual meeting of the members or until their successors have been elected and qualified.

C. A majority of the board of trustees constitutes a quorum.

D. If a husband and wife hold joint membership in a cooperative, either one, but not both, may be elected a trustee.

E. If the bylaws so provide, the board of trustees, by resolution adopted by a majority of the full board of trustees, may designate from among its members an executive committee and one or more other committees, except no such committee shall have authority to take any action on behalf of the board of trustees to distribute patronage refunds or in any matter which, under the articles of incorporation, bylaws or the Rural Electric Cooperative Act, requires the approval of the cooperative's members. Neither the designation of any such committee, the delegation thereto of authority nor action by such committee pursuant to such authority shall alone constitute compliance by any trustee not a member of the committee in question with the trustee's responsibility to act in accordance with the standard of conduct prescribed by Subsection E of this section.

F. Unless otherwise provided in the bylaws, any action required by the Rural Electric Cooperative Act to be taken at a meeting of the board of trustees, or any action which may be taken at a meeting of the board of trustees or of a committee, may be taken without a meeting if a consent in writing, setting forth the action so taken, shall be signed by all of the trustees or all of the committee members, as the case may be. The consent shall have the same effect as a unanimous vote.

G. The board of trustees may exercise all of the powers of a cooperative except such as are conferred upon the members by the Rural Electric Cooperative Act or its articles of incorporation or bylaws.

H. No action shall be brought against a trustee as such or against the cooperative in its right unless the plaintiff was a member of record at the time of the transaction complained of and the complaint is verified and alleges with particularity the efforts, if any, made by the plaintiff to obtain the action the plaintiff desires from the board of trustees and the reasons for the plaintiff's failure to obtain the action or for not making the effort. If the cooperative undertakes an investigation upon receipt of a demand by plaintiff for action, or following commencement of suit, the court may stay an action commenced as the circumstances reasonably require. If the court finds the action was brought without reasonable cause, it may require the plaintiff to pay defendants the reasonable expenses, including counsel fees, incurred by them in the defense of such action or to reimburse the cooperative for any indemnification provided a defendant pursuant to the Rural Electric Cooperative Act or the cooperative's bylaws.

History: Laws 1939, ch. 47, § 9; 1941 Comp., § 48-409; 1953 Comp., § 45-4-9; Laws 1957, ch. 200, § 1; 1987, ch. 36, § 3.

The 1987 amendment, effective June 19, 1987, in Subsection A, in the third sentence added "and for the classification of trustees by terms of office" at the end and, in the fifth sentence, substituted "a fixed per diem fee and advancement, reimbursement or a per diem amount in lieu of reasonably incurred expenses" for "a fixed fee and expenses of attendance, if any" and added the material at the end following "board of trustees"; added present Subsections E, F, and H; redesignated former Subsection E as present Subsection G; and made minor changes in language and punctuation throughout the section.

ANNOTATIONS

Trustee may serve as director. — A member of the board of trustees of a rural electric cooperative incorporated under New Mexico's Rural Electric Cooperative Act (Sections 62-15-1 to 62-15-32 NMSA 1978) may serve as the salaried director of the cooperative with approval of the members. 1971 Op. Att'y Gen. No. 71-111.

62-15-9.1. Duties of trustees.

A trustee shall perform his duties as a trustee, including his duties as a member of any committee of the board upon which the trustee may serve, in good faith, in a manner the trustee believes to be in or not opposed to the best interests of the cooperative and with such care as an ordinarily prudent person would use under similar circumstances in a like position. In performing such duties, a trustee shall be entitled to rely on factual information, opinions, reports or statements including financial statements and other financial data in each case prepared or presented by:

A. one or more officers or employees of the cooperative whom the trustee reasonably believes to be reliable and competent in the matters presented;

B. counsel, public accountants or other persons as to matters which the trustee reasonably believes to be within such persons' professional or expert competence;

C. a committee of the board upon which the trustee does not serve, duly designated in accordance with a provision of the articles of incorporation or the bylaws as to matters within its designated authority, which committee the trustee reasonably believes to merit confidence, but the trustee shall not be considered to be acting in good faith if the trustee has knowledge concerning the matter in question that would cause such reliance to be unwarranted; or

D. any bulletin or other directive of the rural electrification administration, or successor agency, material to the matter in question.

A person who so performs such duties shall have no liability to the cooperative or to its members by reason of being or having been a trustee of the cooperative.

62-15-9.2. Limitation on liability and indemnification of officers and trustees.

A. Cumulative to any other provision of the Rural Electric Cooperative Act as now or hereafter enacted, the bylaws of a cooperative may provide that a trustee shall not be personally liable to the cooperative or to its members for monetary damages for breach of fiduciary duty as a trustee unless:

(1) the trustee has breached or failed to perform the duties of his office in compliance with Section 62-15-9.1 NMSA 1978; and

(2) the breach or failure to perform constitutes willful misconduct or reckless [recklessness]; or in the case of a trustee of a cooperative actively engaged in the generation and transmission of electric power, negligence, willful misconduct or recklessness. Such a provision in the bylaws shall, however, only eliminate the liability of a trustee for action taken as a trustee or any failure to take action as a trustee at meetings of the board of trustees or of a committee of the board of trustees, or by virtue of action of the trustees without a meeting as may be permitted by the Rural Electric Cooperative Act as now or hereafter enacted, on or after the date when such provision in the bylaws becomes effective.

B. Cumulative to any other power granted by the Rural Electric Cooperative Act as now or hereafter enacted, each cooperative shall have the power to indemnify any trustee or officer or former trustee or officer of the cooperative or any person serving or having served at the request of the cooperative as a director, trustee, officer, partner, trustee, employee or agent of any cooperative, corporation, nonprofit corporation, partnership, joint venture, trust, unincorporated association, other incorporated or unincorporated enterprise or employee benefit plan or trust against reasonable expenses, costs and attorneys' fees actually and reasonably incurred by him in connection with the defense of any action, suit or proceeding, civil or criminal, in which he is made a party by reason of holding or having held such an office or position. The indemnification may include any amounts paid to satisfy a judgment or to compromise or settle a claim. The trustee, officer or other person shall not be indemnified if he shall be adjudged to be liable on the basis that he breached or failed to perform the duties of his office or position and the breach or failure to perform constitutes willful misconduct or recklessness. Advance indemnification to such persons may be allowed for reasonable expenses to be incurred in connection with the defense of the action, suit or proceeding, provided that the trustee, officer or other person shall reimburse the cooperative if it is subsequently determined that he was not entitled to indemnification. Each cooperative may make any other indemnification as authorized by the articles of incorporation or bylaws or by resolution adopted by the members after notice.

62-15-10. Voting districts.

A. Notwithstanding any other provision of the Rural Electric Cooperative Act, the bylaws of a cooperative may provide that the territory in which a cooperative supplies electric energy to its members shall be divided into two or more voting districts and that, in respect of each such voting district:

- (1) a designated number of trustees shall be elected by the members residing in that district;
- (2) a designated number of delegates shall be elected by the members residing in that district; or
- (3) both trustees and delegates shall be elected by the members residing in that district.

B. The bylaws shall prescribe the manner in which voting districts, and the members, delegates and trustees thereof, if any, elected therefrom, shall function. The bylaws shall also set forth the powers of the delegates, which may include the power to elect trustees. No delegate who has voted by proxy or by mail on an issue or question shall vote in person on the same issue or question.

C. Voting by members at voting district meetings shall be in person, unless otherwise provided in the bylaws. The bylaws shall prescribe the conditions under which voting by mail shall be exercised.

History: Laws 1939, ch. 47, § 10; 1941 Comp., § 48-410; 1953 Comp., § 45-4-10; 2011, ch. 38, § 1; 2019, ch. 131, § 2.

The 2019 amendment, effective July 1, 2019, provided that no delegate of a rural electric cooperative who has voted by proxy or by mail on an issue or question shall vote in person on the same issue or question; in Subsection B, after "No delegate", deleted "at any meeting shall vote" and added "who has voted", and after "by proxy or by mail", added "on an issue or question shall vote in person on the same issue or question".

The 2011 amendment, effective June 17, 2011, added Subsection C to require that voting at voting district meetings be in person unless the bylaws provide otherwise, and to permit the bylaws to provide for voting by mail.

ANNOTATIONS

Amendment vote by districts rather than at general meeting deemed legal. — It is legal to provide for the amendment of bylaws by a majority vote of the members voting by districts, rather than at a general meeting of all the members. This interpretation does no violence to Section 62-15-7 NMSA 1978, since that section mentions "regular annual meeting" and "special meeting," and does not exclude a regular annual meeting or special meeting of a voting district. The interpretation is supported by the liberal construction required to be given these statutes under Section 62-15-32 NMSA 1978. 1961-62 Op. Att'y Gen. No. 61-62.

Rural electric cooperative cannot take away power of majority. — A rural electric cooperative may provide for the amendment of its bylaws by a vote taken at a series of meetings of voting districts rather than at a general meeting of all the members, but, in so doing, it cannot take away the power of the majority of members to adopt, amend or repeal the bylaws. 1961-62 Op. Att'y Gen. No. 61-62.

62-15-11. Officers.

The officers of a cooperative shall consist of a president, vice president, secretary and treasurer, who shall be elected annually by and from the board of trustees. No person shall continue to hold any of the above offices after he shall have ceased to be a trustee. The offices of secretary and of treasurer may be held by the same person. The board of trustees may also elect or appoint such other officers, agents or employees as it shall deem necessary or advisable and shall prescribe the powers and duties thereof. Any officer may be removed from office and his successor elected in the manner prescribed in the bylaws.

62-15-12. Amendment of articles of incorporation.

A. A cooperative may amend its articles of incorporation by complying with the following requirements:

(1) the proposed amendment shall be first approved by the board of trustees and shall then be submitted to a vote of the members at any annual or special meeting, the notice of which shall set forth the proposed amendment. The proposed amendment, with such changes as the members shall choose to make, shall be deemed to be approved on the affirmative vote of not less than two-thirds of those members voting on the amendment at that meeting; and

(2) upon approval by the members, articles of amendment shall be executed and acknowledged on behalf of the cooperative by its president or vice president, and its corporate seal shall be affixed thereto and attested by its secretary. The articles of amendment shall recite in the caption that they are executed pursuant to the Rural Electric Cooperative Act and shall state:

- (d) the amendment to its articles of incorporation.

The president or vice president executing the articles of amendment shall make and annex thereto an affidavit stating that the provisions of this section were duly complied with. The articles of amendment and affidavit shall be submitted to the secretary of state for filing as provided in the Rural Electric Cooperative Act.

B. A cooperative may, without amending its articles of incorporation, upon authorization of its board of trustees, change the location of its principal office by filing a certificate of change of principal office, executed and acknowledged by its president or vice president under its seal attested by its secretary, in the office of the secretary of state and in the office of the county clerk in each county in this state in which its articles of incorporation or any prior certificate of change of principal office was filed. The cooperative shall, within thirty days after the filing of the certificate of change of principal office in the office of the county clerk, file in the county clerk's office certified copies of its articles of incorporation and all amendments thereto, if they are not already on file in the county clerk's office.

History: Laws 1939, ch. 47, § 12; 1941 Comp., § 48-412; 1953 Comp., § 45-4-12; 2013, ch. 75, § 27.

The 2013 amendment, effective July 1, 2013, required that the articles of incorporation of a cooperative recite the date a certificate of change of office was filed with the secretary of state; in Subparagraph (c) of Paragraph (2) of Subsection A, after "in the office of the", deleted "state corporation commission" and added "secretary of state"; in the second unlettered paragraph of Subsection A, in the second sentence, after "submitted to the", deleted "state corporation commission" and added "secretary of state"; and in Subsection B, in the first sentence, after "in the office of the" deleted "state corporation commission" and added "secretary of state".

- (1) the name of each consolidating cooperative, the address of its principal office and the date of the filing of its articles of incorporation in the office of the secretary of state;
- (2) the name of the new cooperative and the address of its principal office;
- (3) the names and addresses of the persons who shall constitute the first board of trustees of the new cooperative;
- (4) the terms and conditions of the consolidation and the mode of carrying it into effect, including the manner and basis of converting memberships in each consolidating cooperative into memberships in the new cooperative and the issuance of certificates of membership in respect of the converted memberships; and
- (5) any provisions not inconsistent with the Rural Electric Cooperative Act deemed necessary or advisable for the conduct of the business and affairs of the new cooperative;

B. the proposition for the consolidation of the consolidating cooperatives into the new cooperative and the proposed articles of consolidation approved by the board of trustees of each consolidating cooperative shall then be submitted to a vote of the members of each consolidating cooperative at any annual or special meeting, the notice of which shall set forth full particulars concerning the proposed consolidation. The proposed consolidation and the proposed articles of consolidation shall be deemed to be approved upon the affirmative vote of a simple majority of those members of each consolidating cooperative voting thereon at that meeting; and

C. upon approval by the members of the respective consolidating cooperatives, articles of consolidation in the form approved shall be executed and acknowledged on behalf of each consolidating cooperative by its president or vice president, and its seal shall be affixed thereto and attested by its secretary. The president or vice president of each consolidating cooperative executing the articles of consolidation shall make and annex to the articles of incorporation an affidavit stating that the provisions of this section were duly complied with by that cooperative. A. the proposition for the merger of the merging cooperatives into the surviving cooperative and proposed articles of merger to give effect to the merger shall be first approved by the board of trustees of each merging cooperative and by the board of trustees of the surviving cooperative. ANNOTATIONS

Sales by rural electric cooperative exempt from school tax. — This statutory provision must be considered to exempt from the school tax the sale of electricity

by a rural electric cooperative to its customers. Since the legal incidence of the emergency school tax is upon the vendor of the goods or services as a tax with respect to his privilege of doing business, it is clearly immaterial to the consideration of the first inquiry that the cooperative, the purchaser of the goods or services, may not itself be subject directly to the tax because of this statute. 1957-58 Op. Liability from compensating tax for out-of-state purchases. — Rural electric administration cooperatives are not liable for the payment of compensating tax on their

In the event any provision of the Rural Electric Cooperative Act is held to be repugnant to any provision of the Public Utility Act or to a cooperative's inclusion as a public utility thereunder, the latter shall be controlling and the former shall be held repealed to the extent of the repugnancy. Nothing in the Public Utility Act shall be deemed to authorize interference with, abrogation or change of the rights or obligations of a party under a wholesale power supply agreement, mortgage or financing agreement to which a distribution cooperative utility is a party.

62-15-34. Renewable portfolio standard.

A. Except as provided in Subsection E of this section, each distribution cooperative organized under the Rural Electric Cooperative Act shall meet the renewable portfolio standard requirements, as provided in this section, to include renewable energy in its electric energy supply portfolio as demonstrated by its retirement of renewable energy certificates. Requirements and targets of the renewable portfolio standard are as follows:

(1) no later than January 1, 2015, renewable energy shall comprise no less than five percent of each distribution cooperative's total retail sales to New Mexico customers;

(2) the renewable portfolio standard shall increase by one percent per year thereafter until January 1, 2020, at which time the renewable portfolio standard shall be ten percent of the distribution cooperative's total retail sales to New Mexico customers;

(3) a distribution cooperative shall have the following targets and requirements for renewable energy and zero carbon resources as a percentage of the distribution cooperative's total retail sales in New Mexico:

- (a) a requirement of forty percent renewable energy by January 1, 2025;
- (b) a requirement of fifty percent renewable energy by January 1, 2030; and

(c) a target of achieving the zero carbon resource standard by January 1, 2050, composed of at least eighty percent renewable energy; provided that: 1) achieving the target is technically feasible; 2) the rural electric cooperative is able to provide reliable electric service while implementing the target; and 3) implementing the target shall not cause electric service to become unaffordable; and

(4) renewable energy resources that are in a distribution cooperative's energy supply portfolio on January 1, 2008 shall be counted in determining compliance with this section.

B. By April 30 of each year, a distribution cooperative shall file with the public regulation commission a report on its purchases and generation of renewable energy during the preceding calendar year. The report shall include the cost of the renewable energy resources purchased and generated by the distribution cooperative to meet the renewable portfolio standard, an explanation of steps taken to minimize those costs, including competitive procurement and comparison of the price of electricity from renewable energy resources in the bids received by the distribution cooperative to recent prices for such electricity elsewhere in the southwestern United States, and an annual compliance plan for meeting the renewable portfolio standard for the following three years.

C. If, in any given year, a distribution cooperative determines that the average annual levelized cost of renewable energy that would need to be procured or generated for purposes of compliance with the renewable portfolio standard would be greater than sixty dollars ($60.00) per megawatt-hour at the point of interconnection of the renewable energy resource with the transmission system, adjusted for inflation after 2020, the distribution cooperative shall not be required to incur that excess cost; provided that the existence of this condition excusing performance in any given year shall not operate to delay compliance with the renewable portfolio standard in subsequent years. The provisions of this subsection do not preclude a distribution cooperative from accepting a project with a cost that would exceed sixty dollars ($60.00) per megawatt-hour.

D. A distribution cooperative shall report to its membership a summary of its purchases and generation of renewable energy during the preceding calendar year.

E. A distribution cooperative organized pursuant to the Rural Electric Cooperative Act shall meet the requirements and targets of the renewable portfolio standard pursuant to Subsection A of this section as demonstrated by the cooperative's retirement of renewable energy certificates associated with energy assigned to the cooperative; provided that a generation and transmission cooperative referred to in Section 62-6-4 NMSA 1978 shall be responsible for meeting the requirements and targets for all energy supplied to the distribution cooperatives in New Mexico. Energy from renewable energy and zero carbon resources that a generation and transmission cooperative supplies in compliance with the requirements and targets shall be verified at the point where the generation and transmission cooperative produces or takes delivery of the energy on behalf of the distribution cooperatives that the generation and transmission cooperative is serving.

The 2019 amendment, effective June 14, 2019, established new targets and requirements regarding New Mexico's renewable energy standard applicable to rural electric cooperatives, removed the requirement that renewable resources be diversified, required that renewable energy comprise forty percent of each cooperative's load by the year 2025, fifty percent by the year 2030, and a target of achieving the zero carbon resource standard by the year 2050, changed a general renewable energy exemption based on cost to a more specific $60/MWh at the generator average cost limit, required rural electric cooperatives to meet the renewable portfolio standard requirements, and provided for verification of energy from renewable and zero carbon resources; in Subsection A, added "Except as provided in Subsection E of this section", after "electric energy supply portfolio", added "as demonstrated by its retirement of renewable energy certificates", after "Requirements", added "and targets", and after "renewable portfolio standard are", added "as follows", and in Paragraph A(3), deleted language requiring the renewable portfolio standard of each distribution cooperative be diversified, and completely rewrote the paragraph; deleted former Subsection B, which provided an exemption based on the cost of renewable energy, and redesignated former Subsection C as Subsection B; in Subsection B, after "renewable portfolio standard", added the remainder of the subsection; and added new Subsections C and E.

The 2014 amendment, effective March 6, 2014, changed the reporting date on purchases and generation of renewable energy for distribution cooperatives; in Subsection A, in Paragraph (3), after "availability", deleted "and"; and in Subsection C, in the first sentence, after "By", changed "March 1" to "April 30".

62-15-35. Renewable energy certificates; commission duties.

The public regulation commission shall establish:

A. a system of renewable energy certificates that can be used by a distribution cooperative to establish compliance with the renewable portfolio standard and that may include certificates that are monitored, accounted for or transferred by or through a regional system or trading program for any region in which a rural electric cooperative is located. The kilowatt-hour value of renewable energy certificates may be varied by renewable energy resource or technology; provided that:

(1) each renewable energy certificate shall have a minimum value of one kilowatt-hour for purposes of compliance with the renewable portfolio standard;

(2) three thousand four hundred twelve British thermal units of useful thermal energy is equivalent to one kilowatt hour for purposes of compliance with the renewable portfolio standard; and

(3) the following equation shall be used to calculate the annual renewable energy certificate value for a geothermal heat pump system: $(\text{coefficient of performance of heat pump unit} - 1) \times (\text{ton rating of heat pump unit} / .9) = \text{number of megawatt-hours of renewable energy certificates}$; and

B. requirements and procedures concerning renewable energy certificates that include the provisions that:

(1) renewable energy certificates:

(a) are owned by the generator of the renewable energy unless: 1) the renewable energy certificates are transferred to the purchaser of the energy through specific agreement with the generator; 2) the generator is a qualifying facility, as defined by the federal Public Utility Regulatory Policies Act of 1978, in which case the renewable energy certificates are owned by the distribution cooperative purchaser of the renewable energy unless retained by the generator through specific agreement with the distribution cooperative purchaser of the energy; 3) a contract for the purchase of renewable energy is in effect prior to January 1, 2004, in which case the renewable energy certificates are owned by the purchaser of the energy for the term of such contract; or 4) the generator is a community solar facility, excluding a native community solar project, as those terms are defined in the Community Solar Act [62-16B-1 to 62-16B-8 NMSA 1978], in which case the renewable energy certificates are owned by the distribution cooperative to whose electric distribution system the community solar facility is interconnected;

(b) may be traded, sold or otherwise transferred by their owner to any other party; provided that the transfers and use of the certificate by a distribution cooperative for compliance with the renewable energy portfolio standard shall require the electric or useful thermal energy represented by the certificate to be contracted for delivery or consumed, or generated by an end-use customer of the distribution cooperative in New Mexico unless the commission determines that the distribution cooperative is participating in a national or regional market for exchanging renewable energy certificates;

(c) that are used for the purpose of meeting the renewable portfolio standard shall be registered, beginning January 1, 2008, with a renewable energy generation information system that is designed to create and track ownership of renewable energy certificates and that, through the use of independently audited generation data, verifies the generation and delivery of electricity or useful thermal energy associated with each renewable energy certificate and protects against multiple counting of the same renewable energy certificate;

(d) that are used once by a distribution cooperative to satisfy the renewable portfolio standard and are retired or that are traded, sold or otherwise transferred by the distribution cooperative shall not be further used by the distribution cooperative; and

(e) that are not used by a distribution cooperative to satisfy the renewable portfolio standard or that are not traded, sold or otherwise transferred by the distribution cooperative may be carried forward for up to four years from the date of issuance and, if not used by that time, shall be retired by the distribution cooperative; and

(2) a distribution cooperative shall be responsible for demonstrating that a renewable energy certificate used for compliance with the renewable portfolio standard is derived from eligible renewable energy resources and has not been retired, traded, sold or otherwise transferred to another party.

For the federal Public Utility Regulatory Policies Act of 1978, see 16 U.S.C. §§ 2601 to 2645.

The 2021 amendment, effective June 18, 2021, provided that renewable energy certificates are owned by the distribution cooperative to whose electric distribution system the community solar facility is interconnected when the generator of renewable energy is a community solar facility and provided an exception for native community solar projects; and in Subsection B, added Item B(1)(a)4.

The 2015 amendment, effective July 1, 2015, allowed renewable energy certificates to be issued for the use of thermal energy produced by geothermal energy sources and set standards for measurement of thermal energy and geothermal heat pumps; in Subsection A, after "provided that", designated the remainder of the subsection as Paragraph (1) of Subsection A; added Paragraphs (2) and (3) of Subsection A; in Paragraph (1)(b) of Subsection B, after "require the electric", added "or useful thermal"; and in Paragraph (1)(c) of Subsection B, after "delivery of electricity", added "or useful thermal energy".

62-15-36. Renewable energy and conservation fee.

A. A distribution cooperative may collect from its customers a renewable energy and conservation fee of no more than one percent of the customer's bill. In no event shall a distribution cooperative collect more than seventy-five thousand dollars ($75,000) annually through the renewable energy and conservation fee from any single customer. Money collected through the renewable energy and conservation fee shall be segregated in a separate renewable energy and conservation account from other distribution cooperative funds and shall be expended only on programs or projects to promote the use of renewable energy, load management or energy efficiency. A distribution cooperative that collects a renewable energy and conservation fee from its customers shall report to the public regulation commission by March 1 of the following year the following information:

(1) the amount of money collected through the renewable energy and conservation fee in the previous calendar year;

(2) the programs or projects on which the funds collected were expended; and

(3) the determination of the distribution cooperative as to whether and in what amount to assess a renewable energy and conservation fee in the next calendar year.

B. Each distribution cooperative that collects a renewable energy and conservation fee from its customers shall deduct from the fees paid to the state pursuant to Section 62-8-8 NMSA 1978 an amount equal to fifty percent of the amount of money collected through the renewable energy and conservation fee during the preceding calendar year. The money shall be included in the account with other money from the renewable energy and conservation fee and expended only on programs or projects to promote the use of renewable energy, load management or energy efficiency.

(c) identification of the barriers to, and benefits of, achieving the standard.

C. Any customer that is a political subdivision of the state, or any educational institution designated in Article 12, Section 11 of the constitution of New Mexico with an enrollment of twenty thousand students or more during the fall semester on its main campus, with consumption exceeding twenty thousand megawatt-hours per year at any single location or facility and that owns facilities that produce renewable energy or hosts such facilities through a renewable purchased power agreement, shall not be charged by the utility for power purchases of one year or less or fuel on the amount of electricity purchased from the utility equal to the amount of renewable energy produced or hosted by the customer. The customer shall annually certify to the state auditor and notify the commission and the customer's serving electric utility of the amount of renewable energy produced at the customer-owned or customer-hosted facilities that generate renewable energy. The customer shall also certify to the state auditor and notify the commission that the customer will retire all renewable energy certificates associated with the renewable energy produced by those facilities. Any financial benefits as a result of the provisions of this subsection shall accrue to the customer immediately upon the effective date of this 2019 act and shall be reflected in customer bills each month, subject to annual true-up and reconciliation. The provisions of this subsection shall not prevent the utility from recovering all of its reasonable and prudent fuel and purchased power costs.

D. Upon a motion or application by a public utility the commission shall, or upon a motion or application by any other person the commission may, open a docket to develop and provide financial or other incentives to encourage public utilities to produce or acquire renewable energy that exceeds the applicable annual renewable portfolio standard set forth in this section; results in reductions in carbon dioxide emissions earlier than required by Subsection A of this section; or causes a reduction in the generation of electricity by coal-fired generating facilities, including coal-fired generating facilities located outside of New Mexico. The incentives may include additional earnings and capital investment opportunities for resources used in furtherance of the outcomes described in this subsection.

E. If, in any given year, a public utility determines that the average annual levelized cost of renewable energy that would need to be procured or generated for purposes of compliance with the renewable portfolio standard would be greater than the reasonable cost threshold, the public utility shall not be required to incur that excess cost; provided that the existence of this condition excusing performance in any given year shall not operate to delay compliance with the renewable portfolio standard in subsequent years. The provisions of this subsection do not preclude a public utility from accepting a project with a cost that would exceed the reasonable cost threshold. When a public utility can generate or procure renewable energy at or below the reasonable cost threshold, it shall be required to do so to the extent necessary to meet the applicable renewable portfolio standard and shall not be precluded from exceeding the standard.

F. By September 1, 2007 and until June 30, 2019, a public utility shall file a report to the commission on its procurement and generation of renewable energy during the prior calendar year and a procurement plan that includes:

- (1) the cost of procurement for any new renewable energy resource in the next calendar year required to comply with the renewable portfolio standard; and
- (2) testimony and exhibits that demonstrate that the proposed procurement is reasonable as to its terms and conditions considering price, availability, reliability, any renewable energy certificate values and diversity of the renewable energy resource; or
- (3) demonstration that the plan is otherwise in the public interest.

G. By July 1, 2020, and each July 1 thereafter, a public utility shall file a report to the commission on the public utility's procurement and generation of renewable energy since the last report and a procurement plan that includes:

- (1) the cost of procurement for new renewable energy required to comply with the renewable portfolio standard;
- (2) the capital, operating and fuel costs on a per-megawatt-hour basis during the preceding calendar year of each nonrenewable generation resource rate-based by the utility, or dedicated to the utility through a power purchase agreement of one year or longer, and the nonrenewable generation resources' carbon dioxide emissions on a per-megawatt-hour basis during that same year;
- (3) information, including exhibits, as applicable, that demonstrates that the proposed procurement:
 - (a) was the result of competitive procurement that included opportunities for bidders to propose purchased power, facility self-build or facility build-transfer options;
 - (b) has a cost that is reasonable as evidenced by a comparison of the price of electricity from renewable energy resources in the bids received by the public utility to recent prices for comparable energy resources elsewhere in the southwestern United States; and
 - (c) is in the public interest, considering factors such as overall cost and economic development opportunities; and
- (4) strategies used to minimize costs of renewable energy integration, including location, diversity, balancing area activity, demand-side management and load management.

H. The commission shall approve or modify a public utility's procurement plan within ninety days and may approve the plan without a hearing, unless a protest is filed that demonstrates to the commission's reasonable satisfaction that a hearing is necessary. The commission may modify a plan after notice and hearing. The commission may, for good cause, extend the time to approve a procurement plan for an additional ninety days. If the commission does not act within the ninety-day period, the procurement plan is deemed approved.

I. The commission may reject a procurement plan if, within forty days of filing, the commission finds that the plan does not contain the required information and, upon the rejection, shall provide the public utility the time necessary to file a revised plan; provided that the total amount of renewable energy required to be procured by the public utility shall not change.

History: Laws 2004, ch. 65, § 4; 2007, ch. 4, § 8; 2011, ch. 93, § 1; 2014, ch. 41, § 1; 2019, ch. 65, § 29.

The 2019 amendment, effective June 14, 2019, required that public utilities demonstrate compliance with the renewable portfolio standard requirements by their retirement of renewable energy certificates, expanded the renewable energy standard to require forty percent renewable energy by the year 2025, fifty percent by the year 2030, eighty percent by the year 2040, and one hundred percent emission free by the year 2045, provided additional duties for the public regulation commission in administering new standards, expanded the application of certain provisions to educational institutions with an enrollment of twenty thousand students or more, expanded a directive to the public regulation commission to provide incentives to public utilities to exceed the law's renewable requirements, and provided additional reporting requirements for public utilities; in Subsection A, added "as demonstrated by its retirement of renewable energy certificates; provided that the associated renewable energy is delivered to the public utility and assigned to the public utility's New Mexico customers. For public utilities other than rural electric cooperatives and municipalities", deleted Paragraph A(1) and Subparagraphs A(1)(a) and A(1)(b) and redesignated former Subparagraphs A(1)(c) and A(1)(d) as Paragraphs A(1) and A(2), respectively, deleted former Paragraph A(2) and added new Paragraphs A(3) through A(6); added a new Subsection B and redesignated former Paragraph A(3) as Subsection C, Paragraph A(5) as Subsection D, and former Subsection B as Subsection E, respectively; in Subsection C, after "with an enrollment of", deleted "twenty-four" and added "twenty", after "consumption exceeding twenty", deleted the remaining language of former Paragraph A(3), deleted Paragraph A(4) and added the remainder of the subsection; in Subsection D, after "Upon a", deleted "commission", after "shall", added "or upon a motion or application by any other person the commission may", after "docket to", added "develop and", after "provide", deleted "appropriate performance-based", after "public utilities to", added "produce or", and deleted "The commission shall initiate rules by June 1, 2008 to implement this subsection; and", deleted former Paragraph A(6) and added the remainder of the subsection; in Subsection E, after "determines that the", added "average annual levelized", after "shall not operate to delay", deleted "the annual increases in" and added "compliance with", added "The provisions of this subsection do not preclude a public utility from accepting a project with a cost that would exceed the reasonable cost threshold.", after "required to", deleted "add renewable energy resources" and added "do so to the extent necessary", and after "applicable renewable portfolio standard", deleted "applicable in the year when the renewable energy resources are being added"; deleted former Subsection C and redesignated former Subsection D as Subsection F; in Subsection F, deleted "and July 1 of each year thereafter until 2022, and thereafter as determined necessary by the commission" and added "and until June 30, 2019", in Paragraph F(2), after "availability", deleted "dispatchability" and added "reliability"; added a new Subsection G and redesignated former Subsections E and F as Subsections H and I, respectively; in Subsection H, after "modify a public utility's", deleted "procurement or transitional"; in Subsection I, after "may reject a", deleted "procurement or transitional", after "procurement plan if", added

The 2014 amendment, effective May 21, 2014, exempted certain state educational institutions from charges for renewable energy procurements; and in Subsection A, in Paragraph (3), after "political subdivision of the state", added "or any educational institution designated in Article 12, Section 11 of the constitution of New Mexico, with an enrollment of twenty-four thousand students or more during the fall semester on its campus".

The 2011 amendment, effective June 17, 2011, added Paragraph (3) of Subsection A to exempt certain political subdivisions from all charges by public utilities for renewable energy procurements if the political subdivision certifies that it will expend two and one-half percent of annual electricity charges to develop renewable energy generation.

The 2007 amendment, effective July 1, 2007, added Paragraph (1) of Subsection A, which added requirements for public utilities other than rural electric cooperatives and municipalities; deleted former Paragraph (2) of Subsection A, which provided that the renewable portfolio standard shall increase by one percent per year until January 1, 2011 when the renewal portfolio standard will remain fixed at ten percent per year; added Subparagraphs (b) through (d) of Paragraph (1) of Subsection A; added Paragraph (4) of Subsection A; in Subsection D, changed the date from September 1 of each year until 2012 to September 1, 2007 and July 1 of each year thereafter until 2022; changed the content of the report from purchases to procurement and generation; in Subsection E, changed all time periods from sixty days to ninety days; and added Subsection H.

Recovery of large customer cap costs. — The public regulation commission has discretion to determine whether renewable energy procurement reductions are necessary when large customer cap costs arise, and this section does not bar the allocation of large customer cap costs to customers who are not subject to a legislatively imposed limit on their renewable energy costs. N.M. Att'y. Gen. v. N.M. Pub. Regulation Comm'n, 2015-NMSC-032.

Where the public regulation commission (PRC) approved utility's renewable energy cost rider which sought to recover $22 million of renewable energy procurement costs from customers who are not subject to a legislatively imposed limit on their renewable energy costs (non-capped customers), the PRC properly allocated large customer cap costs to non-capped customers to enable the utility to recover its reasonable renewable energy procurement costs; such a recovery mechanism is the only viable method of cost recovery that is consistent with the purposes of the Renewable Energy Act, 62-16-1 through 62-16-10 NMSA 1978. N.M. Att'y. Gen. v. N.M. Pub. Regulation Comm'n, 2015-NMSC-032.

62-16-5. Renewable energy certificates; commission duties.

A. The commission shall establish:

(1) a system of renewable energy certificates that can be used by a public utility to establish compliance with the renewable portfolio standard and that may include certificates that are monitored, accounted for or transferred by or through a regional system or trading program for any region in which a public utility is located; and

(2) requirements and procedures concerning requirements for renewable energy certificates pursuant to Subsections B and C of this section.

B. Renewable energy certificates:

(1) are owned by the generator of the renewable energy unless:

(a) the renewable energy certificates are transferred to the purchaser of the electricity through specific agreement with the generator;

(b) the generator is a qualifying facility, as defined by the federal Public Utility Regulatory Policies Act of 1978, in which case the renewable energy certificates are owned by the public utility purchaser of the renewable energy;

(c) a contract for the purchase of renewable energy is in effect prior to July 1, 2019, in which case the renewable energy certificates are owned by the purchaser of the electricity for the term of such contract, unless otherwise agreed to in a contract approved by the commission; or

(d) the generator is a community solar facility, excluding a native community solar project, as those terms are defined in the Community Solar Act [62-16B-1 to 62-16B-8 NMSA 1978], in which case the renewable energy certificates are owned by the public utility to whose electric distribution system the community solar facility is interconnected;

(2) may be traded, sold or otherwise transferred by their owner, unless the certificates are from a rate-based public utility plant, in which case the entirety of the renewable energy certificates from that plant shall be retired by the utility on behalf of itself or its customers. Any contract to purchase renewable energy entered into by a public utility on or after July 1, 2019 shall include conveyance to the purchasing utility of all renewable energy certificates, and the entirety of those certificates shall be retired by that utility on behalf of itself or its customers or subsequently transferred to a retail customer for retirement under a voluntary program for purchasing renewable energy approved by the commission. A utility shall not claim that it is providing renewable energy from generation resources for which it has traded, sold or transferred the associated renewable energy certificates. The commission shall not disallow the recovery of the cost associated with any expired renewable energy certificate. The public utility shall annually file a report with the commission discussing:

(a) its use, sale, trading or transfer of renewable energy certificates; and

(b) whether and how its public claims of renewable energy generation account for renewable energy certificates that it has traded, sold or transferred;

(3) that are used for the purpose of meeting the renewable portfolio standard shall be registered with a renewable energy generation information system that is designed to create and track ownership of renewable energy certificates and that, through the use of independently audited generation data, verifies the generation and delivery of electricity associated with each renewable energy certificate and protects against multiple counting of the same renewable energy certificate; and

(4) may be carried forward for up to four years from the date of issuance to establish compliance with the renewable portfolio standard, after which they shall be deemed retired by the public utility.

C. A public utility shall be responsible for demonstrating that a renewable energy certificate used for compliance with the renewable portfolio standard is derived from eligible renewable energy resources.

History: Laws 2004, ch. 65, § 5; 2007, ch. 4, § 9; 2019, ch. 65, § 30; 2021, ch. 34, § 10.

Cross references. — For the Federal Public Utility Regulatory Policies Act of 1978, see 16 U.S.C. §§ 2601 to 2645.

The 2021 amendment, effective June 18, 2021, provided that renewable energy certificates are owned by the public utility to whose electric distribution system the community solar facility is interconnected when the generator of renewable energy is a community solar facility and provided an exception for native community solar projects; and in Subsection B, added Subparagraph B(1)(d).

The 2019 amendment, effective June 14, 2019, prohibited the trading, selling, or transferring of renewable energy certificates from rate-based public utility plants, and provided additional duties and responsibilities for public utilities regarding the sale or transfer of renewable energy certificates; added new subsection designation "A" and redesignated former Subsections A and B as Paragraphs A(1) and A(2), respectively; in Subsection A, Paragraph A(1), after "in which a public utility is located", deleted the remainder of the paragraph, which related to the kilowatt-hour value of renewable energy certificates, and in Paragraph A(2), after "renewable energy certificates", deleted "that include the provisions that" and added "pursuant to Subsections B and C of this section"; redesignated former Paragraph B(1) as Subsection B, former Subparagraph B(1)(a) as Paragraph B(1), former Subparagraph B(1)(a)1 as Subparagraph B(1)(a), former Subparagraph B(1)(a)2 as Subparagraph B(1)(a), former Subparagraph B(1)(a)3 as Subparagraph B(1)(a)3, and former Subparagraph B(1)(a)4 as Subparagraph B(1)(a)4.

(c), former Subparagraph B(1)(b) as Paragraph B(2), former Subparagraph B(1)(c) as Paragraph B(3), and former Paragraph B(2) as Subsection C; in Subsection B, Subparagraph B(1)(b), after "transferred to the purchase of the", deleted "energy" and added "electricity", in Subparagraph B(1)(b), after "purchaser of the renewable energy", deleted "unless retained by the generator through specific agreement with the public utility purchaser of the energy", in Subparagraph B(1)(c), changed "January 1, 2004" to "July 1, 2019", and after "such contract", added "unless otherwise agreed to in a contract approved by the commission", in Paragraph B(2), after "transferred by their owner", deleted language related to the transfer of renewable energy certificates and added the remainder of the paragraph, in Paragraph B(3), after "shall be registered", deleted "beginning January 1, 2009", deleted former Subparagraphs B(1)(d) and B(1)(e) and added paragraph designation "(4)", in Paragraph B(4), after "date of issuance", deleted "and, if not used by that time" and added "to establish compliance with the renewable portfolio standard, after which they"; and in Subsection C, after "eligible renewable energy resources", deleted "and has not been retired, traded, sold or otherwise transferred to another party".

The 2007 amendment, effective July 1, 2007, added the provision in Subparagraph (b) of Paragraph (1) of Subsection B that the electric energy be consumed or generated by an end-use customer of the public utility; and added Subparagraph (c) of Paragraph (1) of Subsection B.

62-16-6. Cost recovery for renewable energy and emissions reduction.

A. A public utility that procures or generates renewable energy shall recover, through the rate-making process, the reasonable costs of complying with the renewable portfolio standard. Costs that are consistent with commission approval of procurement plans or transitional procurement plans shall be deemed to be reasonable.

B. The commission shall not exclude from such cost recovery reasonable interconnection and transmission costs and costs to comply with electric industry reliability standards incurred by the public utility in order to deliver renewable energy to retail New Mexico customers.

C. If a public utility has been granted a certificate of public convenience and necessity prior to January 1, 2015 to construct or operate an electric generation facility and the investment in that facility has been allowed recovery as part of the utility's rate-base, the commission may require the facility to discontinue serving customers within New Mexico if the replacement has less or zero carbon dioxide emissions into the atmosphere; provided that no order of the commission shall disallow recovery of any undepreciated investments or decommissioning costs associated with the facility.

History: Laws 2004, ch. 65, § 6; 2007, ch. 4, § 10; 2019, ch. 65, § 31.

The 2019 amendment, effective June 14, 2019, prohibited the public regulation commission from excluding reasonable costs of recovery and costs to comply with electric industry reliability standards that are incurred to deliver renewable energy, and authorized the public regulation commission to require certain electric generation facilities to discontinue serving customers in the state if a replacement has less or zero carbon dioxide emissions into the atmosphere; in the section heading, added "and emissions reduction"; in Subsection B, after "transmission costs", added "and costs to comply with electric industry reliability standards"; and completely rewrote Subsection C.

The 2007 amendment, effective July 1, 2007, added Subsection C.

Rate making process. — The rate-making process includes both general rate cases and automatic adjustment clause recovery, depending upon the type of cost involved. N.M. Indus. Energy Consumers v. N.M. PRC, 2007-NMSC-053, 142 N.M. 533, 168 P.3d 105.

Cost of investor-supplied prepaid pension asset may be included in utility's rate base. — A utility can include prepayments for pension expenses in its rate base because the utility is out-of-pocket for such costs until they are recovered from ratepayers and is therefore entitled to recover its costs of financing such prepaid expenses; only investor-supplied working capital may be included in the rate base. N.M. Att'y. Gen. v. N.M. Pub. Regulation Comm'n, 2015-NMSC-032.

Where utility's investors made contributions to its pension fund which generated earnings that effectively reduced the utility's pension expense, and the investors, not the ratepayers, absorbed the cost of funding the pension program, the prepaid pension asset was properly included in the rate base because the asset amounted to working capital that benefitted the ratepayers by reducing the total pension costs needed in the utility's revenue requirement. N.M. Att'y. Gen. v. N.M. Pub. Regulation Comm'n, 2015-NMSC-032.

62-16-7. Commission; powers and duties; voluntary programs.

A. The commission:

(1) shall adopt rules regarding the renewable portfolio standard, including a provision for public utility records and reports; and

(2) may require that a public utility offer its retail customers a voluntary program for purchasing renewable energy that is in addition to electricity provided by the public utility pursuant to the renewable portfolio standard, under rates and terms that are approved by the commission.

B. All renewable energy purchased by a retail customer through an approved voluntary program shall:

(1) have all associated renewable energy certificates retired by the retail customer, or on that customer's behalf, by the public utility, and the certificates shall not be used to meet the public utility's renewable portfolio standard requirements pursuant to Subsection A of Section 62-16-4 NMSA 1978;

(2) be excluded from the total retail sales to New Mexico customers used to determine the renewable portfolio standard requirements pursuant to Subsection A of Section 62-16-4 NMSA 1978; and

(3) not be subject to charges by the public utility to recover costs of complying with the renewable portfolio standard requirements pursuant to Subsection A of Section 62-16-4 NMSA 1978.

History: Laws 2004, ch. 65, § 7; 2019, ch. 65, § 32.

The 2019 amendment, effective June 14, 2019, removed the renewable portfolio standard exemption for all-requirements electric supply contracts, and required that all renewable energy certificates associated with voluntary renewable energy purchase programs be retired by the public utility, be excluded from the total retail sales to New Mexico customers, and not be subject to charges by the public utility; in the section heading, deleted "additional" and added "voluntary programs"; added new subsection designation "A" and redesignated former Subsections A and B as Paragraphs A(1) and A(2), respectively; deleted former Subsection C, which related to a renewable portfolio standard exemption, and added a new Subsection B.

A. The commission may require that a rural electric cooperative:

(1) offer its retail customers a voluntary program for purchasing renewable energy under rates and terms that are approved by the commission;

(2) report to the commission the demand for renewable energy pursuant to a voluntary program; and

(3) comply with the requirements for the procurement of renewable energy set forth in the Rural Electric Cooperative Act [Chapter 62, Article 15 NMSA 1978].

B. The commission shall establish and amend rules and regulations for the implementation of renewable portfolio standards consistent with the Rural Electric Cooperative Act.

History: Laws 2004, ch. 65, § 8; 2007, ch. 4, § 11; 2019, ch. 65, § 33.

suppliers make renewable energy available under wholesale power contracts".

The 2007 amendment, effective July 1, 2007, added Paragraph (3) of Subsection A and added Subsection B.

History: Laws 2004, ch. 65, § 9; 2019, ch. 65, § 34.

The 2019 amendment, effective June 14, 2019, required the public regulation commission to promulgate rules to implement the provisions of the Renewable Energy Act; and after "shall", deleted "establish and amend" and added "promulgate", and after "rules", deleted "and regulations for the implementation of renewable portfolio standards consistent" and added "to implement the provisions of".

History: Laws 2004, ch. 65, § 10; 2019, ch. 65, § 35.

The 2019 amendment, effective June 14, 2019, allowed a public utility to use renewable energy procured or generated to comply with a federal law, rule or regulation to be used to satisfy the procurement requirements of the Renewable Energy Act; and after "generated by a public utility to", deleted "meet" and added "comply with", and after "federal", deleted "renewable portfolio standard" and added "law, rule or regulation".

62-16A-3. New Mexico renewable energy transmission authority created; organization.

A. The "New Mexico renewable energy transmission authority" is created as a public body, politic and corporate, separate and apart from the state, constituting a governmental instrumentality for the performance of essential public functions.

B. The authority shall be composed of six members as follows:

(1) three members appointed by the governor with the advice and consent of the senate. The initial appointees shall be appointed for staggered terms of one, two and three years; thereafter, the members shall be appointed for three-year terms;

(2) the state treasurer or the state treasurer's designee;

(3) one member appointed by the speaker of the house of representatives who shall serve at the pleasure of the speaker of the house; and

(4) one member appointed by the president pro tempore of the senate who shall serve at the pleasure of the president pro tempore.

C. The qualifications of the members shall be as follows:

(1) one member appointed by the governor shall have expertise in financial matters involving the financing of major electrical transmission projects;

(2) the other four appointed members shall have:

(a) special knowledge of the public utility industry, as evidenced by college degrees or by experience, at least five years of which must be with the public utility industry; and

(b) knowledge of renewable energy development; and

(3) no member shall represent a person that owns or operates facilities.

D. The members initially appointed by the speaker of the house and the president pro tempore of the senate shall, by lot, determine one to have an initial term of two years and one to have an initial term of four years; thereafter, the appointments will be for staggered terms of four years.

E. In addition to the six voting members, the secretary of energy, minerals and natural resources shall serve as an ex-officio nonvoting member of the authority.

F. The governor shall designate an appointed member of the authority to serve as chair, and the authority may elect annually such other officers as it deems necessary.

G. The authority shall meet at the call of the chair or whenever four members shall so request in writing. A majority of members then serving constitutes a quorum for the transaction of business, but the affirmative vote of at least four members is necessary for any action to be taken by the authority.

H. The authority is not created or organized, and its operations are not conducted, for the purpose of making a profit, but it is expected to recover the costs of operating the authority. No part of the revenues or assets of the authority shall benefit or be distributable to its members, officers or other private persons. The members of the authority shall receive no compensation for their services, but the public members shall be reimbursed for actual and necessary expenses at the same rate and on the same basis as provided for public officers in the Per Diem and Mileage Act [10-8-1 through 10-8-8 NMSA 1978].

I. The authority is not subject to the supervision or control of any other board, bureau, department or agency of the state except as specifically provided in the New Mexico Renewable Energy Transmission Authority Act. No use of the terms "state agency" or "instrumentality" in any other law of the state shall be deemed to refer to the authority unless the authority is specifically referred to in the law.

J. The authority is a governmental instrumentality for purposes of the Tort Claims Act [41-4-1 through 41-4-27 NMSA 1978].

History: Laws 2007, ch. 3, § 3; 2011, ch. 51, § 4.

The 2011 amendment, effective July 1, 2011, decreased the number of members of the board from seven

The executive director of the authority shall direct the affairs and business of the authority, subject to the policies, control and direction of the authority; and

(3) maintain such records and accounts of revenues and expenditures as required by the state auditor. The state auditor or the state auditor's designee shall conduct an annual financial and legal compliance audit of the accounts of the authority and file copies with the governor and the legislature.

B. The authority may:

(8) pursuant to the provisions of the Eminent Domain Code [42A-1-1 through 42A-1-33 NMSA 1978], exercise the power of eminent domain for acquiring property or rights of way for public use if needed for projects if such action does not involve taking utility property or does not materially diminish electric service reliability of the transmission system in New Mexico, as determined by the public regulation commission;

(9) receive by gift, grant, donation or otherwise, any sum of money, aid or assistance from the United States, the state of New Mexico, any other state, any political subdivision or any other public or private entity;

(10) for any project, provide information and training to employees of the project regarding any unique hazards that may be posed by the project, as well as training in safety work practices and emergency procedures;

(15) borrow money necessary to carry out the purposes of the New Mexico Renewable Energy Transmission Authority Act and mortgage and pledge any leases, loans or contracts executed and delivered by the authority;

(16) sue and be sued; and

(17) adopt such reasonable administrative and procedural rules as may be necessary or appropriate to carry out its powers and duties.

C. Except as provided in this subsection, the authority shall not enter into any project if public utilities or other private persons are performing the acts, are constructing or have constructed the facilities, or are providing the services contemplated by the authority, and are willing to provide funds for and own new infrastructure to meet an identified need and market. Before entering into a project, the following procedures shall be implemented:

(1) the authority shall provide to each public utility and the public regulation commission and publish one time in a newspaper of general circulation in New Mexico and one time in a newspaper in the area where the eligible facilities are contemplated and on a publicly accessible web page maintained by the authority, an initial notice describing the project that the authority is contemplating, including a detailed description of the existing or anticipated renewable energy sources that justify the determination by the authority that the project facilities are eligible facilities. The description shall contain, at a minimum, the names of all persons that already are or will develop the renewable energy sources, all persons that will own the renewable energy sources and the peak output capacity, source type, location and anticipated connection date of the renewable energy sources;

(2) any person with an interest that may be affected by the proposed project shall have thirty days from the date of the last publication of the initial notice to challenge, in writing, the determination by the authority that the facilities are eligible facilities. If a challenge is received by the authority within the thirty days, the authority shall hold a public hearing no sooner than thirty days after receiving the challenge and after a minimum of two weeks notice in the same newspapers and web page in which the initial notice was given. Following the public hearing, the authority shall make a final determination of eligibility and give notice of the determination pursuant to Section 39-3-1.1 NMSA 1978. Any person or governmental entity participating in the hearing may appeal the final determination by filing a notice of appeal with the district court pursuant to Section 39-3-1.1 NMSA 1978;

(3) public utilities and other persons willing and able to provide money for, acquire, maintain and operate the eligible facilities described in the notice shall have the following time period to notify the authority of intention and ability to provide money for, acquire, maintain and operate the eligible facilities described in the notice:

(a) within ninety days of the date of the last publication of the initial notice if no challenge is received pursuant to Paragraph (2) of this subsection; or

(b) within ninety days of the date of the notice of determination if a challenge is received pursuant to Paragraph (2) of this subsection; and

(4) in the absence of notification by a public utility or other person pursuant to Paragraph (3) of this subsection, or if a person, having given notice of intention to provide money for, acquire, maintain and operate the eligible facilities contemplated by the authority, fails to make a good faith effort to commence the same within twelve months from the date of notification by the authority of its intention, the authority may proceed to finance or plan, acquire, maintain and operate the eligible facilities originally contemplated, provided that a person that, within the time required, has made necessary applications to acquire federal, state, local or private permits, certificates or other approvals necessary to acquire the eligible facilities shall be deemed to have commenced the same as long as the person diligently pursues the permits, certificates or other approvals.

D. In soliciting and entering into contracts for the transmission or storage of electricity, the authority and any person leasing or operating eligible facilities financed or acquired by the authority shall, if practical, give priority to those contracts that will transmit or store electricity to be sold and consumed in New Mexico.

E. The authority and any eligible facilities acquired by the authority are not subject to the supervision, regulation, control or jurisdiction of the public regulation commission; provided that nothing in this subsection shall be interpreted to allow a public utility to include the cost of using eligible facilities in its rate base without the approval of the public regulation commission.

F. In exercising its powers and duties, the authority shall not own or control facilities unless:

(1) the facilities are leased to or held for lease or sale to a public utility or such other person approved by the public regulation commission;

(2) the operation, maintenance and use of the facilities are vested by lease or other contract in a public utility or such other person approved by the public regulation commission;

(3) the facilities are owned or controlled for a period of not more than one hundred eighty days after termination of a lease or contract described in Paragraph (1) or (2) of this subsection or after the authority gains possession of the facilities following a breach of such a lease or contract or as a result of bankruptcy proceedings; or

(4) the facilities do not affect in-state retail rates or electric service reliability.

G. A public utility subject to regulation of the public regulation commission pursuant to the Public Utility Act [Chapter 62, Articles 1 through 6 and 8 through 13 NMSA 1978] may recover the capital cost of a project undertaken pursuant to the New Mexico Renewable Energy Transmission Authority Act from its retail customers only if the project has received a certificate of public convenience and necessity from the public regulation commission. A municipal utility exempt from regulation of the public regulation commission may recover such costs only if the project has been approved by the governing body of the municipality. Costs associated with a project undertaken pursuant to the New Mexico Renewable Energy Transmission Authority Act are not recoverable from retail utility customers except to the extent the costs are prudently incurred and the project is used and useful in serving those customers as determined by the public regulation commission.

62-16A-5. Renewable energy transmission bonds; appropriation of proceeds.

A. The authority is authorized to issue and sell revenue bonds, known as "renewable energy transmission bonds", payable solely from the renewable energy transmission bonding fund, in compliance with the New Mexico Renewable Energy Transmission Authority Act, for the purpose of entering into a project when the authority determines that the project is needed.

B. The net proceeds from the bonds are appropriated to the authority for the purpose of financing or acquiring eligible facilities.

History: Laws 2007, ch. 3, § 5. Effective date: — Laws 2007, ch. 3, § 19 made Laws 2007, ch. 3, § 5 effective July 1, 2007.

62-16A-6. Renewable energy transmission bonding fund created; money in the fund pledged.

A. The "renewable energy transmission bonding fund" is created in the authority. The fund shall consist of revenues received by the authority from operating or leasing eligible facilities, fees and service charges collected and, if the authority has provided financing for eligible facilities, money from payments of principal and interest on loans. The authority may create separate accounts within the fund in connection with any issuance of renewable energy transmission bonds and may deposit in such separate accounts revenues received by the authority derived from the financing or leasing of eligible facilities. Any such separate account shall be held by a trustee acting under a trust indenture relating to those bonds. Earnings of the fund or any separate account shall be credited to the fund or the applicable separate account. Balances in the fund at the end of any fiscal year shall remain in the fund, except as provided in this section.

B. Money in the fund shall be deposited in a bank designated by the authority in an account or accounts as the authority may establish. Money in accounts shall be withdrawn on the order of persons whom the authority may authorize. All deposits of money shall be secured in such manner as the authority may determine. The state auditor and the state auditor's legally authorized representatives shall periodically examine the accounts and books of the authority, including its receipts, disbursements, contracts, leases, sinking funds, investments and any other records and papers relating to its financial standing. The authority shall pay a reasonable fee for the examination as determined by the state auditor.

C. Money in the renewable energy transmission bonding fund is pledged for the payment of principal and interest on bonds issued pursuant to the New Mexico Renewable Energy Transmission Authority Act. Money in any separate account may be pledged solely to payment of bonds for which the separate account was created. Money in the fund or any separate account is appropriated to the authority for the purpose of paying debt service, including redemption premiums, on the bonds and the expenses incurred in the issuance, payment and administration of the bonds.

D. On the last day of January and the last day of July of each year, the authority shall estimate the amount needed to make debt service and other payments during the next twelve months from the renewable energy transmission bonding fund or any separate account created in the bond fund on the bonds plus the amount that may be needed for any required reserves or other requirements as may be set forth in the trust indenture related to the bonds. The authority shall transfer to the renewable energy transmission authority operational fund any balance in the renewable energy transmission bonding fund or any separate account created in the bond fund above the estimated amounts. Payments for administrative costs shall be deposited in the renewable energy transmission authority operational fund.

E. Bonds issued pursuant to the New Mexico Renewable Energy Transmission Authority Act shall be payable solely from the renewable energy transmission bonding fund or from any separate account, created within the bond fund or, with the approval of the bondholders, such other special funds as may be provided by law and do not create an obligation or indebtedness of the state within the meaning of any constitutional provision. No breach of any contractual obligation incurred pursuant to that act shall impose a pecuniary liability or a charge upon the general credit or taxing power of the state, and the bonds are not general obligations for which the state's full faith and credit is pledged.

F. The state does hereby pledge that the renewable energy transmission bonding fund, including any separate account within the fund, shall be used only for the purposes specified in this section and pledged first to pay the debt service on the bonds issued pursuant to the New Mexico Renewable Energy Transmission Authority Act. The state further pledges that any law requiring the deposit of revenues in the renewable energy transmission bonding fund or authorizing expenditures from the fund shall not be amended or repealed or otherwise modified so as to impair the bonds to which the renewable energy transmission bonding fund is dedicated as provided in this section.

The 2011 amendment, effective July 1, 2011, authorized the authority to create separate accounts, held by a trustee under a trust indenture, in connection with the issuance of bonds and to deposit revenues from eligible facilities into the accounts; added Subsection B to permit money in the fund to be deposited in a bank and to be withdrawn by persons authorized by the authority; in Subsection C, limited the pledge of money in separate accounts to the bonds for which the account was created; and in Subsection D, required that payments for administrative costs be deposited in the operation fund.

62-16A-7. Authority to refund bonds.

The authority may issue and sell at public or private sale bonds to refund outstanding renewable energy transmission bonds by exchange, immediate or prospective redemption, cancellation or escrow, including the escrow of debt service funds accumulated for payment of outstanding bonds, or any combination thereof, when, in its opinion, such action will be beneficial to the state.

A. The authority, except as otherwise specifically provided in the New Mexico Renewable Energy Transmission Authority Act, shall determine at its discretion the terms, covenants and conditions of the bonds, including, but not limited to, date of issue, denominations, maturities, rate or rates of interest, call features, call premiums, registration, refundability and other covenants covering the general and technical aspects of the issuance of the bonds.

B. The bonds shall be in such form as the authority may determine, and successive issues shall be identified by alphabetical, numerical or other proper series designation.

C. Bonds shall be signed and attested by the executive director of the authority and shall be executed with the facsimile signature of the chair of the authority and the facsimile seal of the authority, except for bonds issued in book entry or similar form without the delivery of physical securities. Any interest coupons attached to the bonds shall bear the facsimile signature of the executive director of the authority, which officer, by the execution of the bonds, shall adopt as the executive director's own signature the facsimile thereof appearing on the coupons. Except for bonds issued in book entry or similar form without the delivery of physical securities, the Uniform Facsimile Signature of Public Officials Act [6-9-6 through 6-9-6 NMSA 1978] shall apply, and the authority shall determine the manual signature to be affixed on the bonds.

A. Bonds shall be sold by the authority at such times and in such manner as the authority may elect, either at private sale for a negotiated price or to the highest bidder at public sale for cash at par, above par or below par and accrued interest.

B. In connection with any public sale of the bonds, the authority shall publish a notice of the time and place of sale in a newspaper of general circulation in the state and also in a recognized financial journal outside the state. The publication shall be made once each week for two consecutive weeks prior to the date fixed for such sale, the last publication to be two business days prior to the date of sale. The notice shall specify the amount, denomination, maturity and description of the bonds to be offered for sale and the place, day and hour at which sealed bids therefor shall be received. All bids, except those of the state, shall be accompanied by a deposit of two percent of the principal amount of the bonds. Deposits of unsuccessful bidders shall be returned upon rejection of the bid. At the time and place specified in such notice, the authority shall open the bids in public and shall award the bonds, or any part thereof, to the bidder or bidders offering the best price. The authority may reject any or all bids and readvertise.

C. The authority may sell a bond issue, or any part thereof, to the state or to one or more investment bankers or institutional investors at private sale.

A. The New Mexico Renewable Energy Transmission Authority Act is, without reference to any other act of the legislature, full authority for the issuance and sale of renewable energy transmission bonds, which bonds shall have all the qualities of investment securities under the Uniform Commercial Code [Chapter 55 NMSA 1978] and shall not be invalid for any irregularity or defect or be contestable in the hands of bona fide purchasers or holders thereof for value.

(4) carry over any amount of a community solar bill credit that exceeds the subscriber's monthly bill and apply it to the subscriber's next monthly bill unless and until the subscriber cancels service with the qualifying utility; and

(5) on a monthly basis and in a standardized electronic format, provide to the subscriber organization a report indicating the total value of community solar bill credits generated by the community solar facility in the prior month as well as the amount of the community solar bill credits applied to each subscriber.

B. A subscriber organization shall, on a monthly basis and in a standardized electronic format, provide to the qualifying utility a list indicating the kilowatt-hours of generation attributable to each subscriber. Subscriber lists may be updated monthly to reflect canceling subscribers and to add new subscribers.

C. If a community solar facility is not fully subscribed in a given month, the unsubscribed energy may be rolled forward on the community solar facility account for up to one year from its month of generation and allocated by the subscriber organization to subscribers at any time during that period. At the end of that period, any undistributed bill credit shall be removed, and the unsubscribed energy shall be purchased by the qualifying utility at its applicable avoided cost of energy rate as approved by the commission.

D. The environmental attributes, including renewable energy certificates, associated with a community solar facility shall be owned by the qualifying utility to whose electric distribution system the community solar facility is interconnected; provided that environmental attributes associated with a native community solar project shall be owned by the owner of the native community solar project.

E. Nothing in the Community Solar Act shall preclude an Indian nation, tribe or pueblo from using financial mechanisms other than subscription models, including virtual and aggregate net-metering, for native community solar projects.

History: Laws 2021, ch. 34, § 6.

Effective dates. — Laws 2021, ch. 34 contained no effective date provision, but, pursuant to N.M. Const., art.

IV, § 23, was effective June 18, 2021, 90 days after adjournment of the legislature.

62-16B-7. Public regulation commission; enforcement and rulemaking.

A. The commission shall administer and enforce the rules and provisions of the Community Solar Act, including regulation of subscriber organizations in accordance with the Community Solar Act and oversight and review of the consumer protections established for the community solar program.

B. The commission shall adopt rules to establish a community solar program by no later than April 1, 2022. The rules shall:

(1) provide an initial statewide capacity program cap of two hundred megawatts alternating current proportionally allocated to investor-owned utilities until November 1, 2024. The statewide capacity program cap shall exclude native community solar projects and rural electric distribution cooperatives;

(2) establish an annual statewide capacity program cap to be in effect after November 1, 2024;

(3) require thirty percent of electricity produced from each community solar facility to be reserved for low-income customers and low-income service organizations. The commission shall issue guidelines to ensure the carve-out is achieved each year and develop a list of low-income service organizations and programs that may pre-qualify low-income customers;

(4) establish a process for the selection of community solar facility projects and allocation of the statewide capacity program cap, consistent with Section 13-1-21 NMSA 1978 regarding resident business, Native American resident business, resident veteran business and Native American resident veteran business preferences;

(5) require a qualifying utility to file the tariffs, agreement or forms necessary for implementation of the community solar program;

(6) establish reasonable, uniform, efficient and non-discriminatory standards, fees and processes for the interconnection of community solar facilities that are consistent with the commission's existing interconnection rules and interconnection manual that allows a qualifying utility to recover reasonable costs for administering the community solar program and interconnection costs for each community solar facility, such that a qualifying utility and its non-subscribing customers do not subsidize the costs attributable to the subscriber organization pursuant to this paragraph;

(7) provide consumer protections for subscribers, including a uniform disclosure form that identifies the information that shall be provided by a subscriber organization to a potential subscriber, in both English and Spanish, and when appropriate, native or indigenous languages, to ensure fair disclosure of future costs and benefits of subscriptions, key contract terms, security interests and other relevant but reasonable information pertaining to the subscription, as well as grievance and enforcement procedures;

(8) provide a community solar bill credit rate mechanism for subscribers derived from the qualifying utility's total aggregate retail rate on a per-customer-class basis, less the commission-approved distribution cost components, and identify all proposed rules, fees and charges; provided that non-subscribers shall not subsidize costs attributable to subscribers; and provided further that if the commission determines that it is in the public interest for non-subscribers to subsidize subscribers, non-subscribers shall not be charged more than three percent of the non-subscribers' aggregate retail rate on an annual basis to subsidize subscribers;

(9) reasonably allow for the creation, financing and accessibility of community solar facilities; and

(10) provide requirements for the siting and co-location of community solar facilities with other energy resources; provided that community solar facilities shall not be co-located with other community solar facilities.

C. The commission may through rule establish a reasonable application fee for subscriber organizations that is designed to cover a portion of the administrative costs of the commission in carrying out the community solar program. Application fees collected by the commission shall be remitted to the state treasurer no later than the day after their receipt.

D. The commission shall solicit input from relevant state agencies, public utilities, low-income stakeholders, disproportionately impacted communities, potential owners or operators of community solar facilities, Indian nations, tribes and pueblos and other interested parties in its rulemaking process.

E. By no later than November 1, 2024, the commission shall provide to the appropriate interim legislative committee a report on the status of the community solar program, including the development of community solar facilities, the participation of investor-owned utilities and rural electric distribution cooperatives, low-income participation, the adequacy of facility size, proposals for alternative rate structures and bill credit mechanisms, cross-subsidization issues, local developer project selection and expansion of the local solar industry, community solar facilities' effect on utility compliance with the renewable portfolio standard and an evaluation of the effectiveness of the commission's rules to implement the Community Solar Act and any recommended changes.

History: Laws 2021, ch. 34, § 7; 2022, ch. 6, § 4.

The 2022 amendment, effective July 1, 2022, amended an existing provision that required the public regulation commission to establish a process for the selection of community solar facility projects and allocation of the statewide capacity program cap regarding resident businesses and resident veteran businesses to include Native American resident businesses and Native American resident veteran businesses; and in Subsection B, Paragraph B(4), after "regarding resident business", added "Native American resident business", and after "resident veteran business", added "and Native American resident veteran business".

62-16B-8. Rural electric distribution cooperatives.

A rural electric distribution cooperative may opt in to the community solar program and provide interconnection and retail electric services to community solar developments on a per-project or system-wide basis within its service territory. The decision of a rural electric distribution cooperative to opt in to the community solar program shall be in the sole discretion of the cooperative's governing board.

62-17-1. Short title.

Chapter 62, Article 17 NMSA 1978 may be cited as the "Efficient Use of Energy Act".

History: Laws 2005, ch. 341, § 1; 2007, ch. 4, § 12.

The 2007 amendment, effective July 1, 2007, changed the reference from "Sections 1 through 11 of this act" to "Chapter 62, Article 17 NMSA 1978".

62-17-2. Repealed.

Repeals. — Laws 2019, ch. 202, § 4 repealed 62-17-2 NMSA 1978, as enacted by Laws 2005, ch. 341, § 2, relating to findings, effective June 14, 2019. For provisions of former section, see the 2018 NMSA 1978 on NMOneSource.com.

62-17-3. Policy.

It is the policy of the Efficient Use of Energy Act that public utilities, distribution cooperative utilities and municipal utilities include all cost-effective energy efficiency and load management programs in their energy resource portfolios, that regulatory disincentives to public utility development of cost-effective energy efficiency and load management be removed in a manner that balances the public interest, consumers' interests and investors' interests and that the commission provide public utilities an opportunity to earn a profit on cost-effective energy efficiency and load management resources that, with satisfactory program performance, is financially more attractive to the utility than supply-side resources.

History: Laws 2005, ch. 341, § 3; 2008, ch. 24, § 4.
The 2008 amendment, effective May 14, 2008, provided that utilities may be permitted to earn a profit on cost-effective energy efficiency and load management resources that are financially more attractive than supply-side resources.

62-17-4. Definitions.

As used in the Efficient Use of Energy Act:

- A. "achievable" means those energy efficiency or load management resources available to the utility using its best efforts;
- B. "commission" means the public regulation commission;
- C. "cost-effective" means that the energy efficiency or load management program meets the utility cost test;
- D. "customer" means a utility customer at a single, contiguous field, location or facility, regardless of the number of meters at that field, location or facility;
- E. "distribution cooperative utility" means a utility with distribution facilities organized as a rural electric cooperative pursuant to Laws 1937, Chapter 100 or the Rural Electric Cooperative Act [Chapter 62, Article 15 NMSA 1978] or similarly organized in other states;
- F. "energy efficiency" means measures, including energy conservation measures, or programs that target consumer behavior, equipment or devices to result in a decrease in consumption of electricity and natural gas without reducing the amount or quality of energy services;
- G. "large customer" means a customer with electricity consumption greater than seven thousand megawatt-hours per year or natural gas use greater than three hundred sixty thousand decatherms per year;
- H. "load management" means measures or programs that target equipment or devices to result in decreased peak electricity demand or shift demand from peak to off-peak periods;
- I. "program costs" means the prudent and reasonable costs of developing and implementing energy efficiency and load management programs, but "program costs" does not include charges for incentives or the removal of regulatory disincentives;
- J. "public utility" means a public utility that is not also a distribution cooperative utility; and
- K. "utility cost test" means a standard that is met if the monetary costs that are borne by the public utility and that are incurred to develop, acquire and operate energy efficiency or load management resources on a life-cycle basis are less than the avoided monetary costs associated with developing, acquiring and operating the associated supply-side resources.

History: Laws 2005, ch. 341, § 4; 2008, ch. 24, § 5; 2013, ch. 124, § 1; 2013, ch. 220, § 1; 2019, ch. 202, § 1.

The 2019 amendment, effective June 14, 2019, revised the definition of "utility cost test" as used in the Efficient Use of Energy Act; in Subsection K, after "supply-side resources," deleted "In developing this test for energy efficiency and load management programs directed to low-income customers, the commission shall either quantify or assign a reasonable value to reductions in working capital, reduced collection costs, lower bad debt expense, improved customer service effectiveness and other appropriate factors as utility system economic benefits."

The 2013 amendment, effective July 1, 2013, defined "program costs"; in Subsection C, after "program meets the", deleted "total resource" and added "utility"; added Subsection I; and in Subsection K, in the first sentence, at the beginning of the sentence, deleted "total resource" and added "utility", after "borne by the", added "public", and after "public utility", deleted "and the participants".

The 2008 amendment, effective May 14, 2008, added Subsections A and D and provided in Subsection J that the total resource cost test is met if the cost of energy efficiency or load management resources is less than the avoided costs of supply-side resources and that in developing programs directed to low-income customers, the commission shall qualify or assign a reasonable value to reductions of monetary and other factors as utility system economic benefits.

62-17-5. Commission approval; energy efficiency and load management programs; disincentives.

- A. Pursuant to the findings and purpose of the Efficient Use of Energy Act, the commission shall consider public utility acquisition of cost-effective energy efficiency and load management resources to be in the public interest.

B. The commission shall direct public utilities to evaluate and implement cost-effective programs that reduce energy demand and consumption.

C. Before the commission approves an energy efficiency and load management program for a public utility, it shall find that the portfolio of programs is cost-effective and designed to provide every affected customer class with the opportunity to participate and benefit economically. The commission shall determine the cost-effectiveness of energy efficiency and load management measures using the utility cost test. In determining life-cycle costs and benefits of energy efficiency programs, the commission shall not adjust for taxes when selecting a discount rate. In determining life-cycle costs and benefits for energy efficiency and load management programs directed to low-income customers, the commission shall either quantify or assign a reasonable value to:

- (1) reductions in working capital;
- (2) reduced collection costs;
- (3) lower bad-debt expense;
- (4) improved customer service effectiveness; and
- (5) other appropriate factors as utility system economic benefits.

D. The commission shall act expeditiously on public utility requests for approval of energy efficiency or load management programs.

E. Public utilities shall obtain commission approval of energy efficiency and load management programs before they are implemented. Public utilities proposing new energy efficiency and load management programs shall, before seeking commission approval, solicit nonbinding recommendations on the design, implementation and use of third-party energy service contractors through competitive bidding on the programs from commission staff, the attorney general, the energy, minerals and natural resources department and other interested parties. The commission may for good cause require public utilities to solicit competitive bids for energy efficiency and load management resources.

F. The commission shall:

(1) upon petition or its own motion, identify and remove regulatory disincentives or barriers for public utility expenditures on energy efficiency and load management measures in a manner that balances the public interest, consumers' interests and investors' interests;

(2) upon petition by a public utility, remove regulatory disincentives through the adoption of a rate adjustment mechanism that ensures that the revenue per customer approved by the commission in a general rate case proceeding is recovered by the public utility without regard to the quantity of electricity or natural gas actually sold by the public utility subsequent to the date the rate took effect. Regulatory disincentives removed through a rate adjustment mechanism shall be separately calculated for the rate class or classes to which the mechanism applies and collected or refunded by the utility through a separately identified tariff rider that shall not be used to collect commission-approved energy efficiency and load management program costs and incentives;

(3) provide public utilities an opportunity to earn a profit on cost-effective energy efficiency and load management resource development that, with satisfactory program performance, is financially more attractive to the utility than supply-side utility resources; and

(4) not reduce a utility's return on equity based on approval of a disincentive removal mechanism or profit incentives pursuant to the Efficient Use of Energy Act.

G. Public utilities providing electricity and natural gas service to New Mexico customers shall, subject to commission approval, acquire the cost-effective and achievable energy efficiency and load management resources available in their service territories. This requirement, however, for public utilities providing electricity service, shall not be less than savings of five percent of 2020 total retail kilowatt-hour sales to New Mexico customer classes that have the opportunity to participate in calendar year 2025 as a result of energy efficiency and load management programs implemented in years 2021 through 2025. No later than June 30, 2025, the commission shall adopt, through rulemaking, energy savings targets for electric utilities for years 2026 through 2030 based on cost-effective and achievable energy savings and provide utility incentives based on savings achieved.

H. A public utility that determines it cannot achieve the minimum requirements established in Subsection G of this section shall report to the commission on why it cannot meet those requirements and shall propose alternative requirements based on acquiring cost-effective and achievable energy efficiency and load management resources. If the commission determines, after hearing, that the minimum requirements of Subsection G of this section exceed the achievable amount of energy efficiency and load management available to the public utility or that the program costs of energy efficiency and load management to achieve the minimum requirements of Subsection G of this section exceed the program costs funding established in Subsection A of Section 62-17-6 NMSA 1978, the commission shall establish lower minimum energy savings requirements for the utility based on the maximum amount of energy efficiency and load management that it determines can be achieved.

The 2020 amendment, effective May 20, 2020, clarified that a rate adjustment mechanism may be adopted to ensure that revenue per customer in a rate case remains constant without regard to the quantity of either electricity or natural gas sold; and in Subsection F, Paragraph F(2), after "quantity of electricity", added "or natural gas".

The 2019 amendment, effective June 14, 2019, prohibited the commission from adjusting the discount rate for taxes when considering the life-cycle costs and benefits of energy and efficiency and load management programs; in Subsection C, after "utility cost test.", added "In determining life-cycle costs and benefits of energy efficiency programs, the commission shall not adjust for taxes when selecting a discount rate. In determining life-cycle costs and benefits for energy efficiency and load management programs directed to low-income customers, the commission shall either quantify or assign a reasonable value to.", and added new Paragraphs C(1) through C(5); in Subsection F, added new paragraph designation "(1)", in Paragraph F(1), after "identify", added "and remove", after "load management measures", deleted "and ensure that they are removed", and after "investors' interests", deleted "The commission shall also", added new Paragraph F(2), new paragraph designation "(3)" and new Paragraph F(4); and in Subsection G, after "five percent of", deleted "2005" and added "2020", after "sales to New Mexico", deleted "customers" and added "customer classes that have the opportunity to participate", after "calendar year", deleted "2014 and eight percent of 2005 total retail kilowatt-hour sales to New Mexico customers in 2020" and added "2025", and after "programs implemented", deleted "starting in 2007" and added "in years 2021 through 2025. No later than June 30, 2025, the commission shall adopt, through rulemaking, energy savings targets for electric utilities for years 2026 through 2030 based on cost-effective and achievable energy savings and provide utility incentives based on savings achieved".

The 2013 amendment, effective July 1, 2013, required public utilities to acquire available cost-effective and achievable energy efficiency and load management resources; in Subsection C, in the second sentence, after "measures using the", deleted "total resource" and added "utility"; in Subsection E, in the third sentence, after "for good cause require", added "public"; in Subsection G, in the second sentence, after "calendar year 2014 and" deleted "ten" and added "eight"; and in Subsection H, in the first sentence, after "A", added "public", and in the second sentence, after "load management available to the", added "public" and after "public utility", added "or that the program costs of energy efficiency and load management to achieve the minimum requirements of Subsection G of this section exceed the program costs funding established in Subsection A of Section 62-17-6 NMSA 1978".

The 2008 amendment, effective May 14, 2008, authorized the commission to require competitive bids for procurement of energy efficiency and load management resources in Subsection E; required the commission to provide utilities an opportunity to earn a profit on cost-effective energy efficiency and load management resources that are more financially attractive than supply-side resources in Subsection F; and added Subsections G and H.

The 2007 amendment, effective July 1, 2007, in Subsection F, added the provision that the commission shall act upon petition or its own motion to open a docket; changed "load management" to "load management measures"; added the requirement that if disincentives or barriers are found that an appropriate rate making treatment and performance-based, financial or other incentives be considered; and adds Subsection G.

ANNOTATIONS

Expenses incurred for energy efficiency programs. — In determining public utility electricity rates, the public regulation commission has authority to consider expenses incurred by a public utility for energy efficiency programs and to permit public utilities to earn returns on the operating expenses incurred from energy efficiency programs. N.M. Att'y Gen. v. N.M. Pub. Regulation Comm'n, 2013-NMSC-042.

Where the public regulation commission approved the utility's adder rates to allow the utility to earn a profit on expenditures on energy efficiency and load management measures by using an operating ratio approach, rather than the traditional return-on-rate-base method, the commission did not exceed the scope of its authority because the commission has discretion to determine the appropriate method to apply in establishing just and reasonable utility rates and the authority to allow utilities to earn a profit on energy efficiency and load management resource development that is not tied to capital investments. N.M. Att'y Gen. v. N.M. Pub. Regulation Comm'n, 2013-NMSC-042.

Just and reasonable rates. — Rates created under the Efficient Use of Energy Act must be determined by the same ratemaking principles that apply to determine just and reasonable rates under the Public Utility Act, Sections 62-3-1 NMSA 1978 et seq. N.M. Att'y Gen. v. N.M. Pub. Regulation Comm'n, 2011-NMSC-034, 150 N.M. 174, 258 P.3d 453.

Where the public regulation commission issued a rule that permitted utilities to recover an adder rate for kilowatt hours saved and reduced from annual demand due to energy efficiency programs; and the commission determined that the adder rate did not need to be cost-based, did not inquire into the utilities' revenue requirements or other traditional elements of the ratemaking process, and the utilities presented evidence only on the impact that the rule would have, because the adder rates were not evidence-based, cost-based or utility specific, there was no lawful basis for determining that the adder rates were just and reasonable. N.M. Att'y General v. N.M. Pub. Regulation Comm'n, 2011-NMSC-034, 150 N.M. 174, 258 P.3d 453.

Substantial evidence supported final order. — Where the public regulation commission had approved the utility's adder rates for expenditures on energy efficiency and load management measures in a case decided under regulations that the supreme court subsequently vacated; the prior case was never appealed; the commission docketed the present case to determine whether the adder rates approved in the prior case were consistent with the supreme court ruling; and the commission relied on the factual findings in the prior case to support its determination that the adder rates were consistent with the supreme court ruling, the final order in the present case was supported by substantial evidence and the commission reasonably relied on the record in the prior case to support its determination because the present case involved a legal issue, not a ratemaking decision, the case did not depend upon any redetermination of facts adjudicated in the prior case, and the commission was required to review the record in the prior case in order to perform a legal review of the prior order. N.M. Att'y. Gen. v. N.M. Pub. Regulation Comm'n, 2013-NMSC-042.

62-17-6. Cost recovery.

A. A public utility that undertakes cost-effective energy efficiency and load management programs shall have the option of recovering its prudent and reasonable costs along with commission-approved incentives for demand-side resources and load management programs implemented after the effective date of the Efficient Use of Energy Act through an approved tariff rider or in base rates, or by a combination of the two. Program costs and incentives may be deferred for future recovery through creation of a regulatory asset. Funding for program costs shall be as follows:

(1) for investor-owned electric utilities, no less than three percent and no more than five percent of customer bills, excluding gross receipts taxes and franchise and right-of-way access fees, or seventy-five thousand dollars ($75,000) per customer per calendar year, whichever is less, for customer classes with the opportunity to participate; and

(2) for gas utilities, no more than five percent of total annual revenues or seventy-five thousand dollars ($75,000) per customer per calendar year.

B. Provided that the public utility's total portfolio of programs remains cost-effective, no less than five percent of the amount received by the public utility for program costs shall be specifically directed to energy-efficiency programs for low-income customers.

C. Unless otherwise ordered by the commission, a tariff rider approved by the commission shall:

- (1) require language on customer bills explaining program benefits; and
- (2) be applied on a monthly basis.

D. A tariff rider proposed by a public utility to fund approved energy efficiency and load management programs shall go into effect thirty days after filing, unless suspended by the commission for a period not to exceed one hundred eighty days. If the tariff rider is not approved or suspended within thirty days after filing, it shall be deemed approved as a matter of law. If the commission has not acted to approve or disapprove the tariff rider by the end of an ordered suspension period, it shall be deemed approved as a matter of law. The commission shall approve utility reconciliations of the tariff rider annually.

History: Laws 2005, ch. 341, § 2; 2008, ch. 24, § 3; 2019, ch. 202, § 3.

The 2019 amendment, effective June 14, 2019, revised cost recovery percentages; in Subsection A, after "Funding for program costs", deleted "for investor-owned electric utilities", and after "shall be", deleted "three" and added "as follows", added paragraph designations "(1)" and "(2)", in Paragraph A(1), after the paragraph designation, added "for investor-owned electric utilities, no less than three percent and no more than five", after "opportunity to participate", deleted "Funding for annual program costs", in Paragraph A(2), after "gas utilities", deleted "shall not exceed three" and added "no more than five", after "total annual revenues", deleted "nor shall charges exceed" and added "or"; added new subsection designations "B" and "C", deleted former subsection designation "B." and redesignated former Subsection C as Subsection D; and in Subsection C, added paragraph designations "(1)" and "(2)", in Paragraph C(1), after "benefits; and", deleted "The tariff rider shall", and in Paragraph C(2), after "monthly basis", deleted "unless otherwise allowed by the commission".

The 2013 amendment, effective July 1, 2013, limited public utility cost recovery options; and in Subsection A, deleted the former third sentence, which provided for a limit of seventy-five thousand dollars per year to the tariff rider and the customer impact for utility customers and added the third, fourth and fifth sentences.

Compiler's notes. — Laws 2013, ch. 124, § 3 and Laws 2013, ch. 220, § 3, both effective July 1, 2013, enacted identical amendments to this section. The section was set out as amended by Laws 2013, ch. 220, § 3. See 12-1-8 NMSA 1978.

The 2008 amendment, effective May 14, 2008, in Subsection A, permitted a utility to recover costs and incentives for demand-side resources and load management resources through a tariff rider or base rates, or both and deletes the prohibition of cross subsidies of energy efficiency and load management activities and supply side activities.

The 2007 amendment, effective July 1, 2007, in Subsection A, changed the limitation that the tariff rider not exceed the lower of one and one-half percent to the limitation that the tariff rider not exceed the commission's approved tariff.

62-17-7. Alternative energy efficiency provider.

With a public utility's consent, the commission may allow for an alternative entity to provide ratepayer-funded energy efficiency and load management to customers of that public utility.

History: Laws 2005, ch. 341, § 7.

Effective dates. — Laws 2005, ch. 341, § 13 made Laws 2005, ch. 341, § 7 effective April 7, 2005.

62-17-8. Measurement and verification.

A. A public utility shall submit to the commission an annual report that provides information relating to the actions taken by the public utility to comply with the standards of the Efficient Use of Energy Act. The report shall include documentation of program expenditures, customer participation levels, estimated energy savings, demand reductions and customer monetary savings resulting from programs, evaluation of the cost-effectiveness of expenditures, evaluation of the cost-effectiveness of self-directed programs, a qualitative assessment of program effectiveness and any other information the commission may require pursuant to its rulemaking authority.

B. At least every three years, a public utility shall submit to the commission a comprehensive measurement, verification and program evaluation report prepared by an independent program evaluator. In preparing the report, the independent program evaluator shall measure and verify energy and demand savings, determine cost-effectiveness of the programs, assess the performance of the public utility in implementing energy efficiency and load management programs and, as appropriate, provide recommendations on how program performance can be improved.

C. The commission may direct a public utility to modify or terminate a particular energy efficiency or load management program if, after an adequate period for implementation of the program, the commission determines the program is not sufficiently meeting its goals and purposes. Termination of a program or programs shall be accomplished in a manner that allows the utility to fully recover its reasonable and prudent program costs.

History: Laws 2005, ch. 341, § 8; 2008, ch. 24, § 8.

The 2008 amendment, effective May 14, 2008, in Subsection A, provided that the report shall include customer participation levels, estimated energy savings, demand reductions and customer savings and a qualitative assessment program and added Subsection B.

62-17-9. Self-directed programs for customers; exemptions.

A. A large customer shall receive approval for a credit for and equal to the expenditures that customer has made at its facilities on and after January 1, 2005 toward cost-effective energy efficiency and load management. To receive approval, the large customer must demonstrate to the reasonable satisfaction of the utility or self-direct program administrator that its expenditures are cost-effective. Once approved, the credit may be used to offset up to seventy percent of the tariff rider authorized by the Efficient Use of Energy Act until the credit is exhausted. Eligible expenditures shall have a simple payback period of more than one year but less than seven years. Projects that have received rebates, financial support or other substantial program support from a utility are not eligible for a credit.

B. A large customer shall receive approval for an exemption to paying seventy percent of the tariff rider if the customer demonstrates to the reasonable satisfaction of the utility or self-direct program administrator that it has exhausted all cost-effective energy efficiency measures at its facility. As used in this section, "cost-effective" means all measures with a simple payback period of more than one year but less than seven years.

C. Large customers shall seek and receive approval for credits and exemptions under this provision from the utility or a commission-approved self-direct program administrator. Approvals or disapprovals by the utility or administrator shall be subject to commission review. Any credit not fully utilized in the year it is received shall carry over to subsequent years. Implementation of credits shall be designed to minimize utility administrative costs.

D. Except as otherwise provided in this section, projects, expenditures and exemptions under this section shall be evaluated by an independent program evaluator using the same measurement and verification standards applying to utility programs, subject to appropriate protections for confidentiality, by the utility or a commission-approved self-direct program administrator and reported in the annual report to the commission pursuant to the Efficient Use of Energy Act.

62-17-10. Integrated resource planning.

Pursuant to the commission's rulemaking authority, public utilities supplying electric or natural gas service to customers shall periodically file an integrated resource plan with the commission. Utility integrated resource plans shall evaluate renewable energy, energy efficiency, load management, distributed generation and conventional supply-side resources on a consistent and comparable basis and take into consideration risk and uncertainty of fuel supply, price volatility and costs of anticipated environmental regulations in order to identify the most cost-effective portfolio of resources to supply the energy needs of customers. The preparation of resource plans shall incorporate a public advisory process. Nothing in this section shall prohibit public utilities from implementing cost-effective energy efficiency and load management programs and the commission from approving public utility expenditures on energy efficiency programs and load management programs prior to the commission establishing rules and guidelines for integrated resource planning. The commission may exempt public utilities with fewer than five thousand customers and distribution-only public utilities from the requirements of this section. The commission shall take into account a public utility's resource planning requirements in other states and shall authorize utilities that operate in multiple states to implement plans that coordinate the applicable state resource planning requirements. The requirements of this section shall take effect one year following the commission's adoption of rules implementing the provisions of this section.

ANNOTATIONS

The public regulation commission did not abuse its discretion in approving a contested stipulation.

— Where appellant appealed from a final order issued by the New Mexico public regulation commission (PRC) approving a contested stipulation granting the public service company of New Mexico (PNM) certificates of public convenience and necessity (CCN) to acquire new-generation resources and by filing a notice proposing to dismiss the protests to PNM's 2014 integrated resource plan (IRP), the PRC did not abuse its discretion in concluding that the supplemental stipulation fairly and justly resolved the CCN proceedings, because the hearings below were conducted in conformity with the governing regulation, the hearing examiner correctly identified the substantive legal standards necessary to resolve the merits of the contest, afforded appellant, a non-stipulating party, an opportunity to be heard on the merits of the stipulation, and made an independent finding, supported by substantial evidence in the record, that the stipulation resolves the matters in dispute in a way that is fair, just and reasonable and in the public interest, and the PRC's decision to file a notice proposing to dismiss the protests to PNM's 2014 IRP was a lawful exercise of the PRC's discretion, because the issues addressed in the CCN proceedings were the very same issues at the heart of the 2014 IRP protest proceedings. New Energy Econ. v. N.M. Pub. Regulation Comm'n, 2018-NMSC-024.

62-17-11. Distribution cooperative utilities.

A. Distribution cooperative utilities shall periodically examine the potential to assist their customers in reducing energy consumption or peak electricity demand in a cost-effective manner. Based on these studies, by January 1, 2009, distribution cooperative utilities shall establish energy efficiency and load management targets and begin to implement cost-effective energy efficiency and load management programs that are economically feasible and practical for their members and customers. Approval for such programs shall reside with the governing body of each distribution cooperative utility and not with the commission.

B. Each distribution cooperative utility shall file with the commission concurrently with its annual report, a report that describes all of the distribution cooperative utility's programs or measures that promote energy efficiency, conservation or load management. The report shall set forth the costs of each of the programs or measures for the previous calendar year and the resulting effect on the consumption of electricity. In offering or implementing energy efficiency, conservation or load management programs, a distribution cooperative utility shall attempt to minimize any cross-subsidies between customer classes.

C. Each distribution cooperative utility shall include in the report required by Subsection B of this section a description of all programs or measures to promote energy efficiency, conservation or load management that are planned and the anticipated date for implementation.

D. Costs resulting from programs or measures to promote energy efficiency, conservation or load management may be recovered by the distribution cooperative utility through its general rates. In requesting approval to recover such costs in general rates, the distribution cooperative utility may elect to use the procedure set forth in Subsection G of Section 62-8-7 NMSA 1978.

History: Laws 2005, ch. 341, § 11; 2008, ch. 24, § 9.

The 2008 amendment, effective May 14, 2008, required distribution cooperative utilities to establish energy efficiency and load management targets and to implement programs by January 1, 2009.

The qualitative and quantitative data and analysis used to establish the ranking shall be available for review by parties to the commission proceeding.

B. In determining whether to approve replacement resources, the commission shall prefer resources with the least environmental impacts, those with higher ratios of capital costs to fuel costs and those able to reduce the cost of reclamation and use for lands previously mined within the county of the qualifying generating facility.

C. In considering responses to requests for proposals for replacement resources pursuant to this section, a qualifying utility shall inform prospective bidders that it promotes and encourages the use of workers residing in New Mexico to the greatest extent practicable and shall take that use into consideration in evaluating proposals.

D. The commission shall grant all necessary approvals for replacement resources; provided that the commission may determine that the particular resource proposed by the qualifying utility should not be approved and that, instead, an alternative replacement resource that meets the conditions of this section should be approved. The commission shall not disallow recovery of reasonable costs associated with requirements as to where the resources are located.

E. Replacement resources shall be subject to local property taxes or a binding commitment to make an equivalent payment in lieu of taxes.

F. As used in this section, "replacement resources" means up to four hundred fifty megawatts of nameplate capacity identified by the qualifying utility as replacement for a qualifying generating facility, and may include energy storage capacity; provided that such resources are located in the school district in New Mexico where the abandoned facility is located, are necessary to maintain reliable service and are in the public interest as determined by the commission.

History: Laws 2019, ch. 65, § 3. Effective dates. — Laws 2019, ch. 65 contained no effective date provision, but, pursuant to N.M. Const., art. IV, § 23, was effective June 14, 2019, 90 days after the adjournment of the legislature.

62-18-4. Financing order; application contents; pending applications.

A. A qualifying utility that is abandoning a qualifying generating facility may apply to the commission for a financing order pursuant to this section to recover all of its energy transition costs through the issuance of energy transition bonds. To obtain a financing order, a qualifying utility shall obtain approval to abandon a qualifying generating facility pursuant to Section 62-9-5 NMSA 1978. The application for the financing order may be filed as part of the application for approval to abandon a qualifying generating facility.

B. An application for a financing order shall include:

- (1) a description of the facility that the qualifying utility proposes to abandon or for which abandonment authority was granted after December 31, 2018;
- (2) an estimate of the energy transition costs and shall:

(a) identify the severance pay and job training expenses for affected employees losing their jobs as a result of an abandoned qualifying generating facility and any associated mine that only services the abandoned qualifying generating facility;

(b) identify costs not previously collected from the qualifying utility's customers for plant decommissioning and mine reclamation costs, subject to any limitations ordered by the commission prior to January 1, 2019 and affirmed by the New Mexico supreme court prior to the effective date of the Energy Transition Act, associated with the abandoned qualifying generating facility; and

(c) include an estimate of the financing costs associated with each series of energy transition bonds proposed to be issued;

(3) an estimate of the amount of energy transition charges necessary to recover the costs in Paragraph (2) of this subsection and the proposed calculation thereof, based on the estimated date of issuance and estimated principal amount of each series of energy transition bonds proposed to be issued;

(4) a description of the proposed adjustment mechanism that complies with the provisions of Section 6 [62-18-6 NMSA 1978] of the Energy Transition Act;

(5) a memorandum with supporting exhibits from a securities firm, such firm to be attested to by the state board of finance as being experienced in the marketing of bonds and capable of providing such a memorandum, that the proposed issuance satisfies the current published AAA rating or equivalent rating criteria of at least one nationally recognized statistical rating organization for issuances similar to the proposed energy transition bonds. The request for such attestation may be made by a qualifying utility prior to an application for a financing order, and the state board of finance shall act upon such a request promptly;

(6) a commitment by the qualifying utility to file with the commission following the issuance of the energy transition bonds:

(a) a description of the final structure and pricing of the bonds;

(b) updated financing costs and payment amount required pursuant to Section 16 [62-18-16 NMSA 1978] of the Energy Transition Act; and

(c) an updated calculation of the energy transition charges;

(7) an estimate of timing of the issuance and term of the energy transition bonds, or series of bonds; provided that the scheduled final maturity for each bond issuance shall be no longer than twenty-five years;

(8) identification of plans to sell, assign, transfer or convey, other than as a security, interest in energy transition property, including identification of an assignee, and demonstration that the assignee will be a financing entity wholly owned, directly or indirectly, by the qualifying utility that will be initially capitalized by the qualifying utility in such a way that equity interests in the financing entity are at least one-half percent of the total capital of the assignee;

(9) identification of ancillary agreements that may be necessary or appropriate;

(10) a description of a proposed ratemaking process to reconcile and recover or refund any difference between the energy transition costs financed by the energy transition bonds and the actual final energy transition costs incurred by the qualifying utility or the assignee;

(11) a proposed ratemaking method to account for the reduction in the qualifying utility's cost of service associated with the amount of undepreciated investments being recovered by the energy transition charge at the time that charge becomes effective; and

(12) a statement from the qualifying utility committing that the qualifying utility will use commercially reasonable efforts to obtain the lowest cost objective.

C. The application may include requests for approvals for new resources necessitated by the abandonment of a qualifying generating facility.

D. The qualifying utility or the commission may defer applications for needed approvals for new resources to a separate proceeding; provided that the application identifies adequate potential new resources sufficient to provide reasonable and proper service to retail customers.

E. If an application for approval to abandon a qualifying generating facility is pending before the commission on the effective date of the Energy Transition Act, the qualifying utility may file a separate application for a financing order, and the commission may join or consolidate the application for a financing order with the pending proceeding involving abandonment of the qualifying generating facility, with the consent of the applicant. On such joinder or consolidation, the time periods prescribed by the Energy Transition Act shall become applicable to the joined or consolidated case as of the date of the joinder or consolidation.

F. If a qualifying utility does not recover energy transition costs pursuant to the Energy Transition Act, the energy transition costs may be recovered pursuant to other applicable provisions of the Public Utility Act [Articles 1 through 6 and 8 through 13 of Chapter 62 NMSA 1978].

History: Laws 2019, ch. 65, § 4.

Effective dates. — Laws 2019, ch. 65 contained no effective date provision, but, pursuant to N.M. Const., art. IV, § 23, was effective June 14, 2019, 90 days after the adjournment of the legislature.

ANNOTATIONS

The Energy Transition Act does not violate procedural due process. — Where the public regulation commission (Commission) gave leave for the public service company of New Mexico to issue energy transition bonds of up to $361,000,000 in connection with the abandonment of its interests in the San Juan generating station units one and four and to collect separate and non-bypassable energy transition charges from its customers in repayment of the bonds, pursuant to the Energy Transition Act (ETA), §§ 62-18-1 through 62-18-23 NMSA 1978, and where appellants, two organizations that represent energy consumers, claimed that the ETA deprives energy consumers of procedural due process by allowing a qualified public utility to recover its energy transition costs without Commission oversight, appellants procedural due process was without merit, because the ETA as written contemplates that energy consumers will be given sufficient notice of the utility's application and a meaningful opportunity to be heard upon lodging a protest establishing good cause for a formal hearing in front of the Commission. Citizens for Fair Rates & the Env't v. NMPRC, 2022-NMSC-010.

The Energy Transition Act does not violate substantive due process. — Where the public regulation commission (Commission) gave leave for the public service company of New Mexico to issue energy transition bonds of up to $361,000,000 in connection with the abandonment of its interests in the San Juan generating station units one and four and to collect separate and non-bypassable energy transition charges from its customers in repayment of the bonds, pursuant to the Energy Transition Act (ETA), §§ 62-18-1 through 62-18-23 NMSA 1978, and where appellants, two organizations that represent energy consumers, claimed that the ETA does not permit the Commission to review a utility's estimated energy transition costs before issuing a financing order, and that this limitation on the Commission's authority violates substantive due process protections, appellants substantive due process challenge failed, because under the modified rational basis standard, appellants have not brought forth sufficient record evidence, legislative facts, judicially noticeable materials, case law, or legal argument to establish that the ETA lacks a rational relationship to the interests expressed in § 62-3-1(B) NMSA 1978. Citizens for Fair Rates & the Env't v. NMPRC, 2022-NMSC-010.

Appellants failed to demonstrate that the public regulation commission did not comply with statutory requirement. — Where the public regulation commission (Commission) gave leave for the public service company of New Mexico (PNM) to issue energy transition bonds of up to $361,000,000 in connection with the abandonment of its interests in the San Juan generating station units one and four and to collect separate and non-bypassable energy transition charges from its customers in repayment of the bonds, pursuant to the Energy Transition Act (ETA), §§ 62-18-1 through 62-18-23 NMSA 1978, and where appellants, two organizations that represent energy consumers, challenged the Commission's finding that PNM provided a memorandum from a securities firm that the proposed issuance satisfies the current published AAA rating as required by Subsection 62-18-4(B)(5), the Commission's finding was not in error because the Commission reasonably found that the senior advisor possessed actual or apparent authority to speak on behalf of the securities firm, based on the senior advisor's testimony that he was authorized to represent the securities firm in the proceedings and that he was acting within the scope of his authority. Citizens for Fair Rates & the Env't v. NMPRC, 2022-NMSC-010.

62-18-5. Financing order; issuance; terms of bonds; reports to commission of disbursement of bond proceeds; review and audit of records.

A. The commission may approve an application for a financing order without a formal hearing if no protest establishing good cause for a formal hearing is filed within thirty days of the date when notice is given of the filing of the application for the financing order. If a hearing is held, the commission shall issue an order granting or denying the application for the financing order to a qualifying utility that is abandoning a qualifying generating facility and an order on an accompanying application of the qualifying utility for approval to abandon the qualifying generating facility within six months from the date the application for the financing order is filed with the commission. For good cause shown, the commission may extend the time for issuing the order for an additional three months.

B. Failure to issue an order approving the application or advising of the application's non-compliance pursuant to Subsection E of this section within the time prescribed by Subsection A of this section shall be deemed approval of the application for a financing order and approval to abandon the qualifying generating facility, if abandonment approval was requested as part of the application for the financing order pursuant to this subsection. The commission shall issue an order acknowledging the deemed approvals within seven days of the expiration of the time period described in Subsection A of this section.

C. If an application for a financing order is accompanied by a request for approval of new resources, this section provides an alternative time frame to that provided in Subsection C of Section 62-9-1 NMSA 1978, and the time frame specified in this section shall govern, unless the request has been deferred to a separate proceeding pursuant to Subsection D of Section 4 [62-18-4 NMSA 1978] of the Energy Transition Act.

D. The issuance of a financing order shall be the only approval required for the authority granted in the financing order.

E. The commission shall issue a financing order approving the application if the commission finds that the qualifying utility's application for the financing order complies with the requirements of Section 4 of the Energy Transition Act. If the commission finds that a qualifying utility's application does not comply with Section 4 of the Energy Transition Act, the commission shall advise the qualifying utility of any changes necessary to comply with that section and provide the applicant an opportunity to amend the application to make such changes. Upon those changes being made, the commission shall issue a financing order approving the application.

F. A financing order shall include the following provisions:

(1) approval for the qualifying utility or assignee to issue energy transition bonds as requested in the application, to use energy transition bonds to finance the maximum amount of the energy transition costs as requested in the application, as may be adjusted pursuant to Paragraph (6) of Subsection B of Section 4 of the Energy Transition Act, and to use the proceeds provided in Subsection A of Section 10 [62-18-10 NMSA 1978] of the Energy Transition Act;

(2) approval for the qualifying utility to recover the energy transition costs, as may be adjusted pursuant to Paragraph (6) of Subsection B of Section 4 of the Energy Transition Act, requested in the application through energy transition charges;

(3) approval of the energy transition charges necessary to recover the authorized energy transition costs, to be imposed through a non-bypassable energy transition charge as a separate line item on the qualifying utility's customer bills, assessed consistent with energy and demand cost allocations within each customer class, subject to update pursuant to the notice filing contemplated by Paragraph (6) of Subsection B of Section 4 of the Energy Transition Act and subject to the application of the adjustment mechanism as provided in Section 6 [62-18-6 NMSA 1978] of the Energy Transition Act, until the energy transition bonds issued pursuant to the financing order and the financing costs related to those bonds are paid in full;

(4) approval of the adjustment mechanism in compliance with Section 6 of the Energy Transition Act;

(5) a description of the energy transition property that is created by the financing order that may be used to pay, and secure the payment of, the energy transition bonds and financing costs authorized to be issued in the financing order;

(6) approval to enter into necessary or appropriate ancillary agreements;

(7) approval of any plans for selling, assigning, transferring or conveying, other than as a security, an interest in energy transition property; and

(8) approval of the proposed ratemaking process and method included in the application pursuant to Paragraphs (10) and (11) of Subsection B of Section 4 of the Energy Transition Act.

G. A financing order shall provide that the creation of energy transition property shall be simultaneous with the sale of the energy transition property to an assignee as provided in the application and the pledge of the energy transition property to secure energy transition bonds.

H. A financing order shall authorize the qualifying utility to issue one or more series of energy transition bonds for a scheduled final maturity of no more than twenty-five years for each series; provided that a rated final maturity may exceed twenty-five years. With such authorization, the qualifying utility shall not subsequently be required to secure a separate financing order prior to each issuance.

I. The commission may require, as a condition of the financing order and in every circumstance subject to the limitations set forth in Subsection A of Section 7 [62-18-7 NMSA 1978] of the Energy Transition Act, that, during any period in which energy transition bonds issued pursuant to the financing order are outstanding, an assignee that is a non-utility affiliate and issues energy transition bonds shall provide in the affiliate's articles of incorporation, partnership agreement or operating agreement, as applicable, that in order for a person to file a voluntary bankruptcy petition on behalf of that assignee, the prior unanimous consent of the directors, partners, managers or members, as applicable, shall be required. Any such provision shall constitute a legal, valid and binding agreement of such shareholders, partners or members of the assignee and is enforceable against such shareholders, partners or members.

J. A financing order may require the qualifying utility to file with the commission a periodic report showing the receipt and disbursement of proceeds of energy transition bonds and any other documents necessary for the qualifying utility to implement the financing order. Upon issuance of the energy transition bonds, the qualifying utility shall file an advice notice with the commission, subject to review by the commission for errors and corrections, that identifies the actual energy transition charges to be included on customers' bills, effective fifteen days from the date the advice notice is filed.

K. A financing order may authorize the commission to review and audit the books and records of the qualifying utility and of an assignee that is a non-utility affiliate and issues energy transition bonds, relating to energy transition property and the receipt and disbursement of proceeds of energy transition bonds.

L. After review and approval by the department of finance and administration with regard to reasonableness of contracts for services, a financing order may authorize the commission to impose a fee on the qualifying utility to pay commission expenses for contract bond counsel accredited by a nationally recognized association of bond lawyers to provide advice and assistance to commission staff in reviewing an application for a financing order and the structure and marketing of the proposed energy transition bonds.

M. The provisions of this section shall not be construed to limit the authority of the commission to:

- (1) investigate the practices of or to audit the books and records of a qualifying utility; or
- (2) issue such further orders as may be necessary to effectuate the provisions of the Energy Transition Act.

62-18-6. Adjustment mechanism; adjustment procedures; hearing procedures if commission determines adjustment made in error.

A. If the commission issues a financing order, the qualifying utility for which the order is issued may charge all of the qualifying utility's customers an energy transition charge, which shall be allocated to customer classes consistent with the production cost allocation methodology established by the commission in the qualifying utility's most recent general rate case. Energy transition charges shall be assessed consistent with the production cost allocation methodology and the determination of energy and demand costs within each customer class, both of which shall be subject to the adjustment mechanism.

B. The commission shall periodically approve adjustments of the energy transition charges pursuant to the adjustment mechanism approved in the financing order to correct for any over-collection or under-collection of the energy transition charge and to provide for timely payment of scheduled principal of and interest on the energy transition bonds and the payment and recovery of financing costs in accordance with the financing order. Except as provided in Subsection C of this section, the qualifying utility shall file at least semiannually, or more frequently as provided in the financing order:

(1) a calculation estimating whether the existing energy transition charge is sufficient to provide for timely payment of scheduled principal of and interest on the energy transition bonds and the payment and recovery of other financing costs in accordance with the financing order or if either an over-collection or under-collection is projected; and

(2) a calculation showing the adjustment to the energy transition charge to correct for any over-collection or under-collection of energy transition charges.

C. The qualifying utility shall file the calculations described in Subsection B of this section at least quarterly during the two-year period preceding the final maturity date of the energy transition bonds.

D. The adjustment mechanism shall remain in effect until the energy transition bonds and all financing costs have been fully paid and recovered, any under-collection is recovered from customers and any over-collection is returned to customers.

E. On the same day the qualifying utility files with the commission its calculation of the adjustment to the energy transition charge, the qualifying utility shall cause notice of the filing to be given to the parties of record in the case in which the financing order was issued.

F. An adjustment to the energy transition charge filed by the qualifying utility shall be deemed approved without hearing thirty days after filing the adjustment unless:

(1) no later than twenty days from the date the qualifying utility filed the calculation of the adjustment, the commission is notified of a potential mathematical or transcription error in the adjustment; provided that the notice identifies the error with specificity; and

(2) the commission determines that the calculation of the adjustment is unlikely to provide for timely payment, or is likely to result in a material overpayment, of scheduled principal of and interest on the energy transition bonds and the payment and recovery of other financing costs in accordance with the financing order and, based on that determination, suspends operation of the adjustment, pending a hearing limited to the issue of the error in the adjustment; provided that the suspension shall be for a period not to exceed sixty days from the date the qualifying utility filed the calculation of the adjustment.

G. If the commission determines that a hearing is necessary, the commission shall hold a hearing on the proposed adjustment that shall be limited to determining whether there is a mathematical or transcription error in the calculation of the adjustment. If, after a hearing, the commission determines that the calculation of the adjustment contains a mathematical or transcription error, the commission shall issue an order that rejects and corrects the adjustment. The qualifying utility shall adjust the energy transition charge in accordance with the commission's calculation within five days from issuance of the order. If the commission does not issue an order rejecting the adjustment with a determination of the corrected calculation within sixty days from the date the qualifying utility filed the adjustment, the adjustment to the energy transition charge shall be deemed approved.

H. No adjustment pursuant to this section, and no proceeding held pursuant to this section, shall affect the irrevocability of the financing order pursuant to Section 7 [62-18-7 NMSA 1978] of the Energy Transition Act.

IV, § 23, was effective June 14, 2019; 90 days after the adjournment of the legislature.

62-18-7. Financing order; irrevocability; amendments.

A. A financing order is irrevocable and the commission shall not reduce, impair, postpone or terminate the energy transition charges approved in the financing order, the energy transition property or the collection or recovery of energy transition revenues.

B. Subject to the limitation provided in Subsection A of this section, a financing order may be amended at the request of the qualifying utility to commence a proceeding and issue an amended financing order that:

(1) provides for refinancing, retiring or refunding all or a portion of an outstanding series of energy transition bonds issued pursuant to the original financing order; provided that the commission includes in the amended financing order the findings and requirements specified in Section 5 [62-18-5 NMSA 1978] of the Energy Transition Act; or

(2) adjusts the amount of energy transition costs to be financed by energy transition bonds that have not yet been issued to reflect updated estimated or actual costs that differ from costs estimated at the time of the initial financing order or to correct any errors.

C. The commission shall issue an order granting or denying the proposed amended financing order within thirty days of the filing of the request by the qualifying utility. No change in the credit rating of a qualifying utility from the credit rating at the time of issuance of a financing order shall impair the irrevocability of a financing order.

62-18-8. Aggrieved parties; request for rehearing; judicial review.

A. A financing order shall be issued as a separate order from any other order issued by the commission on a requested approval in the application proceeding and is a final order of the commission. A party aggrieved by the issuance of a financing order may apply to the commission for a rehearing in accordance with Section 62-10-16 NMSA 1978; provided that such application shall be due no later than ten calendar days after issuance of the financing order. An application for rehearing shall be deemed denied if not acted upon by the commission within ten calendar days after the filing of the application.

B. An aggrieved party may file a notice of appeal with the supreme court in accordance with Section 62-11-1 NMSA 1978; provided that such notice shall be due no later than ten calendar days after denial of an application for rehearing or, if rehearing is not applied for, no later than ten calendar days after issuance of the financing order. The supreme court shall proceed to hear and determine the appeal as expeditiously as practicable.

62-18-9. Conditions that keep financing orders in effect and energy transition charges imposed.

A. A financing order shall remain in effect until the energy transition bonds issued pursuant to the financing order and any related financing costs have been paid in full.

B. A financing order shall remain in effect and unabated notwithstanding the bankruptcy, reorganization or insolvency of the qualifying utility or any non-utility affiliate or the commencement of any proceeding for bankruptcy or appointment of a receiver.

C. If energy transition bonds issued pursuant to a financing order are outstanding and the related energy transition costs have not been paid in full, the energy transition charges authorized by the financing order shall be collected by the qualifying utility or its successors or assignees, or a collection agent, in full through a non-bypassable charge that is a separate line item on customer bills and not a part of the qualifying utility's base rates. The charge shall be paid by all customers:

- (1) receiving electric delivery service from the qualifying utility under commission-approved rate schedules or special contracts; and
- (2) who acquire electricity from an alternative or subsequent electricity supplier in the utility service area, to the extent that such acquisition is permitted by New Mexico law.

62-18-10. Qualifying utility duties.

A. Except as provided in Section 16 [62-18-16 NMSA 1978] of the Energy Transition Act, a qualifying utility that is abandoning a qualifying generating facility shall use the proceeds of the issuance of energy transition bonds only for purposes related to providing utility service to customers and to pay financing costs.

B. Energy transition revenues shall be applied solely to the repayment of energy transition bonds and the ongoing financing costs.

C. The failure of a qualifying utility to comply with any provision of the Energy Transition Act shall not invalidate, impair or affect a financing order, energy transition property, energy transition charge or energy transition bonds and financing costs. Payments to bondholders or financing parties on the energy transition bonds shall be made on a quarterly or semiannual basis pursuant to the terms of the energy transition bonds.

D. For a qualifying utility that receives approval of a financing order and issues sources of energy transition bonds, the qualifying utility's generation and sources of energy procured pursuant to power purchase agreements with a term of twenty-four months or longer, and that are dedicated to serve the qualifying utility's retail customers, shall not emit, on average, more than four hundred pounds of carbon dioxide per megawatt-hour by January 1, 2023, and not more than two hundred pounds of carbon dioxide per megawatt-hour by January 1, 2032 and thereafter. Compliance shall be measured and verified every three years with the first period commencing on January 1, 2023. The commission shall adopt rules to implement the requirements of this subsection.

62-18-11. Commission treatment of energy transition bonds.

A. If the commission issues a financing order, the commission shall not treat:

- (1) energy transition bonds issued pursuant to the financing order as debt of the qualifying utility;
- (2) the energy transition charges paid under the financing order as revenue of the qualifying utility; or
- (3) the energy transition costs to be financed by energy transition bonds as costs of the qualifying utility.

B. Reasonable actions taken by a qualifying utility to comply with the financing order shall be deemed to be just and reasonable for ratemaking purposes. Nothing in the Energy Transition Act shall:

- (1) prevent or preclude the commission from investigating the compliance of a qualifying utility with the terms and conditions of a financing order and requiring compliance therewith;
- (2) prevent or preclude the commission from imposing regulatory sanctions against a qualifying utility for failure to comply with the terms and conditions of a financing order or the requirements of the Energy Transition Act;

(3) affect the authority of the commission to apply the adjustment mechanism as provided in Section 6 [62-18-6 NMSA 1978] of the Energy Transition Act; or

(4) prevent or preclude the commission from including the qualifying utility's acquisition of replacement power resources in the qualifying utility's cost of service.

C. The commission shall not order or require a qualifying utility to issue energy transition bonds to finance any costs associated with abandonment of a qualifying generating facility. A utility's decision not to issue energy transition bonds shall not be a basis for the commission to refuse to allow a qualifying utility to recover energy transition costs in an otherwise permissible fashion, or as a basis to refuse or condition authorization to issue securities pursuant to Sections 62-6-6 and 62-6-7 NMSA 1978.

History: Laws 2019, ch. 65, § 11.

Effective dates. — Laws 2019, ch. 65 contained no effective date provision, but, pursuant to N.M. Const., art.

IV, § 23, was effective June 14, 2019, 90 days after the adjournment of the legislature.

62-18-12. Energy transition property; energy transition revenues.

A. Energy transition property that is created in a financing order shall constitute an existing, present property right, notwithstanding that the imposition and collection of energy transition charges depend on the qualifying utility continuing to provide electric energy or continuing to perform its service functions relating to the collection of energy transition charges or on the level of future energy consumption. Energy transition property shall exist whether or not the energy transition revenues have been billed, have accrued or have been collected and notwithstanding that the value or amount of the energy transition property is dependent on the future provision of electric energy or service to customers by the qualifying utility.

B. All energy transition property created in a financing order shall continue to exist until the energy transition bonds issued and all related financing costs pursuant to a financing order are paid in full.

C. All or any portion of energy transition property created in a financing order may be transferred, sold, conveyed or assigned to a non-utility affiliate that is:

(1) wholly owned, directly or indirectly, by the qualifying utility; and

(2) created for the limited purposes of acquiring, owning or administering energy transition property or issuing energy transition bonds under the financing order.

D. All or any portion of energy transition property may be pledged to secure the payment of energy transition bonds and all financing costs.

E. The formation by a qualifying utility of a non-utility affiliate for the purposes of acquiring, owning or administering energy transition property, issuing energy transition bonds pursuant to a financing order and transacting a transfer, sale, conveyance, assignment, grant of a security interest in or pledge of energy transition property by a qualifying utility to a non-utility affiliate, to the extent previously authorized in a financing order, does not require any further approval of the commission and shall not be subject to the rules of the commission regarding Class I transactions and Class II transactions, as defined by Section 62-3-3 NMSA 1978, except that the commission may examine the books and records of the non-utility affiliate.

F. If a qualifying utility defaults on any required payment of energy transition bonds, a court with jurisdiction in the matter, on application by an interested party and without limiting any other remedies available to the applying party, shall order the sequestration and payment of the energy transition revenues for the benefit of bondholders, any assignees or financing parties. 62-18-13. Security interests; creation of security interest; priority over other liens; attachment on filing with secretary of state.

A. Except as otherwise provided in this section, the creation, perfection and enforcement of a security interest in energy transition property to secure the repayment of the principal of and interest on energy transition bonds, amounts payable pursuant to an ancillary agreement and other financing costs are governed by this section. This section shall be deemed to supersede the provisions of the Uniform Commercial Code [Chapter 55 NMSA 1978] and Chapter 62, Article 13 NMSA 1978, to the extent those provisions are inconsistent with this section.

B. The description or reference to energy transition property in a transfer or security agreement and a financing statement is sufficient only if the description or reference refers to the Energy Transition Act and the financing order creating the energy transition property. This section applies to all purported transfers of, grants of liens on or security interests in, energy transition property.

C. A security interest in energy transition property is created, valid and binding at the latest of when:

- (1) the financing order is issued;
- (2) a security agreement is executed and delivered; or
- (3) value is received for the energy transition bonds.

D. The security interest attaches without any physical delivery of collateral or other act and the lien of the security interest shall be valid, binding and perfected against all parties having claims of any kind against the person granting the security interest, regardless of whether such parties have notice of the lien, on the filing of a financing statement with the secretary of state. The secretary of state shall maintain the financing statement in the same manner and in the same recordkeeping system maintained for financing statements filed pursuant to the Uniform Commercial Code-Secured Transactions [Chapter 55, Article 9 NMSA 1978]. Financing statements filed pursuant to this section shall be effective until a termination statement is filed.

E. A security interest in energy transition property is a continuously perfected security interest and has priority over any other lien that may subsequently attach to the energy transition property unless the holder of the security interest has agreed in writing otherwise.

F. The priority of a security interest in energy transition property is not affected by the commingling of energy transition revenues with other funds. Any pledgee or secured party shall have a perfected security interest in the amount of all energy transition revenues that are deposited in any account of the qualifying utility and any other security interest that may apply to those funds shall be terminated when they are transferred to a segregated account for the assignee or a financing party.

G. No order of the commission amending a financing order and no application of the adjustment mechanism shall affect the validity, perfection or priority of a security interest in or transfer of energy transition property.

A transfer of an interest in energy transition property shall be created when:

- (1) the financing order creating the energy transition property has become effective;
- (2) the documents evidencing the transfer of energy transition property have been executed and delivered to the assignee; and
- (3) value is received.

On the filing of a financing statement with the secretary of state pursuant to Subsection D of Section 13 [62-18-13 NMSA 1978] of the Energy Transition Act, a transfer of an interest in energy transition property shall be perfected against all third persons, except creditors holding a prior security interest, ownership interest or assignment in the energy transition property previously perfected in accordance with Section 13 of that act.

C. The characterization of the sale, assignment or transfer as an absolute transfer and true sale, and the corresponding characterization of the property interest of the purchaser, shall not be affected or impaired by:

- (1) commingling of energy transition revenues with other funds;
- (2) the retention by the seller of:
 - (a) a partial or residual interest, including an equity interest, in the energy transition property, whether direct or indirect, or whether subordinate or otherwise; or
 - (b) the right to recover costs associated with taxes or license fees imposed on the collection of energy transition revenues;
- (3) any recourse that the purchaser may have against the seller;
- (4) any indemnification rights, obligations or repurchase rights made or provided by the seller;
- (5) the obligation of the seller to collect energy transition revenues on behalf of an assignee;
- (6) the treatment of the sale, assignment or transfer of energy transition property for tax, financial reporting or other purposes;
- (7) any subsequent order of the commission amending a financing order pursuant to Subsection B of Section 7 [62-18-7 NMSA 1978] of the Energy Transition Act;
- (8) any use of an adjustment mechanism approved in the financing order; or
- (9) anything else that might affect or impair the characterization of the property.

ANNOTATIONS

Hearings.—Where the PRC does not delegate its authority to a hearing examiner, but rather, conducts an evidentiary hearing before a full complement of commissioners, unexplained absences by commissioners should be the exception rather than the rule. to participate actively and fully in the proceedings before them. Albuquerque Bernalillo County Water Util. Auth. v. N.M. Pub. Regulation Comm'n, 2010-NMSC-013, 148 N.M. 21, 229 P.3d 494.

Scope of commission's enforcement authority. — Although the PRC may seek injunctions and impose an administrative fine on a telecommunications provider for any act or omission that the provider knew or should have known was a violation of any applicable law or rule or order of the PRC, the PRC's regulatory authority is not limited to those remedies since the legislature gave it discretion to enforce its orders by appropriate administrative action and court proceedings, which includes discretion to issue an order requiring a telecommunications provider to provide consumer credit or refunds in order to prevent violations of the New Mexico Telecommunications Act. *Qwest Corp. v. Single manager of the legal division and the office of general counsel. — The appointment of a single attorney to manage the legal division of the public regulation
